Named from the Roman God of Fire, vulcanization is the chemical process of converting rubber into a more durable material. But for Vans, it's so much more. Vans isn't the only vulcanized shoe, but it is the only vulcanized shoe chosen first by those who know better since 1966.

WELCOME TO PLANET SEX

BIRDS DO IT. Bees do it. Even educated cats do it. That's right: everyone and everything is doing the sex, and if they're not, they're looking at pictures of people doing it, or at the very least thinking about it when they're on the bus or having their tea.

Of course, high-minded people (usually the ones with hidden sex dungeons) have done their very best to make us think it's all proper dirty (in a bad way), but we're having none of it, readers. That's why this issue celebrates all things brilliantly sexy and worships at the nipple throne (as most issues do, come to think of it).

We've got rising rock stars exposing their erotic tips, the usual Alt Girl aceness, and the Fittest 18-Year-Old On The Planet™, newbie Lacey Banghard, who has a very sexual name. Plus, we've got Iron Maiden, who probably feature on loads of people's make-out tapes, and Francesqa, pop-punkers bigged-up by Blink-182, themselves a band known for letting it all hang out.

Enjoy the sexiness and remember: we love you all.

BEHIND-THE-SCENES BOLLOCKS

INITIATE THIS

The FRONT team has grown, this time taking on Ronnie in the ads department and Joe on the art desk. As is tradition, we had them both neck an arse-load of shots and run around like idiots. Like most traditions, it doesn't prove anything, but it's damn funny to watch.

SIM-WISE SIGNS

Our very own sexy geek ASW has signed this FRONT tee in her own special way, ready for us to give away in a web competition soon. Stay tuned to frontarmy.com...

WE HAVE LIFT-OFF

Who's got the best lift door in the world? Yes, we think it's us. It's brilliant, until we're all alone in the office, in very shite light, and the corner of our eye reckons there's someone there, watching us. We've messed ourselves on several occasions. Thanks, Vikki.

MEL CLARKE'S BOOZY READING CLUB

Mellisa Clarke dropped by for a sophisticated chat, involving sufficient amounts of booze and a book of rock star sex tips. If you want to feel like you were there, turn to page 82 for our Sex In 2011 feature, get this book from any half-decent shop, or get drunk and tear off your trousers.

ROCKET FUEL

PIZZA HUT did us proud by sending in a load of their mouthwatering Garlic Butter Stuffed Crust pizzas - which are back on their delivery menu for a limited time only. And RED STRIPE helped wash it down with some of their finest Jamaican beer. They've been working with some of the UK's favourite Jamaican celebrities on some awesome food recipes - check out redstripe.net

Dear Lords of Awesomeness, having taken your advice on most things, I saw the suggestion on issue 151's cover and thought, 'Fuck it, I'll steal your mag!' But now I feel bad, cos if everyone did the same then you wouldn't get any cash and the cock-achingly fit ladies featured would suffer, so to make things up to you and to ensure future epic issues, I

FAQs

YOUR BURNING QUESTIONS ANSWERED

ST PATRICK'S DAY SPECIAL

Q: WHY IS IRISH STUFF COVERED IN SHAMROCKS?

A: WITH ST PADDY'S Day imminent and all sorts of twats dusting off their Guinness hats, you sort of wonder: shamrocks – what's de big idea?

According to legend, St Patrick used the shamrock as a bit of a visual metaphor to describe the 'three gods in one' (Father, Son, Hairy Ghost, etc.) idea to the people of the Emerald Isle. Clearly this blew everyone's mind and they just got really, really drunk in an attempt to forget it, hence modern Ireland.

Q: HOW COME GUINNESS DO THE BOOK OF RECORDS?

A: IT SEEMS A bit weird when you really think about it, that this meticulously-researched fact-filled book is produced by Irish booze-merchants, but the Guinness Book Of Records has its roots in getting pissed.

In 1951, Guinness's managing director got in an argument about what was Britain's fastest bird (sounds like a cool dude). Unable to find a book that answered it definitively, he decided that a massive volume of pub-argument-stopping facts would be popular, so hired some boffins to rustle one up as a marketing gimmick and hell's bells, THE REST IS HISTORY.

YOUR SEXY COOL LIST THOUGHTS

Where the fuck was Daisy Lowe in The Sexy Cool List 2011? Have you not seen the video she did for Esquire? Her tits are lovely and she has a bottom to die for. She's fucking amazing and I'm disappointed, really.

BEX, VIA E-MAIL

I was flicking through your Sexy Cool List, and I'm 99.9 per cent sure that number 43, Eve E, works in a bar I go to regularly in St Albans. She's possibly the prettiest thing in the whole county of Hertfordshire...

BEN, VIA E-MAIL

Emma Stone is playing Gwen Stacy in the new Spider-Man, not MJ. Dumbasses.

STEPH FROM GLASGOW, VIA TEXT

We got a lot of responses to our list, but to give a really quick answer to you three:

Bex: Yep, we fucked up there, she's pretty brilliant.

Ben: "The prettiest thing in the whole county" isn't as much of a compliment as you might think.

Steph: This is true, sorry. It makes very little difference, but still, yes, sorry.

A READER READS AND WRITES

I've just been out and bought every single comic that you told me to in issue 151. What marvellous bastards you are.

PETE, VIA TEXT

Amazing, Pete, good work. We apologise in advance for when you get sucked fully into the world of comics and discover that, despite its awesomeness, being into comics is basically the world's most expensive hobby per second of entertainment. Happy reading!

PERVY POET

There once was a great mag called FRONT, Whose back page was full up with cunts.

T'was a treat for bedtime, So I wrote you this rhyme, Cos it's Alt Girl tits that I hunt.

JOHN, VIA TEXT

A reader called John just wrote in, Saying FRONT was like totes for the win.

Thanks a lot, John, We're inspired to go on, But your poem belongs in the bin.

RUBBER WRONG-Y

In issue 151, you said, "Longlife Condom: Gaffer-tape a 'perma-johnny' onto yourself. Remember: poke a pinhole to let wee out!" A condom with a hole in the end, a bit stupid!

HARRY, VIA E-MAIL

Pssst, Harry, we've got a secret for you. Lean in close, we're only gonna whisper it. Closer... closer... IT WAS A FUCKING JOKE! THE MAG'S FULL OF THEM! YOU STUPID STUPID FUCK! Thanks.

AXL IS MY FRIEND!

Dear FRONT. Awesome mag, but I was dead confused to see Axl at the top of The Cunttdown. Here's why... [goes into a boring explanation about the ginger shithead].

ADAM, VIA E-MAIL

It's nice that you're sticking up for the big baby, but embarrassing considering what Axl has been saying about you behind your back. Let's just say he had some quite inventive ideas involving his fist entering your body.

YOUR FACE AND ARTY WORKS IN THE MAG

BEAT THIS

BREAST COLLAGE EVER

I did this picture of my boobs, made out of pictures of my boobs. Genius!

EMMA BRINDLE, VIA E-MAIL

'Genius' may be a little strong for what you've done here, Emma. That word should be saved for real noggin-rubbers, like soggy-faced Patrick Moore, or nippy-wheeler Stephen Hawking. Seeing either of these two with their shirt off is enough to make us vomit our stomachs out. Still, we'd take pictures of boobs over weird scribbles any day, so you win booze.

WORKED TO THE BONE

During lunchtime I draw stuff, like my future wife here. Okay, maybe not, but give me a break.

DAVE CLAYTON, VIA E-MAIL

We'll give you a break, Dave. Break your legs more like! Ha! Nah, we're merely jesting. What concerns us more is how you clearly knew to smash that skull's teeth out to make it extra hard for police to indentify the stiff. Never contact us again, you nut.

OMG ASW LOL

ASW is amazing, which has led me to draw this picture of her. Please make her love me.

LAURA ANDREWS, VIA E-MAIL

We had a chat with Sim-Wise, but she told us she'd heard about that weird thing that's growing out of your bumhole, and couldn't love such a weirdo. The other ASW we know, our milkman, Adolf Sex-Wee, likes the sound of you and is heading round to kiss your face right now. Have fun!

VAN GUFF

After much deliberation, I settled on sending you this drawing rather than my severed ear as thanks for your good work.

CRAIG MCKEOWN, SOUTHAMPTON

We hope you put your severed ear to good use, by doing something like hiding it in your parents' room so you can hear them talking about how you're their favourite child. Just ignore all the moans and groans after bedtime, you perv.

KITTY CRAP

Just figured you would probably like to see this drawing of Kitty Lea I did one night after having a block.

CHRISTOPHER OLIVAS, VIA E-MAIL

A block of what? Cheese? A breeze block? A blocked nose? Be more specific in the future. It's how wars start, and how people end up with facial herpes.

GET YOUR STUPID FACE IN FRONT

DESTROYING FRIENDSHIPS SINCE 1998

COLIN AM PISSED

Luke Maxwell's bastard of a mate Colin is not the only thing that concerns us in this photograph. We're a little bit frightened by the legs in the doorway, mainly because they seem to have co-ordinated their choice of sock with the carpet. It's an odd world we live in.

DYSLEXIC DRUNK

"When people fall asleep, we write on them," says Philip Clarkson. You're not wrong there, friend, but maybe try writing words that are at least understandable, and not just a mish-mash of letters. What the fuck does 'WOST' mean? Willy Out Side Trousers?

FULL FRONTAL

EVEN IF SHE wasn't beautiful, even if her name wasn't really fun to say while pretending to be that guy from The Matrix who was also in Lord Of The Rings, and even if she wasn't seriously naked in these pages, we'd still love Charlotte Anderson. She's funny as hell, spends her days doing seriously awesome things, and is, er, beautiful, her name's fun to say while pretending to be that aforementioned dude, and she's seriously naked.

MEET THE GIRL WHO'S COOLER THAN A PENGUIN IN A

TRUE OR FALSE?

CHARLOTTE'S IDEAL WAY OF GETTING A PARTY STARTED IS "RIDING IN ON A
TIGER, ARMED WITH SAMBUCA, RUM
AND VODKA."

TRUE: That's fairly good, and beats our party technique of skulking up to people muttering, "Who wants to play Finger Or Willy?"

BASEBALL CAP AND HOTTER THAN A CAMEL ON FIRE

TRUE OR FALSE?

THIS IMAGE YOU CAN SEE OF CHARLOTTE IS 3-D IN A REALLY INTERESTING WAY, SO IF YOU REACH BEHIND THE MAGAZINE YOU CAN TOUCH HER.

FALSE: Although, if you rested the magazine on your legs and injected your thighs with anaesthetic, plus were a bit simple, you could probably convince yourself that that was the case.

TRUE OR FALSE?

CHARLOTTE DOESN'T REALLY DO ANYTHING. SHE'S, LIKE, THE LEAST COOL GIRL EVER.

FALSE: She does an ass-ton – live gig photography, extreme sports photography, she made a skate magazine as her final uni project... She's pretty awesome, to be honest.

TRUE OR FALSE?

IF CHARLOTTE COULD LIVE ANYWHERE IN THE WORLD, SHE'D GO FOR A CLUMSILY-CONSTRUCTED TENT IN A BUS SHELTER IN RHYL.
FALSE: She'd opt for a beach hut on Venice Beach, California. "Loads of surfers and skaters and wearing a bikini all day sounds perfect," she says. "I'd be sunbathing all the time. American junk food is off the chain, too."

TRUE OR FALSE?

CHARLOTTE IS A BIG FAN OF NATHAN OUT OF MISFITS (THE REALLY GOBBY ONE).
TRUE: Our favourite Misfit is probably Glenn Danzig. That's a joke for the punk fans out there.

CRYSIS 2

BODS GIVE US HEADS UP

IF YOU SAW this bastard approaching you in the street, never mind shooting 'em up, you'd easily be shitting 'em down. Down your pants, in case you didn't get that.

With Crysis 2's final knobs still being tweaked by developers EA, we caught up with Executive Producer Nathan Camarillo to see what they've got planned. A lot of what he said was nonsensical computer jargon, so we asked him two simple questions...

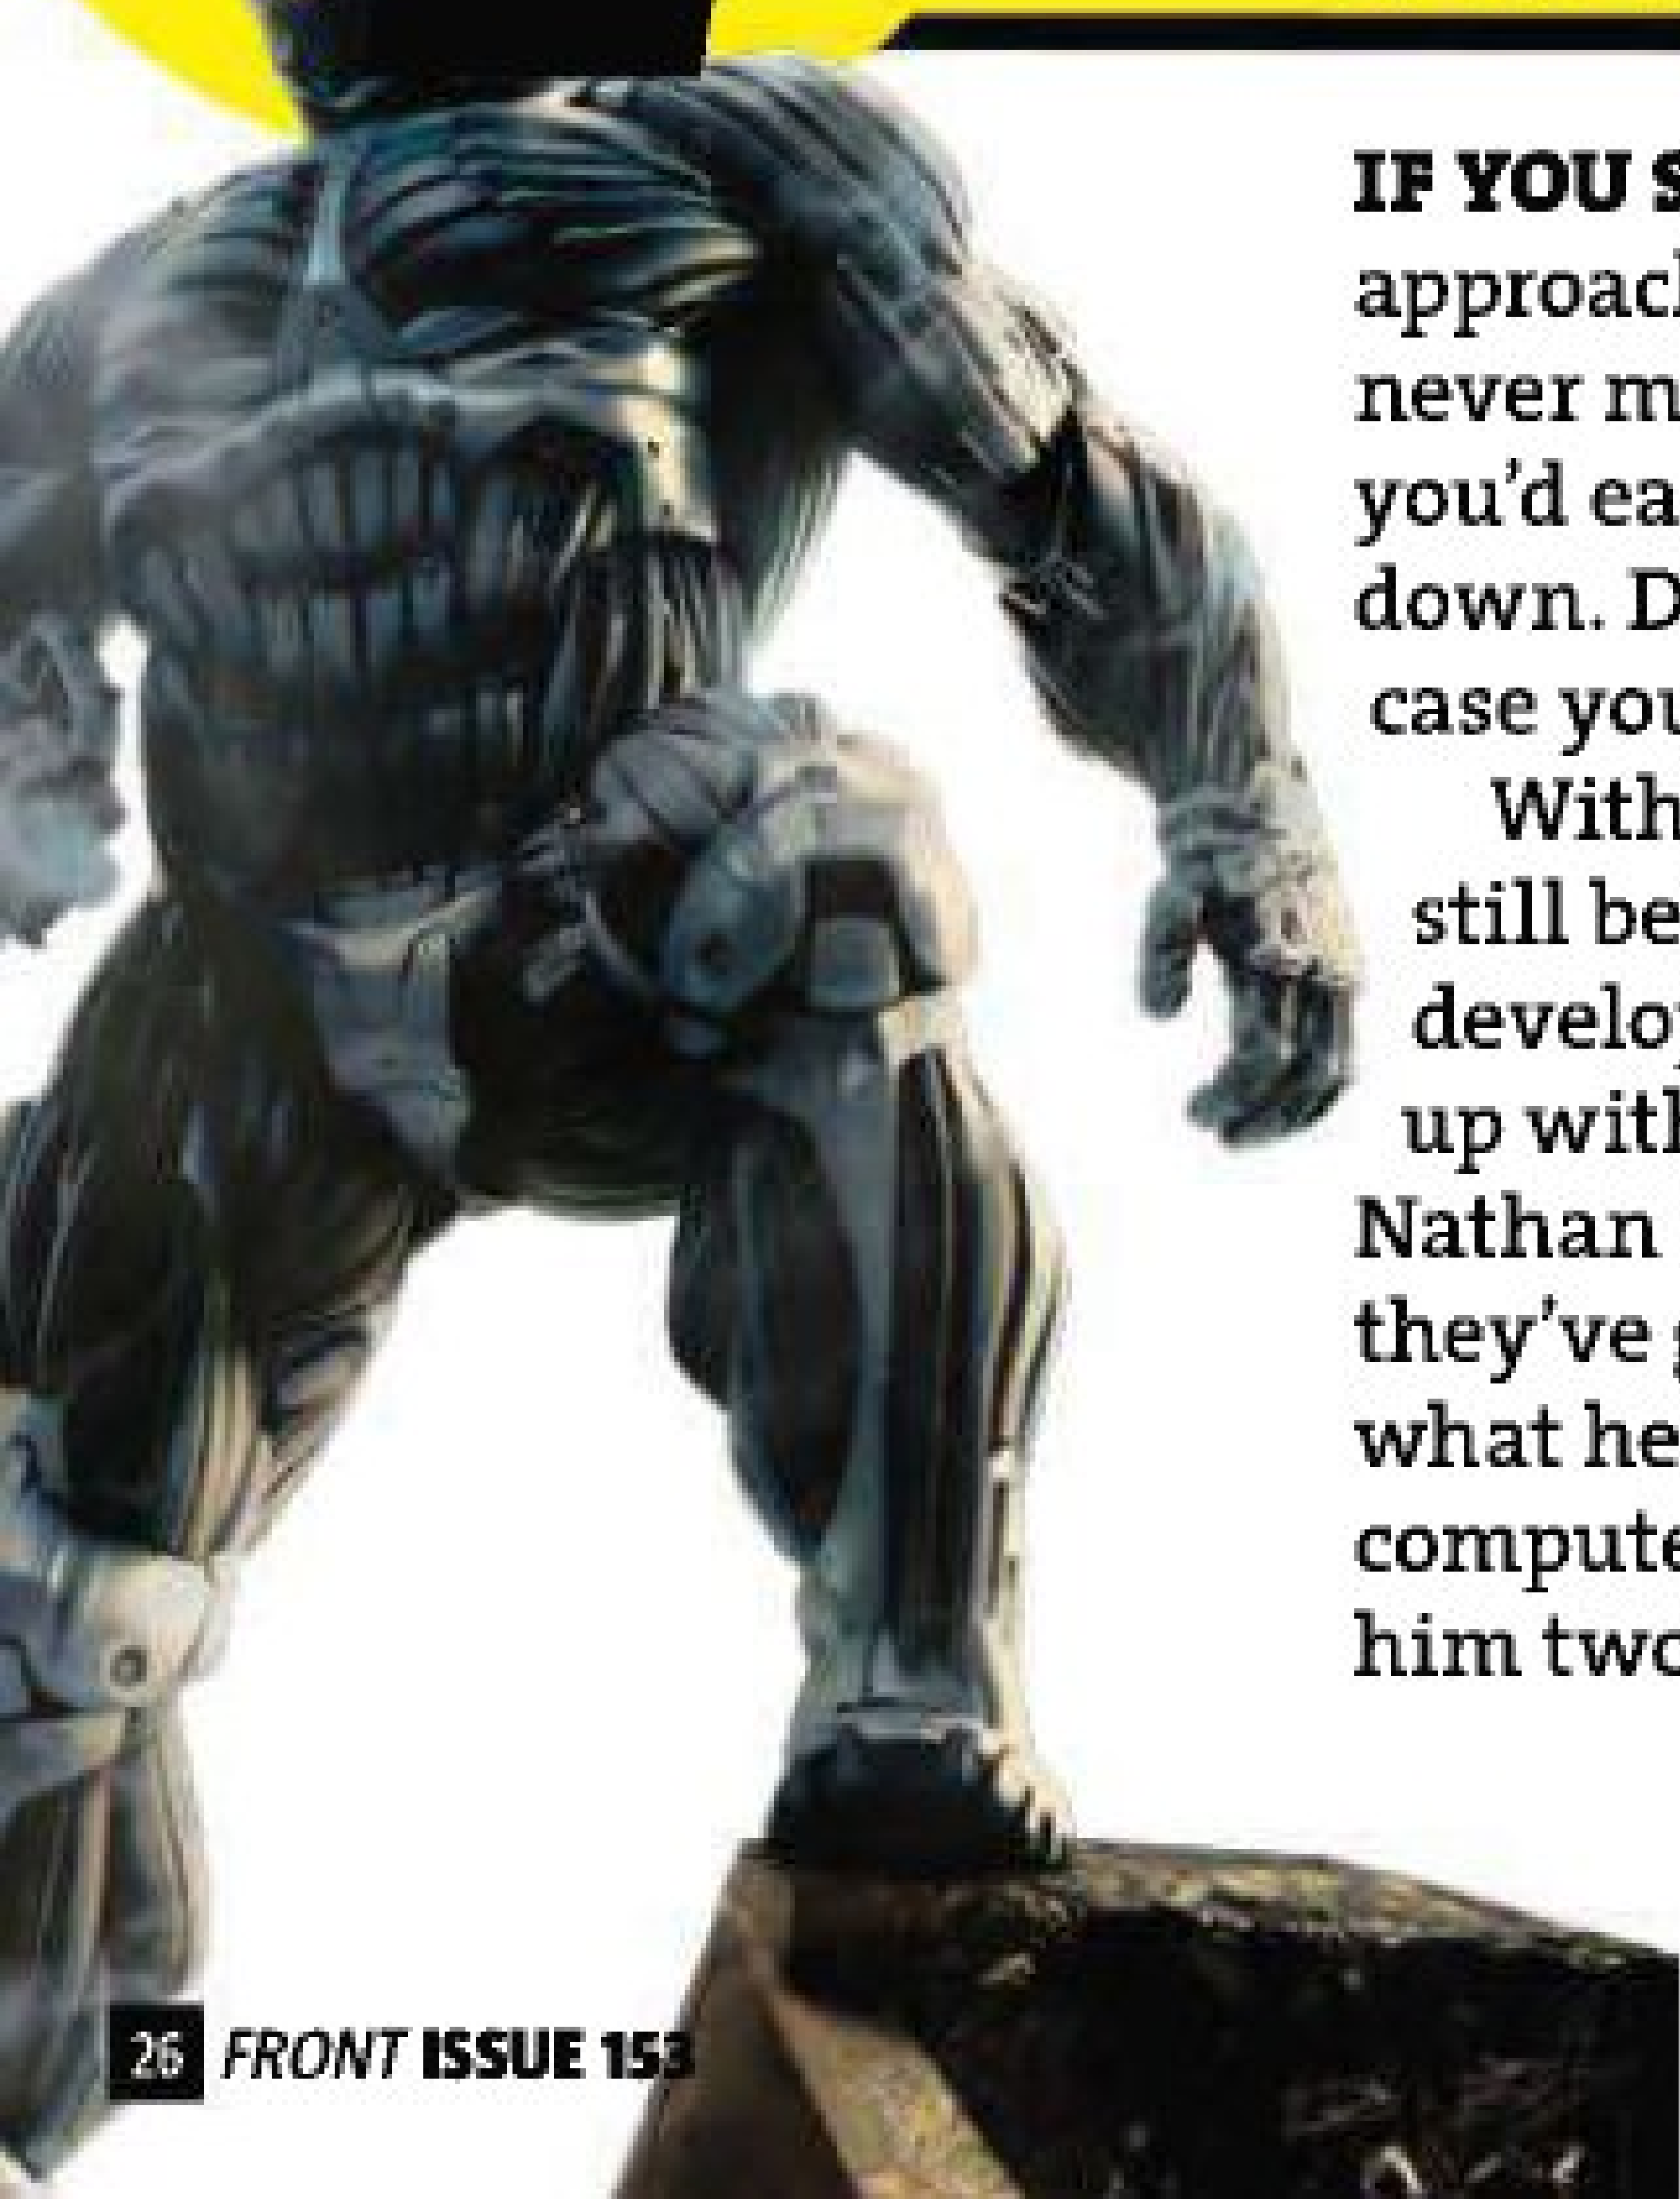

Q&A NATHAN CAMARILLO
EXECUTIVE PRODUCER

WHAT INSANE CREATIONS HAVE YOU ADDED?

The Nanosuit is now more powerful, and players can customise it.

WHAT DOES THAT ACTUALLY MEAN?

We're giving you modules you can equip, much like how you can customise a weapon with attachments.

MAKE SURE YOU HAVE A PLACE TO PARTY

"We normally get a couple of hotel rooms that join up by pretending to be real nice to the clerk and pretending we're just a group of guys away for a quiet week. If you're checking into a hotel to party, the last thing you need is the people behind the counter fucking your night up."

BROS BEFORE HOES

"Honestly, most of the girls you normally meet you'll never see again. Just remember that you're out to get wasted with your boys, and it's not about striking up a romance."

HAVE A GAME PLAN FOR PULLING

"Plan what you're going to say to girls and never be rude. Just be honest and let them know that you find them attractive. Also, allocate one of your boys to take a grenade for the team and remove the fat girl."

2 A SPRING BREAK TO REMEMBER

GUITARIST NEIL OF FLORIDIAN PUNKS A DAY TO REMEMBER SHARES HIS SPRING BREAK PARTY TIPS

PACE YOURSELF

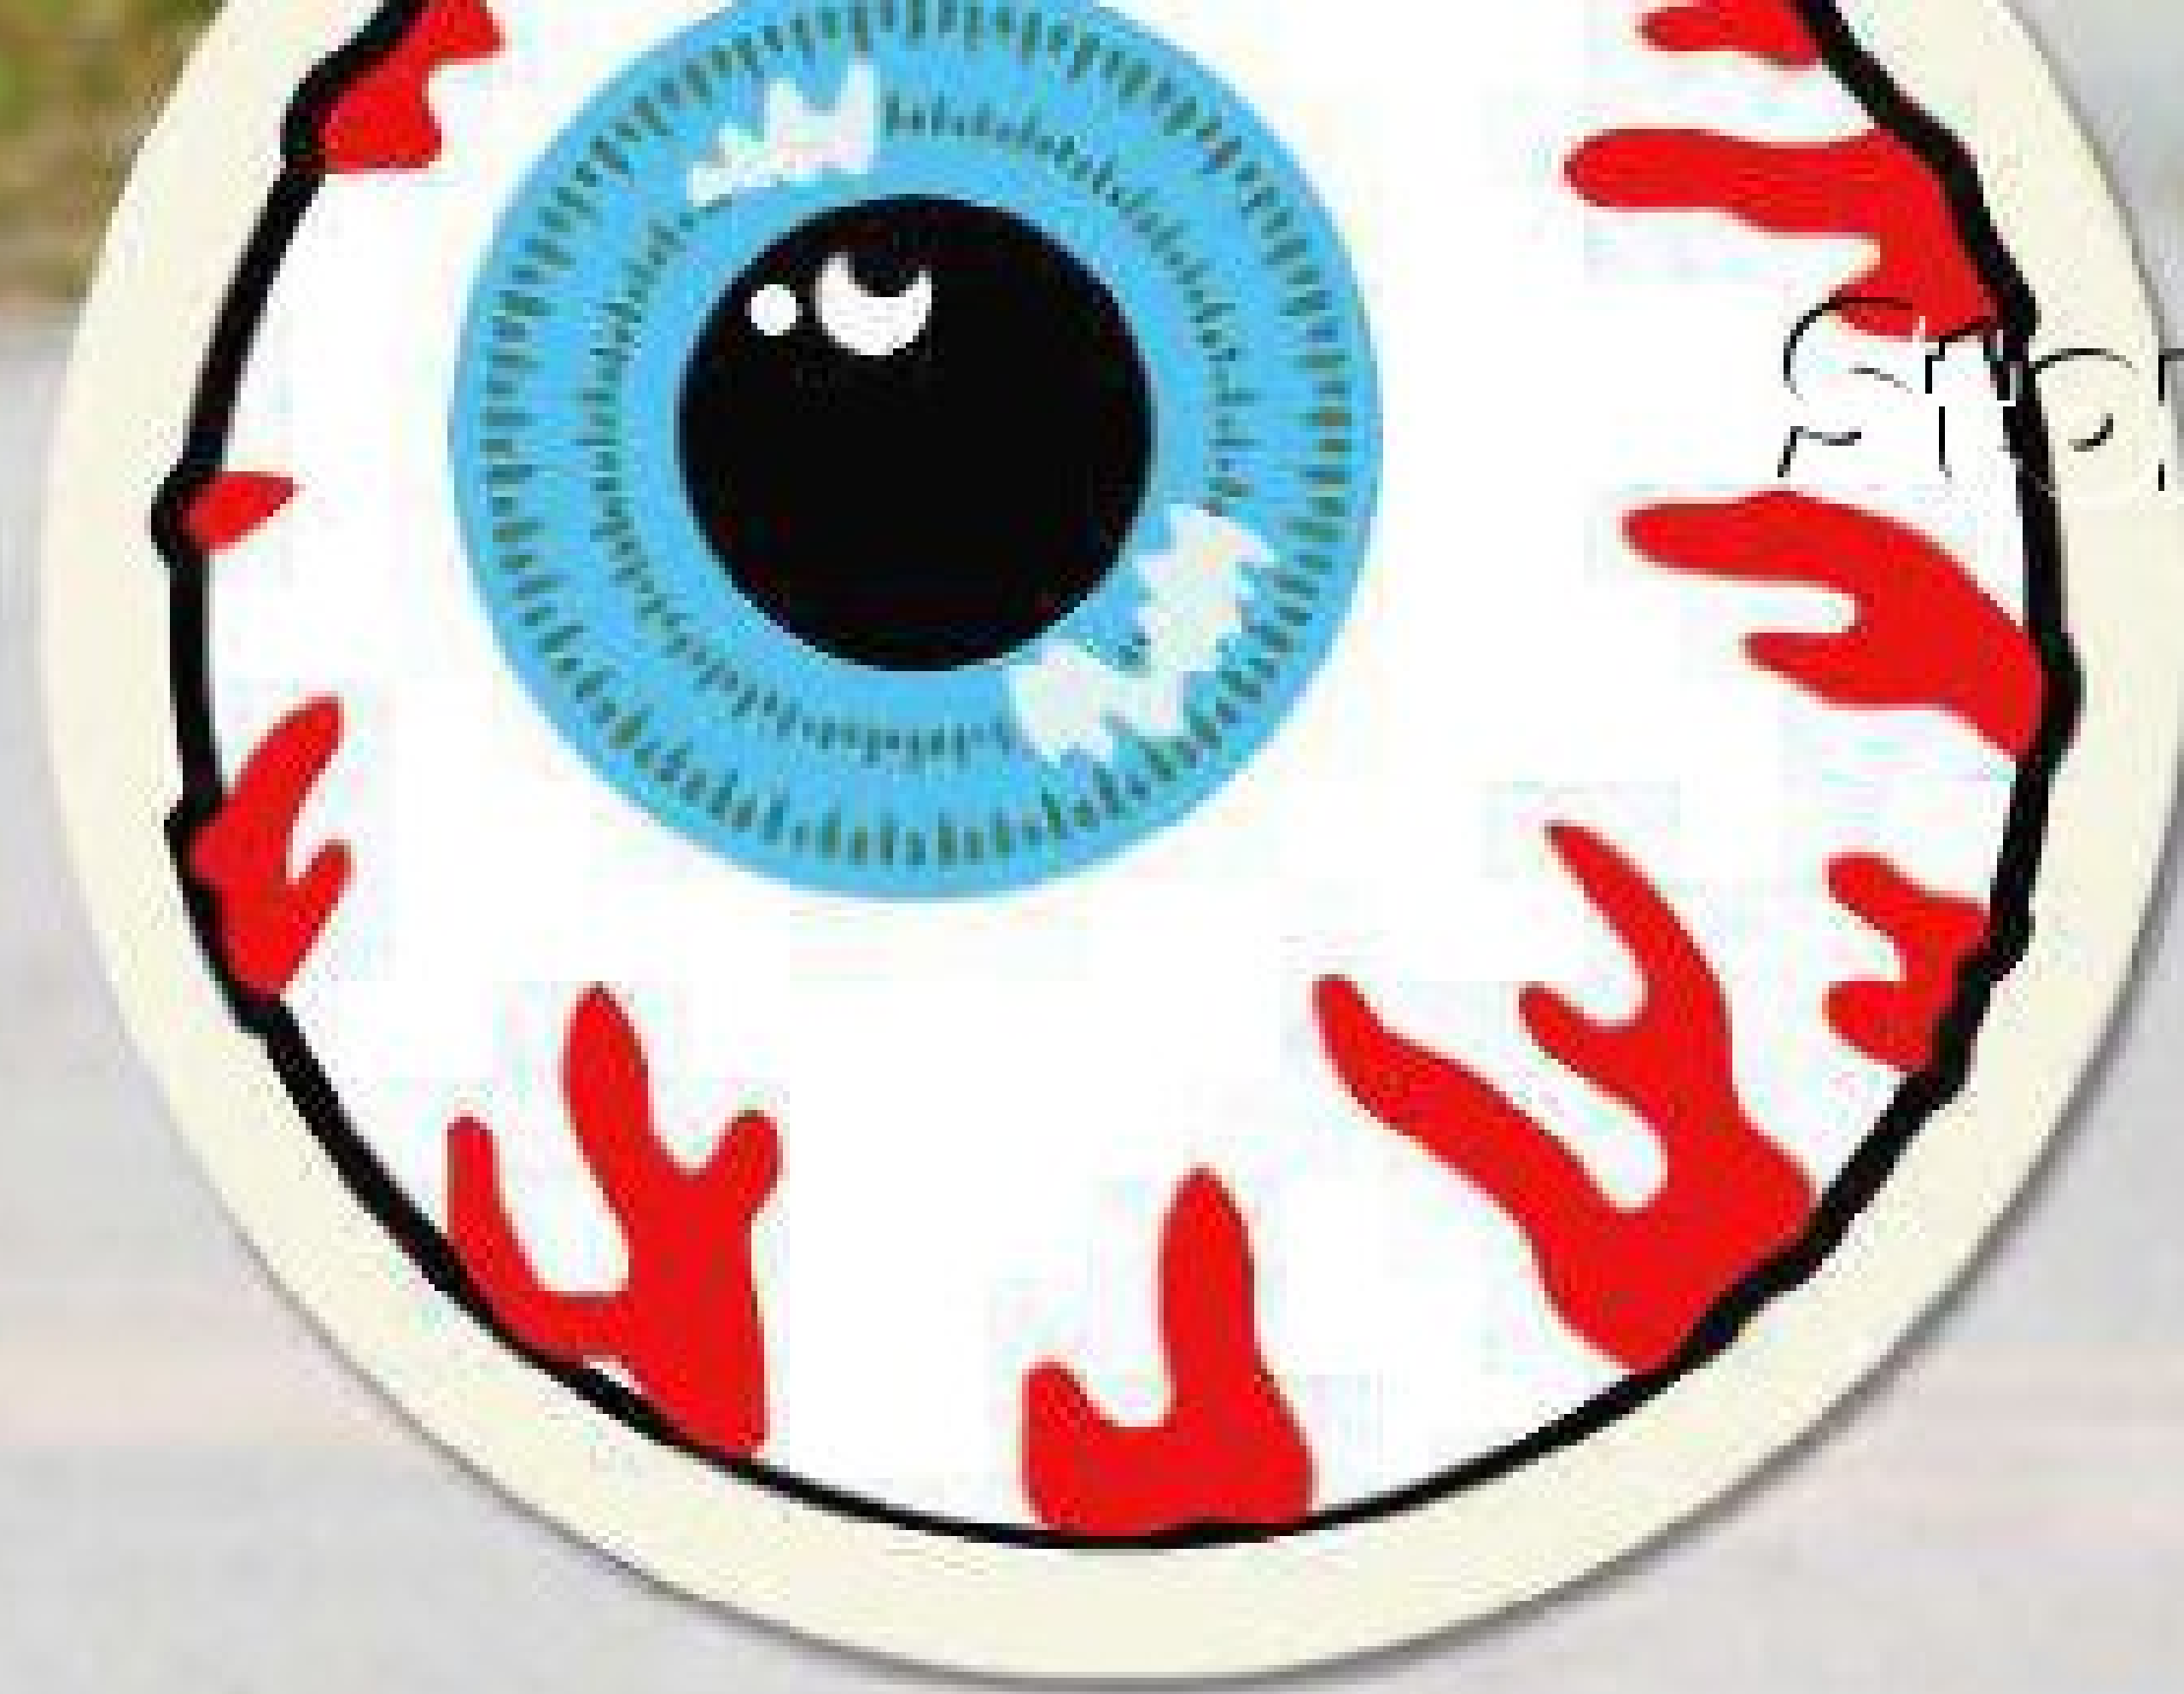

"Escalate your drinking gradually. Don't be the douche who gets wasted in the first hour. Treat it the same as being at a festival, and pace things."

THROW IN A FEW DRINKING GAMES

"Jeremy [vocals] and Josh [bass] are straight edge, but the rest of us like to have fun with our drinking. The best ones involve taking a drink every time you see something. Like a car. Or someone pretending to be Jack Bauer. We also do a thing called 'renegading', where you pierce a hole in a beer can and down it."

GET INDUSTRIAL ALCOHOL IN

"It's no use relying on people bringing their own beer: you need to get a couple of massive kegs on the go. In the States we can easily get hold of Miller High Life, which comes in a keg. I guess in the UK they're not that easy to grab, so just fill the bath tub with Magners."

ACE NEW FEST

HIT THE DECK TO HIT NOTTINGHAM

KILLER LINE-UP MAKES FOR PROMISING NEW HAZZAH

JUST WHEN YOU thought you couldn't ram another juicy festival into your chubby, sweating chops, Nottingham has got its excitable balls in a twist over this ace new offering. Hit The Deck is coming to the famous Rock City venue on 18 April, bringing with it Cancer Bats, Young Guns and We Are The Ocean, among others. With that in mind, we asked WATO front man Dan to give us his top line-up picks...

DEAF HAVANA

"They're pretty shit and they'll be desperate to try and fill the room, but don't hate on them too much. Listen to their song Friends Like These – it's about us."

YOUNG GUNS

"They're good friends of ours and it's great to see them finally getting some recognition, so go get involved!"

THE BLACKOUT

"They're my favourite band to watch live – they're so relentless. Sean [vocals] thinks he's hilarious but just ignore his lame jokes and enjoy the show."

SAVE YOUR BREATH

"These guys are good kids from Wales. It's been a while since I last saw them live, so I'm looking forward to them being on the bill."

Tickets and info: hitthedeckfestival.com

FYI

We thought that Dan from WATO was being all bitchy about Deaf Havana, but it turns out they're good friends really and he was having a bit of a jape.

BIEBER FEVER

Fun-sized Canadian pop sensation Justin Bieber arrives in the UK on tour in March, bringing with him the deadly virus BF-138 – also known as Bieber Fever. “Imagine SARS times AIDS plus the Ebola virus,” says Dr Kenneth Nobbrot, of the Government’s National Disaster Unit. “Now multiply that by three. Now add 50. It’s five times worse than that.”

BRITAIN BRACES ITSELF

THE WARNING SIGNS

HOW TO PROTECT YOURSELF

1 Have you recently bought a pencil case and repeatedly scrawled your initials next to ‘4 JB!!!!’ all over it in Tipp-Ex?

2 Have you sewn a blond emo-Lego-man wig onto a pillow and then dry-humped it to a shuddering climax?

3 Do you compulsively tweet @justinbieber all day long, offering spicy nudey-pics in exchange for a retweet?

4 Are you constantly drifting off into a fantasy land where you’re nuzzling your face into Justin’s kitten-soft pubes?

5 Can you name Justin’s favourite colour, biggest fear, shoe size, bellend circumference and current whereabouts?

1 Aversion therapy: listen to One Less Lonely Girl on repeat while roughly fingering yourself with a splintery twig.

2 Cover yourself, head-to-toe, in foil – Bieber Fever cannot penetrate aluminium.

3 Chant “Luos ym tae ton llahs nitsuj!” while sacrificing a lovely little puppy that looks a bit like Justin.

4 Time-travel back to 1993 and prevent Mr Bieber from hosing his bollock-spawn all over Mrs Bieber’s foulsome devil-egg.

5 Stay indoors, seal your windows, get down on your knees and pray. Pray for us all. And may God have mercy on our souls.

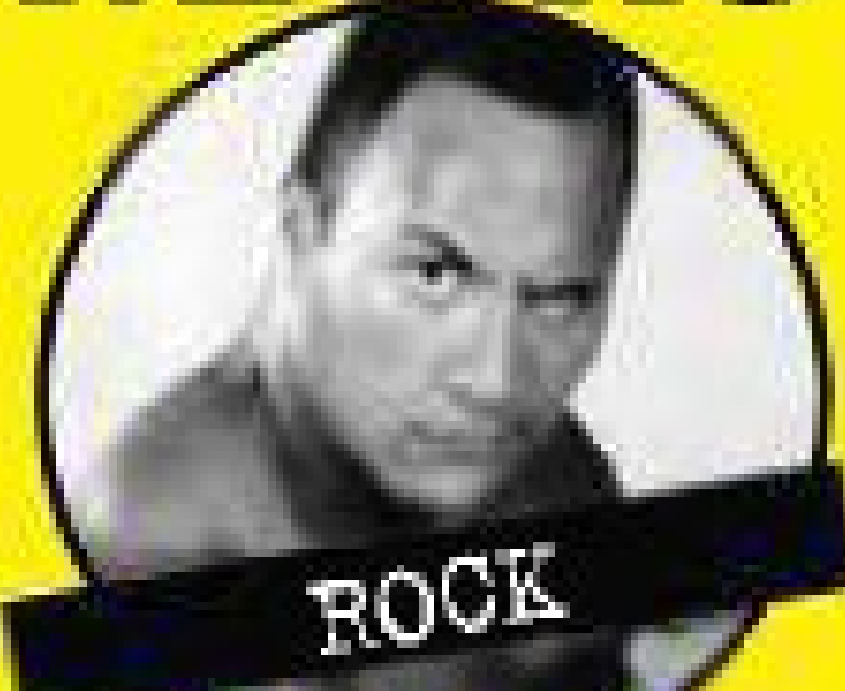

EAR CANDY

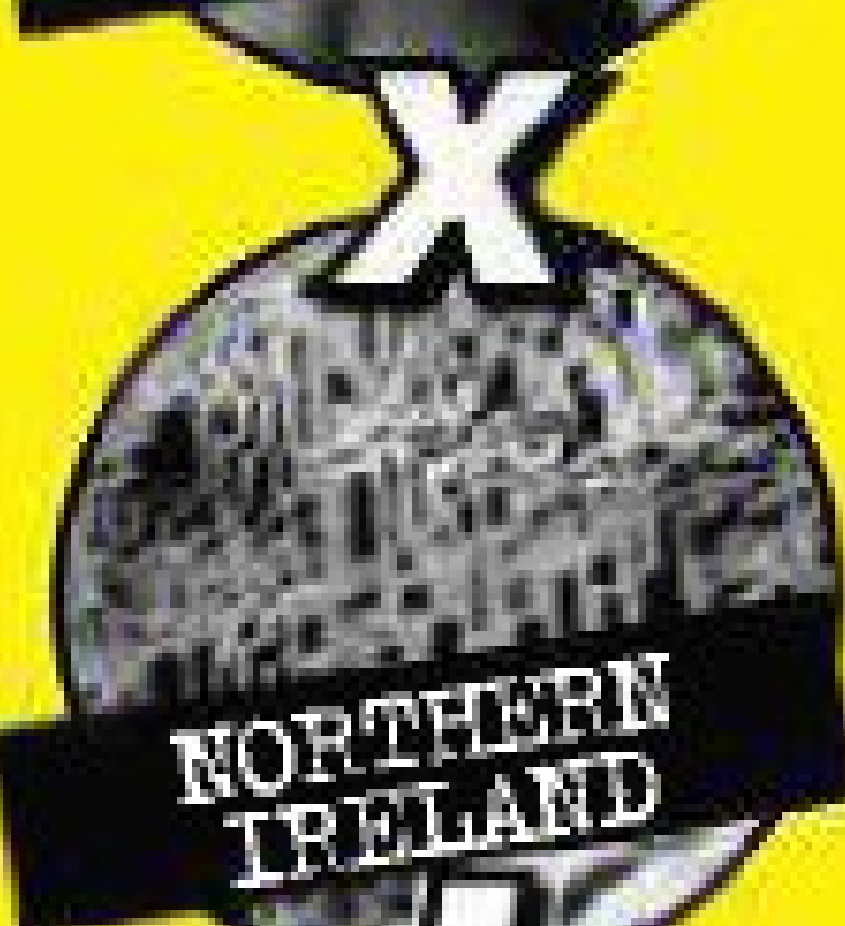

6 WE ARE KNUCKLE DRAGGER

FROM THE ASHES OF SEVERAL BANDS COMES... ANOTHER BAND, WITH BIG THINGS WRITTEN ALL OVER THEM

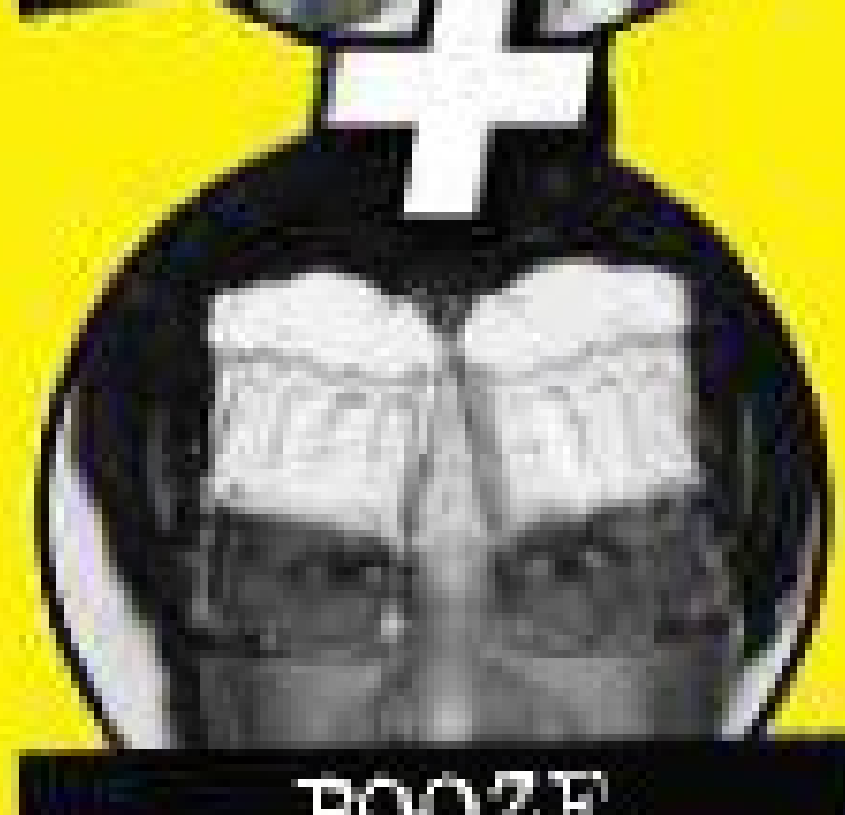

MUSIC MATHS

ROCK

NORTHERN IRELAND

BOOZE

WE ARE KNUCKLE DRAGGER

IT'S ALWAYS A SHAME when anything comes to an end, but sometimes from the remains of one thing can spring the blossoms of another. Like a phoenix, or Star Trek: The Next Generation.

Newcastle-based, two-thirds-Northern Irish We Are Knuckle Dragger are all former members of now-defunct bands – Scrabo, Contraband and Yourcodenameis:milo, and came together two years ago.

"We just did gigs, and everyone who came to see us seemed to come back and bring their friends, and it all just kinda landslided," says Aran (the ginger one with the star tattoos). "It doesn't really feel like it should be everybody's cup of tea, but when we play it to people they're like, 'Fucking hell!' and blown away, you know?"

Things seem to be going well, with the three pissheads shooting off to Chicago later in the year to record with legendary audio-dork Steve Albini, the loud-as-fuck genius best known for his work with Pixies and a grungy band of delinquents you might have heard of, Nirvana.

"That's fucking above and beyond anything we expected," says Aran. "It's amazing. We're just gonna go for it and have a fucking laugh."

FYI

After this photoshoot, the lads had to get a train back home without being able to have a shower, still covered in sticky (yet delicious) booze.

Q&A ARAN
VOCALS/GUITAR

WHAT'S THE STORY, THEN?

We shared a practice room while in different bands, and when me and Pete [bass] had a project going, we needed a drummer, and Shaun became free from ...Milo. We've just been punking it up, doing our thing, keeping the same ethic since.

IS THERE A BIG AIM?

To have as much fun as possible. We're serious about what we're doing but at the same time, it's fun.

WHY SHOULD PEOPLE COME OUT AND SEE YOU LIVE?

We're high energy, and influenced by more things than just bands that have come before. We're not trying to recreate other bands, but trying to create something with a bit of fucking balls. Our influences are so varied, so we're firing it all into a cauldron and seeing what comes out.

YOU'VE ALL BEEN IN BANDS BEFORE – WHAT'S THAT TAUGHT YOU?

Not to take it so seriously, with massive goals and be alls and end alls. We're ambitious, of course, but it's not like if we don't sell loads of the next EP we'll walk away feeling like failures.

ANY TIPS ON SURVIVING IN THE BACK OF A TOUR BUS?

It does catch up with you when you're playing really insane live shows every night, drinking like a fish, and then getting up and having to be somewhere. I guess you can tell when someone's getting quite low, so you've got to help each other through it, because there's times out there when you're like, 'I don't know how the fuck I'm going to play tonight.' It's all part of it – if we didn't like it we wouldn't do it.

LOOK AROUND YOU = SITCOM WIN?

E4 WHIZ KID BACK FOR TASTY NEW SITCOM, BUT WILL IT BE FUNNY?

ONE OF THE HIDDEN jokers behind Peep Show and Look Around You is dropping a new sitcom this month, which will see speccky-features Simon Bird taking on his first big role since The Inbetweeners. Friday Night Dinner has been created by cult Brit comedy writer Robert Popper, and comedy buffs are keen to see whether it'll tickle in all the right places...

Q&A ROBERT POPPER WRITER

AHOY THERE, ROBERT. WHAT'S FRIDAY NIGHT DINNER, THEN? AND DON'T SAY FISH 'N' CHIPS...

[Laughs] It's about two brothers who visit their parents' house every Friday for dinner. It's sort of based on my life, and it focuses on how you revert back to being a kid whenever you go home to your parents. They're always trying to ruin each other's dinners, despite being grown-ups.

YOU'VE GOT WILL FROM THE INBETWEENERS ONBOARD. ARE YOU CACKING YOURSELF THAT PEOPLE WILL DRAW COMPARISONS?

Nah, it's cool. I worked on The Inbetweeners with Simon [Bird] and when I met him I knew he was perfect for the part. The producer from Spaced and Shaun Of The Dead helped with a lot of the casting.

YOU MENTION THE SHOW IS BASED LOOSELY ON YOUR OWN EXPERIENCES – WHAT SORT OF SHIT DID YOU GET UP TO?

Oh, my brother and I would do everything we could to fuck each other up. Our mum used to give us doggy-bags to take home, and my favourite thing would be to switch his box of food and replace it with stuff from the bin. The next day he'd call me and be like, "You fucking bastard! It's just chicken bones and hair."

NICE. SO, FINALLY, TELL US HOW ACE IT WAS WRITING FOR SOUTH PARK...

My friend Peter [comedian Peter Serafinowicz] did a voice for them, which was amazing because South Park's always been my favourite show. He asked if I wanted to meet Matt, and we got on really well and he invited me to write on a few episodes.

8 HYRO DA HERO

MEET THE HIP-HOP NEWBIE WITH THE PUNK ATTITUDE

WHO ARE YOU AND WHAT DO YOU DO?

I am Hyro Da Hero, the leader of gangsta rap. I'm bringing something new, something different, and I wanna change the world and shake up the game.

SOUNDS FUN. WHAT INGREDIENTS WILL YOU NEED US TO GET IN FOR THAT?

Take a pot and take a little bit of Tupac, a little bit of Eminem, a little bit of Fishbone with the punk-rock attitude and the hip-hop attitude, mix it all up in together and you get me.

DELICIOUS. HOW HAVE YOU BEEN RECEIVED SO FAR?

Awesome, man. I've had a lot of compliments on it. It's like most people hear my stuff and they either really, really like it, or they really, really hate it. But as long as you're listening to it, I don't care.

WHERE MIGHT WE HAVE SEEN YOU BEFORE?

I've been on tour. I went down to Brazil with Ill Nino, I rocked Texas with Cypress Hill, I went out in Canada with The Alkaholiks, I've been out with Hellstorm... I've been out a lot, man – I rock with rock crowds and hip-hop crowds.

DO YOU JUST MASH-UP ALL THE GENRES YOU LIKE, THEN, LIKE SOME SORT OF WALKING IPOD?

Yeah, exactly. I try to take credible stuff from each side. I don't wanna stay too much in the mainstream. I wanna try and get what's credible because I know what's cool in hip-hop and I know what's cool in rock and I know what's corny as well.

HAVE YOU BEEN IN A POSITION TO MAKE ANY DIVA-ISH REQUESTS YET?

[Laughs] I ain't that type of guy. Even if I was, like, Jay-Z, I couldn't do that. If I see somebody moving something in the street, like

WHO HE?

REAL NAME: Hyron Fenton Junior
AGE: 23
FROM: Houston Texas, USA
JOB TITLE: “Motivational speaker” into an apartment or whatever, I'm the sort of person who's just gotta help. It's the way I was raised. My momma and daddy raised me right.

AND TO FINISH, WHAT'S THE BIG PLAN FOR THIS YEAR?

I got my album dropping in April, but I got my single dropping this month. I'm also going on tour in March with The Blackout, which I'm looking forward to. Sean Smith [The Blackout] has been a big supporter of my music. He hit me up about it all the time and since then he's just been hyping me up.

FYI

Hyro Da Hero turned out to be a lovely man, and a day after interviewing him we received a package from him containing a T-shirt, some sweets and some music. What a lovely man.

PABH ROCK THE KASBAH

OUT & ABOUT

WHAT? Pulled Apart By Horses UK tour.
WHERE? The Kasbah, Coventry.
WHO DERE? Coventry's sweatiest guys 'n' gals.

BEST BIT: The lovely lamb dinner the band enjoyed before the show.
WORST BIT: The lack of a nude lady on horseback.

THE LOOK: Beards, boobies and beers.
DRINK OF CHOICE: £2 double spirits.
DRUNKEN LUNACY RATING: 8 spazzy rockers outta 10

NOT SINCE Lady Godiva perched her bare fanny on a saddle and rode into town have the people of Coventry been as psyched-up as they were for beardy bastards Pulled Apart By Horses.

There's no nudity tonight, though: just some killer showmanship from the fast-rising Yorkshire rockers. "We'd heard Coventry was a bit scary," burly strummer James Brown admitted. "We'd been told not to leave the building, but it turned out to be awesome."

Taking a quick break from an urgent meeting with mates Jim Beam and Stella Artois, the boys gave us a backstage insight into their manic lives...

LIFE ACCORDING TO PABH

ON BEING PICKED FOR THE SKINS TOUR...

"It was just full of kids pilled off their tits. It's kind of our downfall as well, cos that's the kind of state we get into."

ON CRACKING AMERICA...

"We're heading out to SXSW in Austin, Texas, but they have to approve us first. At the Embassy they interrogated us and checked to see if we had any alcohol in our bodies. Let's hope they're not waiting with rubber gloves on."

ON PLANS FOR THIS YEAR...

"We've got another single coming out in March, which will probably be the last single off the album. Then we're going to Australia and America to spoil their lovely countries. It's gonna be boozy Brits on tour."

ON TOUR FOOD...

"We've never eaten food as good as the stuff we got given in Coventry. It came out on this platter and was huge chunks of potato, lamb, whole lemons..."

ON BEING IN A BAND...

"We've basically been like four brothers, but we don't argue or fall out, really. You have your moments where you just want to be quiet - maybe you're missing girlfriends or you're hungover or whatever - but we don't fight."

ON HOME COMFORTS...

"The only thing we insist on taking with us everywhere is our computer's external harddrive, cos it's got every nasty '80s horror film ever on there."

SPLASH YOUR CASH

BECAUSE SAVING IS FOR WANKERS

NUMBER OF THE BEERST

Witchcraft Beer Koozie £3, from witchcrafthardware.com

GOOD: As previously mentioned in these very pages, newbie British skate label Witchcraft scares us a bit. Will this black-magic beer-koozie transform our can of Red Stripe into some kind of Satanical elixir? It almost surely will.

BAD: It fucking did as well. Turned our tongue into a fiery snake. Tsk! Annoying.

PADDICTIVE

Addict iPad Cases £TBC,
from addict.co.uk

GOOD: Rub the fact that you've got an iPad right in everyone's crying face with one of these zing-diddly Addict protective cases. You'll look a proper Fancy Nancy – or a Trendy Wendy, depending on your preference.

BAD: Whenever you leave the room, we all smear our envious bogey-fingers all over your iPad screen.

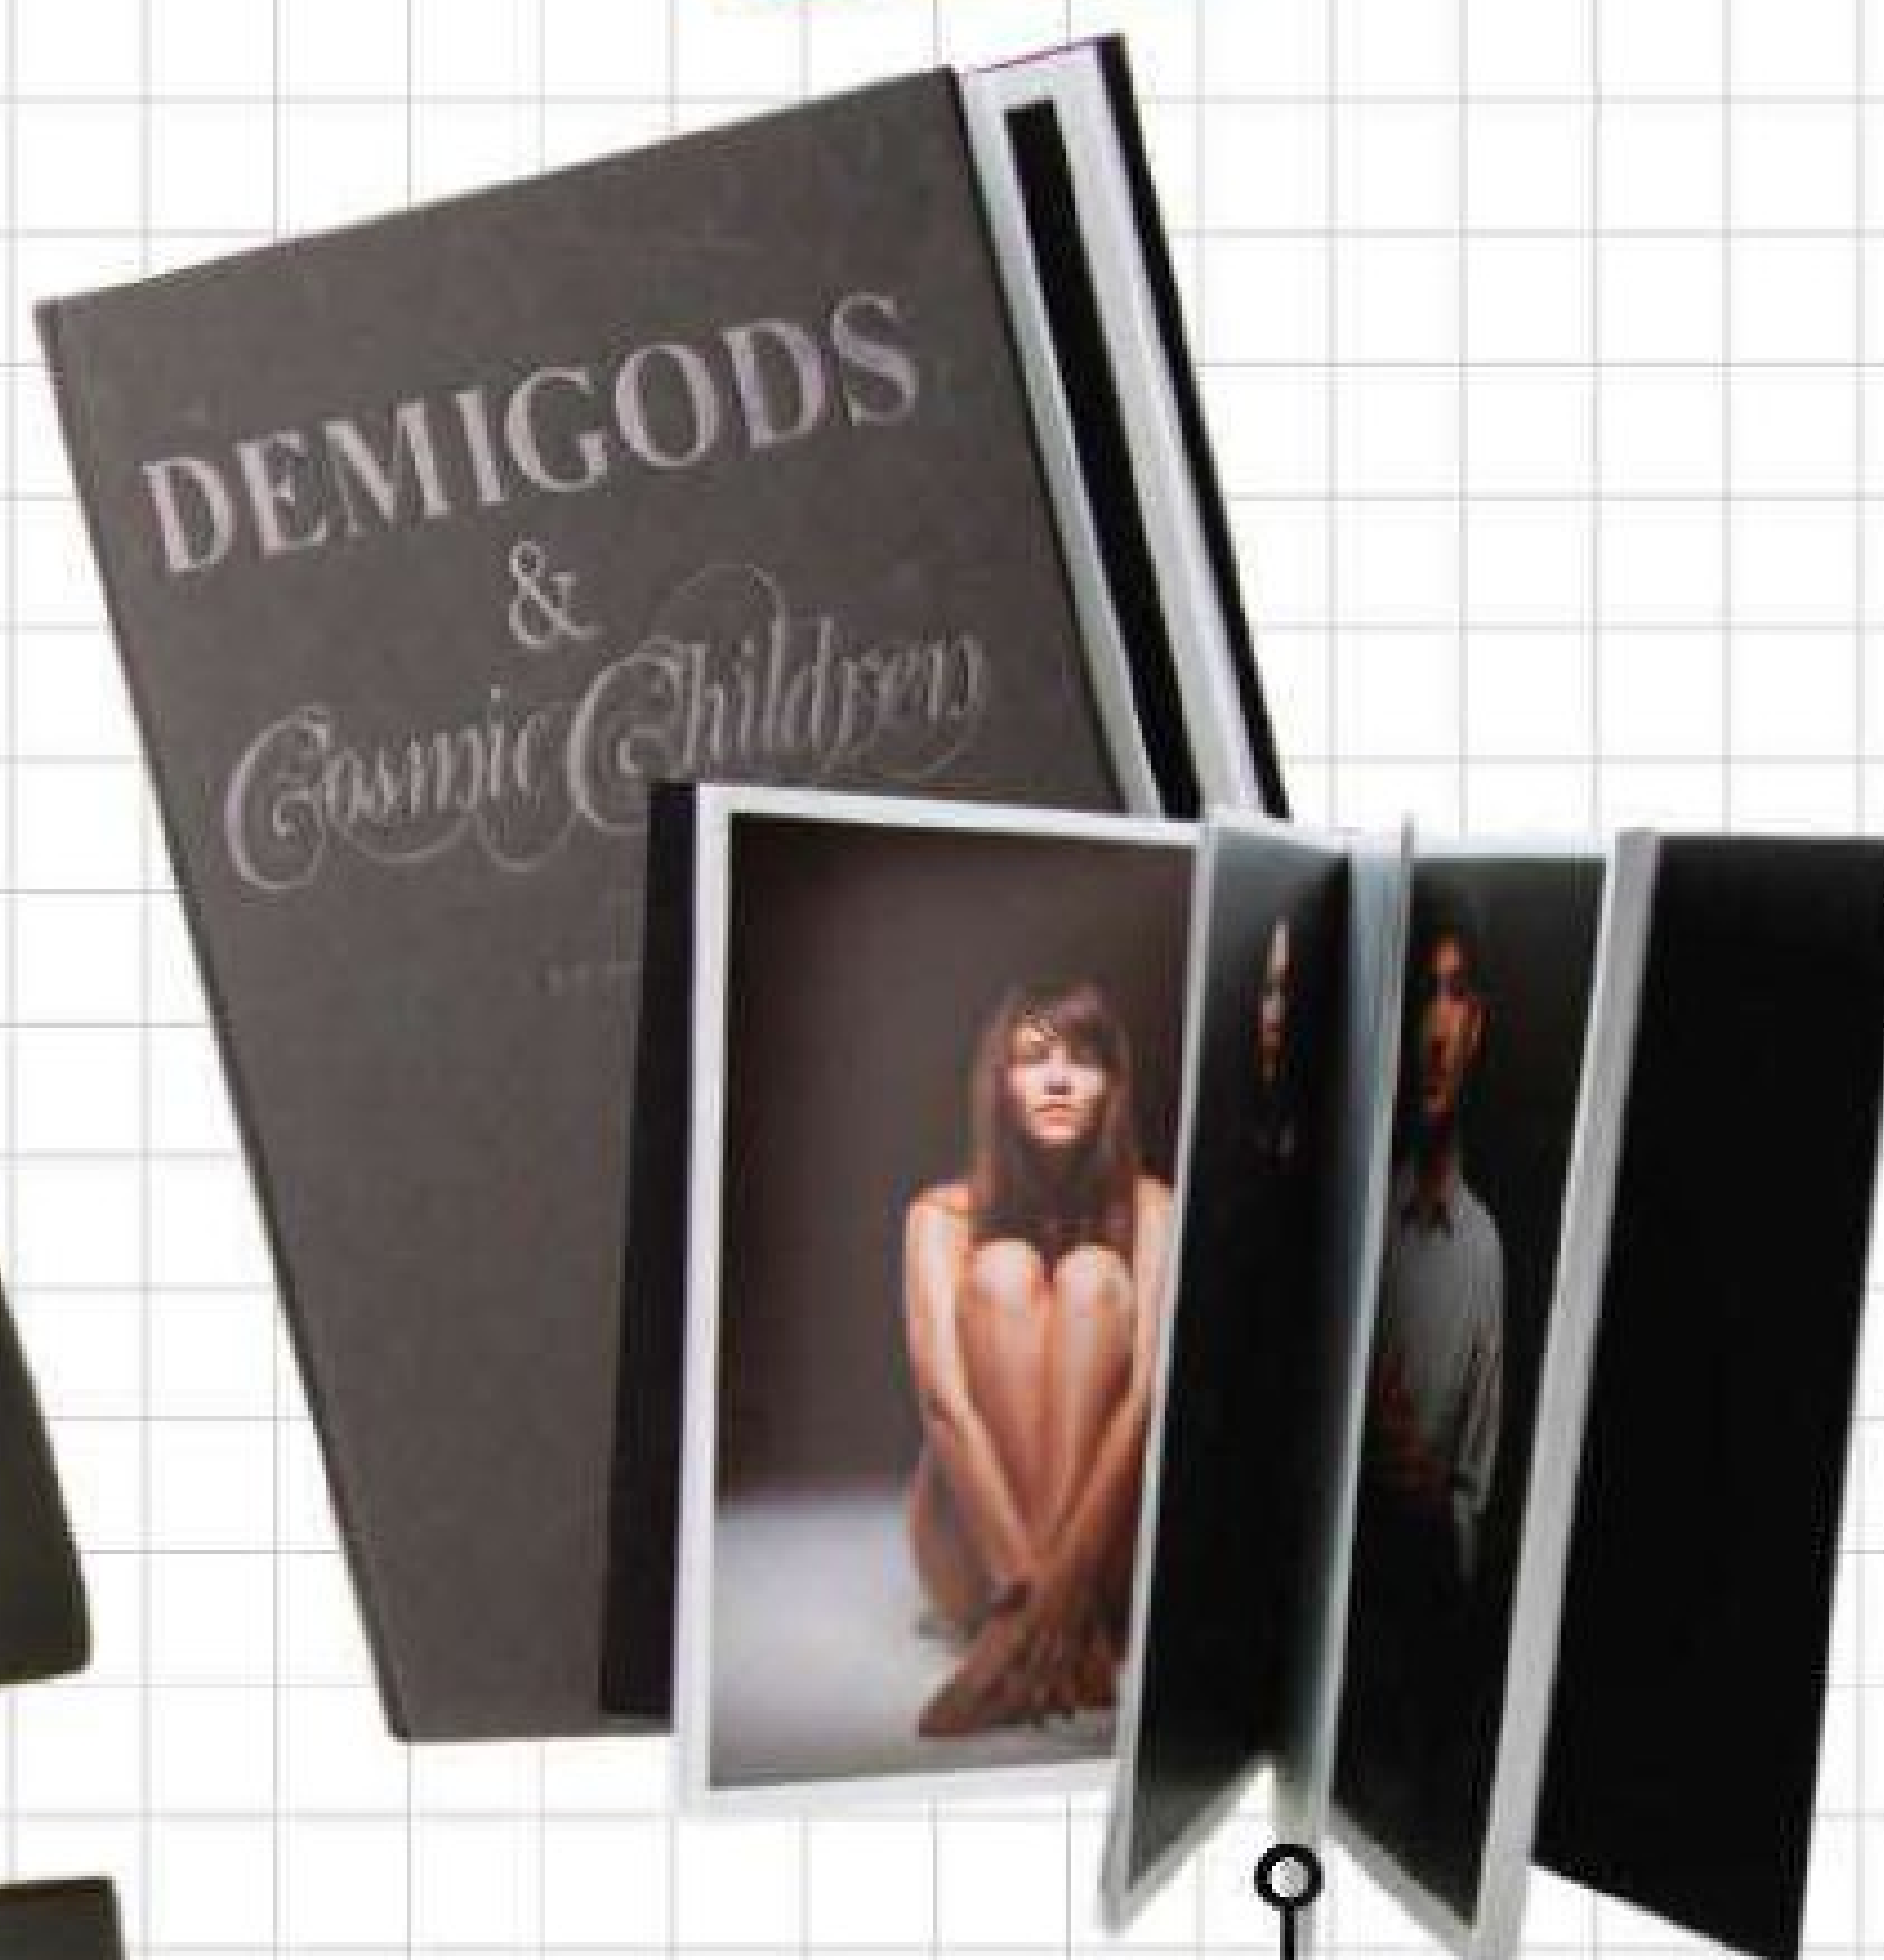

SEMPER-HI-FI

Skullcandy GI Headphones £60, from skullcandy.com

GOOD: These American GI-themed bins allow you to pretend that you're not listening to Magic FM in the meat aisle in Morrisons, but knee-deep in mud, blood and guts in 'Nam, 1969.

BAD: Quick, Charlie at 4 o'clock! Blamblamblam! Oh, wait – it was just a leg of lamb.

PHRESH FOTOS

Demigods & Cosmic Children
by Giovanni Reda £35,
from routeone.co.uk

GOOD: Giovanni Reda is a cool-as-eskimo-tits photographer who takes killer snaps of top skaters, plus oddball celebs like Elijah Wood and Juliette Lewis, and this is a chunky-ass book of his bestest photos.

BAD: We'd probably still kiss Juliette Lewis, even though she's one of those mad-eyed Sciencelollygists who reckon Tom Cruise is a space-wizard.

SLINKY SNAP-SNAP

Olympus VR-310 £130, from olympus.co.uk

GOOD: Become the next Terry Richardson by taking photos of ladies' flanges on this 14-megapixel point'n'shooter. Like your dad's penis, it's less than 2cm thick and available in eye-scorching purple or red.

BAD: It also comes in silver or black, like your robot uncle's detachable penises.

MEALS ON WHEELS

Chocolate Skateboards Bearings £12, Cliché Skateboards Egg Wheels £28, Shake Junt Chicken Wax £5, all from nativeskatestore.co.uk

GOOD: There's a bit of a 'let's make stuff look like food' craze sweeping skateboarding right now, which is weird, because most skaters are skinnier than a vegan crackhead.

BAD: We're still waiting for someone to release a deck that looks exactly like a Nando's half-chicken meal with two regular sides and a fizzy pop.

WAKY WAKY

Don't Sleep Magazine #2 £12.50, from dontsleepmagazine.com

GOOD: You might think a magazine aimed at people being hunted by Freddy Krueger might be a bit niche, but there's obviously a market for everything these days.

BAD: It's actually an Aussie mag about "graffiti, tattoos and urban decay". Very good it is too. Needs moar Freddy tho.

IRONIC DISHWASHING

To Dry For Tea-Towels £7.50 each, from todryfor.com

GOOD: Tea-towels have traditionally been, quite literally, dry – but now the chucklers over at To Dry For have livened up dish-drying with these semi-amusing creations.

BAD: Mr T's a bit played-out. Some alternative suggestions: a size double-T bra; a teepee; tritium, a radioactive isotope of hydrogen that's represented by the symbol 'T'. You're very welcome!

WTF?FUTURAMA IS REAL

Moller Skycar M400 £324,000, from firebox.com

GOOD: Yes, this is exactly what it looks like: a flying fucking car, with a max speed of 380mph and a range of 900 miles. Let's all buy one and have a mad race!

BAD: Not since Rosie Jones have we wanted something so badly that we'd be prepared to swap a ball, a lung and a kidney for it.

WHAT KIND OF facebook USER ARE YOU?

EVERY FUCKER'S ON IT, BUT WE ALL USE IT IN DIFFERENT WAYS. WHAT DIVISION OF CYBERSOD DO YOU SLIDE INTO?

THE RELENTLESS SELF-PUBLICIST

WHAT ARE THEY? Show-offs who cross-post everything to every social network imaginable, so being friends with them entails a stream of updates via Twitter, Tumblr, Last.fm, Spotify and, just for a laugh, MySpace.

TYPICAL PROFILE PICTURE: It changes daily, but is generally either them with someone off the telly or them in beautiful, plush surroundings.

TYPICAL STATUS UPDATE: "Liverpool today, then off to the airport to head to NYC. There aren't enough hours in the day!"

THE VOYEUR

WHAT ARE THEY? While they never update their profiles or statuses, voyeurs spend hours poring over Facebook and committing all their friends' activities to memory. Then, when you meet one you haven't seen for a while, they know an eerie amount about what you've been up to lately...

TYPICAL PROFILE PICTURE: Them smiling on holiday four years ago, usually poorly cropped or in really low resolution, or a 'Simpsonsized' version of themselves.

TYPICAL STATUS UPDATE: Nothing. They've only updated it once, when they first joined, with a severely underwhelming, "Hi guyz, not sure how to use this, it's all a bit weird!"

THE VALIDATION SEEKER

WHAT ARE THEY? Validation Seekers post every opinion and emotion they experience for the world to see, in the hope that someone somewhere will comment, quelling the constant doubt they live in.

TYPICAL PROFILE PICTURE: Them locked in an embrace with their current squeeze, accompanied by a statement like "in love forever". Dig about, and you'll discover several versions of the same picture with exes now consigned to history.

TYPICAL STATUS UPDATE: A heart-breaking but cruelly funny, "Guess everything rly waz 2 gud 2 b true :("

THE SHIT FUNNYMAN

WHAT ARE THEY? Terrible wannabe comedians who mainly post jokes nicked off the telly, YouTube videos everyone else saw years ago, or a woefully unamusing commentary of whatever they're watching on ITV1, which is generally incomprehensible unless you are also watching ITV1.

TYPICAL PROFILE PICTURE: Them holding two pints with a comedy embarrassed look on their face.

TYPICAL STATUS UPDATE: "Of course Gregg's pleased they're cooking cakes! Gregg's really fat! You're fat, Gregg!"

StoreMags.com - Free Magazines Download in True PDF format

FYI

Facebook led to the verb 'unfriend' being included in the dictionary (well, in the American one, anyway).

THE MAGNIFICENTLY STUPID MOTHERFUCKER

WHAT ARE THEY? Just thick, thick bastards with a lot of time on their hands and no filter between their stupid minds and stupid fingers. Turning the spellcheck off on their computer was the most complex task they've ever achieved.

TYPICAL PROFILE PICTURE: Their arse. Possibly with an arrow drawn on it, and the word 'poo'. Or them in a Borat costume from Halloween 2008.

TYPICAL STATUS UPDATE: "Whys my pants wet lol i fink i sat in piss!"

McEwan's used to make beers known as McEwan's 60/-, 70/- and 80/-, the number referring to how many shillings in duty had to be paid per barrel

"There's about four levels of taste in a way that disorients me. It tastes pretty harmless, though - like you could sit down, have six, stand up, fall over and break your nose"

FRAOCH HEATHER

It's got Gaelic serpents and stuff on it, an exciting accent on the 'o', and a metallic label. Amazing

'Fraoch' is Gaelic for 'heather', and is supposedly the oldest style of ale in the world, first made four thousand years ago

"It tastes earthy and fermented, almost like it's a vegetable. Is it organic, or something? It's got a nice unusual aftertaste to it. It's interesting..."
RATING: A cool bottle, a fun name to say and an interesting backstory - good times

WORKIE CHALLENGE

WE FORCE YOUNG HOPEFULS TO COMPLETE EVIL TASKS. THIS MONTH...
DOES EVERYTHING
TASTE NICER IN BATTER?

THE WORKIE: Martin Dalziel, 24, from Scotland.

TEA-MAKING SKILLS:

Upsetting. Attempts to win us round with Jammy Dodgers failed miserably after days of dry throats.

IPOD CHALLENGE: Martin doesn't own an MP3 player of any kind, so instead we had to make do with his Spotify playlist, which went okay. It's also a massive violation of the FRONT rules, which saddens us.

WEAKEST MOMENT: In a new low, Martin made a solo tea round, without asking if anyone else needed one.

THE CHALLENGE: Hailing from the country that gave us the deep-fried Mars bar, Scotsman Martin was perfect for solving an office argument: does everything taste better with batter? The answer, it seems, is a mystery: with that accent, we could barely understand a thing he said all week.

DOUGHNUT

"Actually, this is okay. It's really warm but it tastes quite nice. It's all runny and the batter goes nice with it."

TOMATO

"Disgusting. It's burning my tongue and tastes horrible. I feel like I'm eating sick. I can't describe it, but it's not natural."

BURGER

"It's a bit stodgy and I feel like I'm getting terminally ill with every bite, but it's nice with ketchup."

MARS BAR

"Oh, mate, this is glorious. I've never tried this but it's so good. I always thought it'd be horrible but it's like the best crepe you've ever had, but better. All the chocolate is melted. You feel like you're about to eat a battered sausage but it's chocolate! I feel like I'm sinning eating this."

LETTUCE

"It's like deep-fried water. The batter tastes of something but the lettuce tastes like sick and paper. Dry boke."

VERDICT: FAIL

MARTIN SHALL SIMPLY BE REMEMBERED AS 'THE SOLO TEA ROUND GUY', WHICH IS A VERY BAD THING.

WHERE AM I THEN? JAPANNING FOR GOLD

IT'S A BIG BUNCH OF JAPANESE EXERCISERS, BUT CAN YOU SPOT THE BIG-NAME SPEEDSTERS?

YOU KNOW WHAT'S more fun than running? Everything. Running's knackered, sweaty, unpleasant and against nature. If God existed and wanted us to run, He wouldn't have invented buses.

Some dimwits bloody love it, though, like these 30,000 hard Japanese sods running the Tokyo Marathon (taking place this year on 27 February). Of all the ace stuff to do in Japan (weird maid cafes, weird tentacle fetish bars, weird restaurants where you eat off a lady's arse), running 26 miles and 385 yards is the last thing we'd fucking go for.

The only way we'd ever run a marathon would be if the prize was the best thing ever, like a £100,000-per-year job as a professional blow job recipient. Even then, we'd definitely need an inhaler, and we'd probably benefit from being really drunk.

In amongst these Far East work-outers, we've cleverly hidden two running-related famous people. There's Keanu

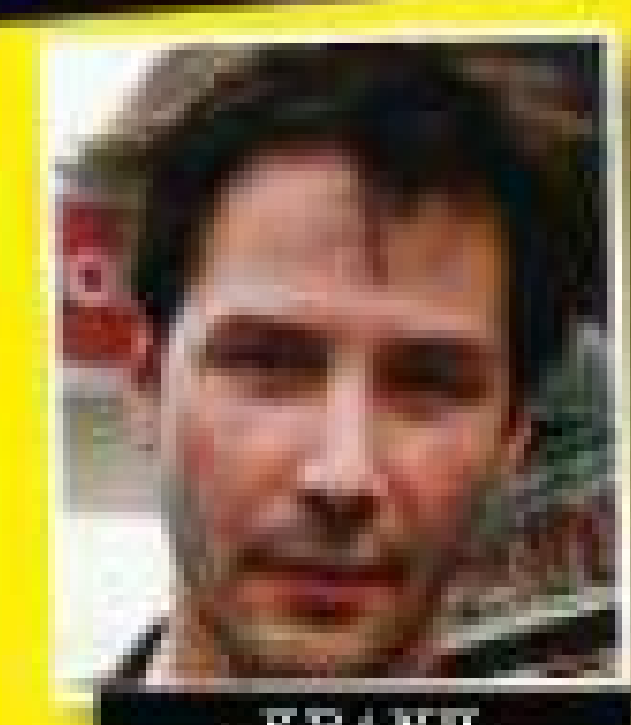

Reeves, who is related to running because he was in the film Speed, and the Reverend Run from Run DMC, who is related to running because his name is the word 'Run'.

If you spot them, you win a pair of trainers made of solid diamonds. To redeem your prize, circle the famous people and post your magazine to This Address Is A Lie, Made Up Road, Rubbish Bin, FU69 OMG.

HOW TO ENJOY MUSIC EVEN MORE

WITH ANDREW W.K.

MUSIC FEELS VERY, VERY GOOD, even if your brain doesn't understand what the song is about. Music goes beyond ideas into the realm of pure feelings – that's why it's so sacred. It creates pure physical sensations. There are, though, subtle ways we can improve our musical experiences and enjoy it even more...

LET IT WASH OVER YOU

Since our brain is usually trying to figure out the world around us, it gets into the habit of trying to understand all our experiences. This probably evolved for survival, but when it comes to music, our brains don't need to understand the meaning in the same way. So when listening to music – especially something you're hearing for the first time – humble your mind and release yourself from the need to understand what you're hearing. Let it wash over you like a wave. When we swim, we're not trying to figure out the chemical makeup of the sea, we just like swimming. I highly recommend embracing the ignorant bliss of it all. It's a good skill to be able to just enjoy music, or anything in life, without feeling the need to 'understand' it.

MUSICAL MEMORIES

We've probably all had the experience of music taking us back to a certain place or a certain time. Music is the soundtrack to our lives, and with a little effort we can intentionally choose a score for our own life movie. It's especially effective if you can over-listen to certain music during certain times, and then completely stop listening to that music for a few years. Then, sometime later, you put that music back on and BAM! It's like time travel. Then, when we're on our deathbeds, we can play a huge mixtape of all the tunes we ever loved and travel through all the years of our lives. And then shit the bed and die with a smile.

PLAY ALONG WITH SONGS

This is pretty much the opposite of what I said earlier, but it's the next step after letting the music wash over you. Even if we've never played an instrument before, most of us have sung in the shower, or tapped a drumbeat on our car's steering wheel. For those of us who play an instrument, it's hard to imagine anyone who hasn't at least tried to figure out a favourite song or learn how that one awesome guitar part goes. It's natural to want to get closer to this thing that makes us feel so good, and playing along to songs is an incredible way to get intimate with music. It's like having sex with the song.

"SHIT THE BED AND DIE WITH A SMILE"

THREE OF MY FAVOURITE EGGS

1 BLOOD-FILLED SCOTCH EGGS

I once bit into a Scotch egg to find the yolk of the egg wasn't yellow, but a deep red. Pure congealed blood. This was tasty in a way I had never experienced before. Before long I had finished the egg and was craving another. Keep an eye out for more for me, please.

2 SCRAMBLED BEER EGGS

In cooking, adding beer to just about anything improves the taste and texture, but I had never thought to add beer to my breakfast until a good friend served me a plateful of her famous beer eggs. Throw in a pinch of sugar, a dash of paprika and one chopped sardine. You'll be hooked.

3 ROTTEN THOUSAND-YEAR EGG

In Chinese cuisine, a great delicacy is called a Thousand-Year Egg, which is pretty much a rotten egg preserved for human consumption. I had one in Taiwan and was blown away. It was black and stank like sulphur, shit and shit mixed with more shit from a dead dog. I loved it.

15 REASONS WHY

IRON MAIDEN

ARE FUCKING
INCREDIBLE

THEIR CURRENT LINE-UP BOASTS A COMBINED AGED OF 326 – BLOODY FUCKING HELL. BUT WHY ARE IRON MAIDEN SO MEGA ACE?

PARTY IN BRUCE'S PANTS
Maiden chill out on a mega-plush caravan

1 BRUCE DICKINSON IS THE MOST INTERESTING MAN EVER

Recognised as a polymath (a man of many talents) by Intelligent Life magazine, the 52-year-old singer has more strings to his bow than a bowman with a fuck-ton of strings.

● BRUCE IS A SINGER

He earned the nickname 'The Air Raid Siren' after letting out a frustrated scream in a problematic recording session that knocked the rest of the band's socks off. He's also done several solo albums and before joining Maiden was the lead singer of fellow metal band Samson.

● BRUCE IS A FENCER

Bringing a bit of heavy metal manliness to a sport we'd always dismissed as a bit woofy due to all the white leggings, Bruce has competed at a national level and co-founded his own fencing supplies company, Duellist Fencing.

● BRUCE IS A MULTIMEDIA BASTARD

As well as his sorely-missed BBC 6 Music radio show, he has also fronted telly shows on aviation, tanks and spontaneous human combustion. Plus, he authored two novels and one screenplay (and made a couple of cheeky cameos in the resulting film, Chemical Wedding).

● BRUCE IS A FUCKING DUDE

He's a funny motherfucker, once describing his early life as a rock star in the Britishest way ever as "When you're young and you've only had two girlfriends, you go to America and there's all these birds throwing themselves at you so you bonk yourself stupid."

● BRUCE IS A PILOT

Enjoying a position as Marketing Director with charter airline Astraeus, Bruce enjoys nothing more than taking to the fuckin' skies. He even flew the band round the world on their Somewhere Back In Time tour, on a modified 757 known as Ed Force One, as well as flying Liverpool FC out to Napoli for a match last year.

2 THEY WORKED WITH MR BEAN AND LIVED

While this isn't the most impressive thing ever, Bruce Dickinson managed to bring out a record with Mr fucking Bean (a charity single, a cover of Alice Cooper's Elected) without killing him, himself or everyone around them. God, that dick-faced scumbag is appalling.

3 THEY'VE GOT FUNNY NAMES

Well, two of them have. Step forward drummer Nicko McBrain (ha ha ha) and manager Rod Smallwood (whose name is essentially Cock Tinyerection). Smallwood is a bit of a legend in the music industry – when Maiden had run out of money in the Bahamas back in 1983, he took their last $50 and gambled it into $300 so they could live there another day. He then did that again for another five days on the trot.

4 THEY'VE HAD SOME MENTALISTS OVER THE YEARS

Former vocalist Paul Di'Anno, who left the band in 1981, is what is politely known as 'a bit of a character'. He's been arrested for having a submachine gun, done (in his words) "loads of drugs", and once kicked out the teeth of one of his guitarists. He now has a tattoo on the back of his head that says, in block capitals, 'GOD = SUCKER'.

At the time of writing, he's facing possible jail time for benefit fraud, after allegedly claiming over £45,000 incapacity while continuing to perform onstage. He was collared after posting videos of himself on YouTube, and will be sentenced on 11 March.

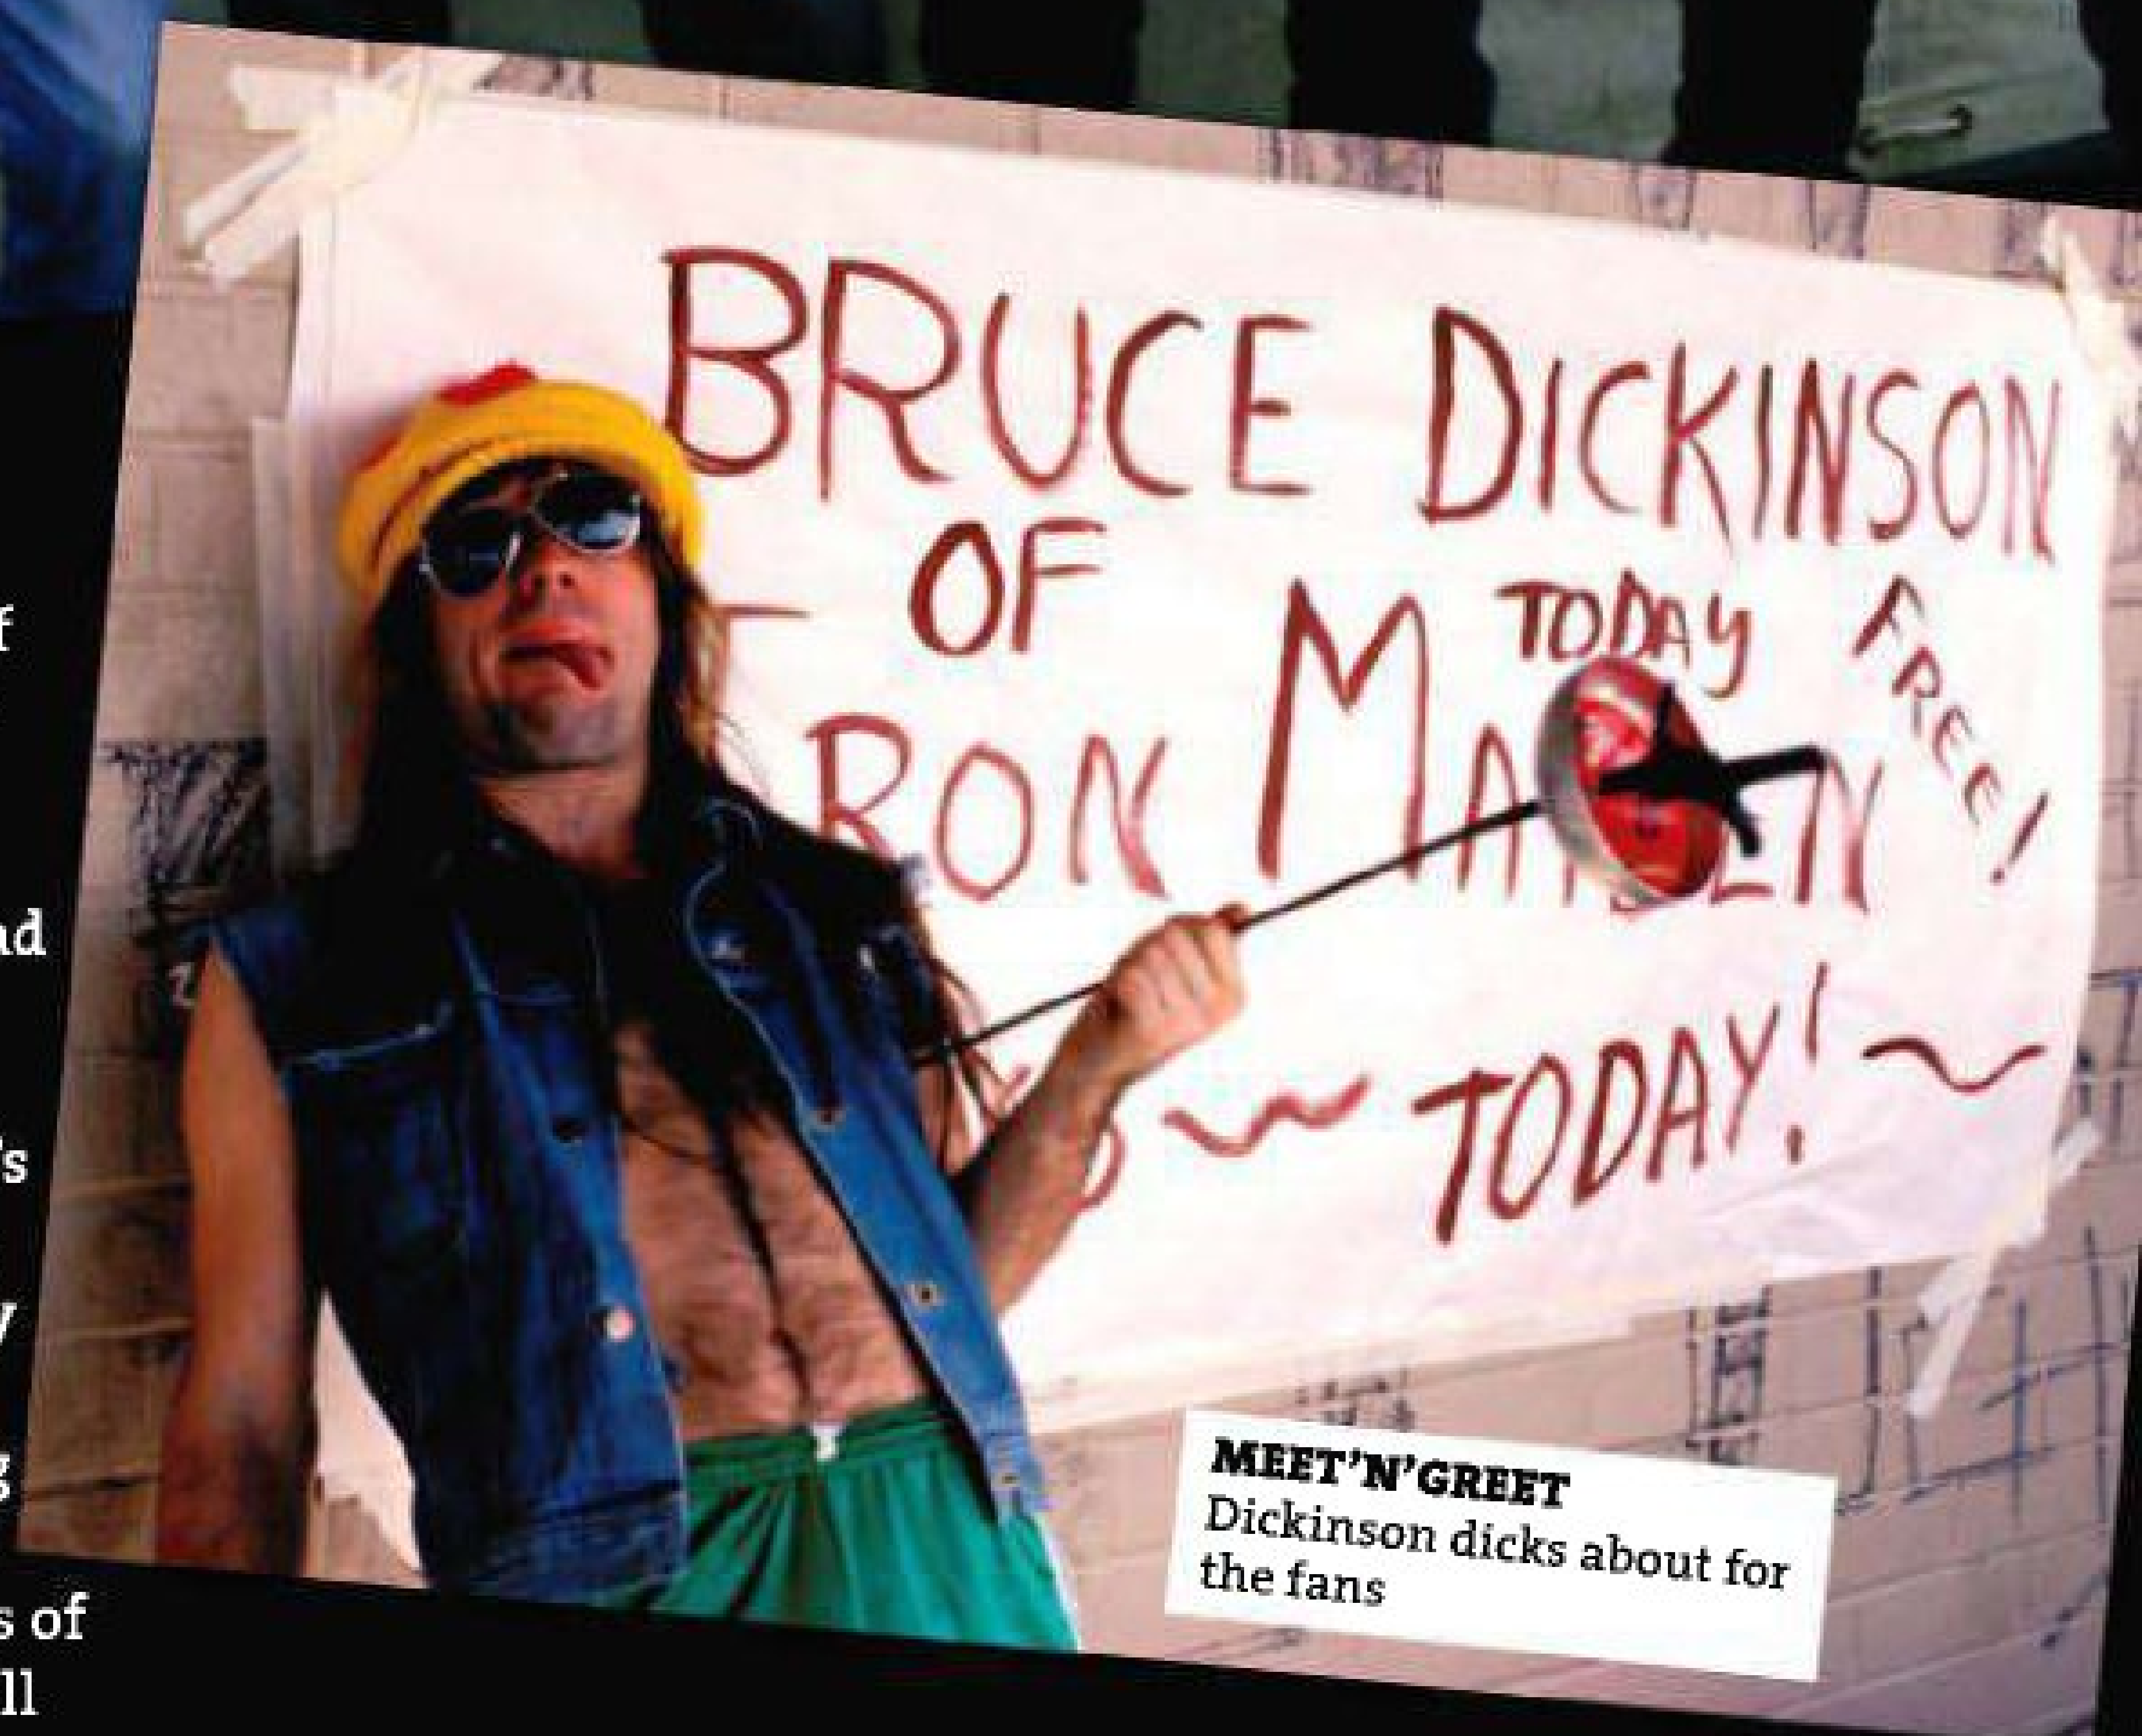

5 THEY'RE FOOTBALL MENTAL

Steve Harris was a youth player for West Ham in his younger days, and usually displays their crest on his bass. Maiden fans have also changed Hammers fans' catchphrase "Up the Hammers", turning it into "Up the Irons". On the Monsters Of Rock tour, Harris would perform wearing the football shirt of every country they played in, which is either a sign of the unifying power of football or a cheap way to get the crowd on-side, depending on how you look at it.

6 THEY'RE WELL-READ BASTARDS

Iron Maiden's lyrics (mostly by Steve Harris) are full of literary references, from an album named after Aldous Huxley's Brave New World to a 13-minute retelling of The Rime Of The Ancient Mariner, to The Trooper, based on The Charge Of The Light Brigade by Alfred Lord Tennyson. They're pretty keen on historical references too, a highlight of any show being Bruce waving a Union Flag to a Winston Churchill speech before launching into Aces High.

MEET'N'GREET
Dickinson dicks about for the fans

7 THEY HAVE THE GREATEST MASCOT EVER

Step forward Eddie The Head, Iron Maiden's mascot and one of the most amazing icons of metal history. First designed by artist Derek Riggs, Eddie developed a life of his own (and a particular hatred for Margaret Thatcher), and has appeared in various guises both on- and off-stage (the band tour with a giant version of him who attacks band members).

8 THEY RUN TO THE GRILLS

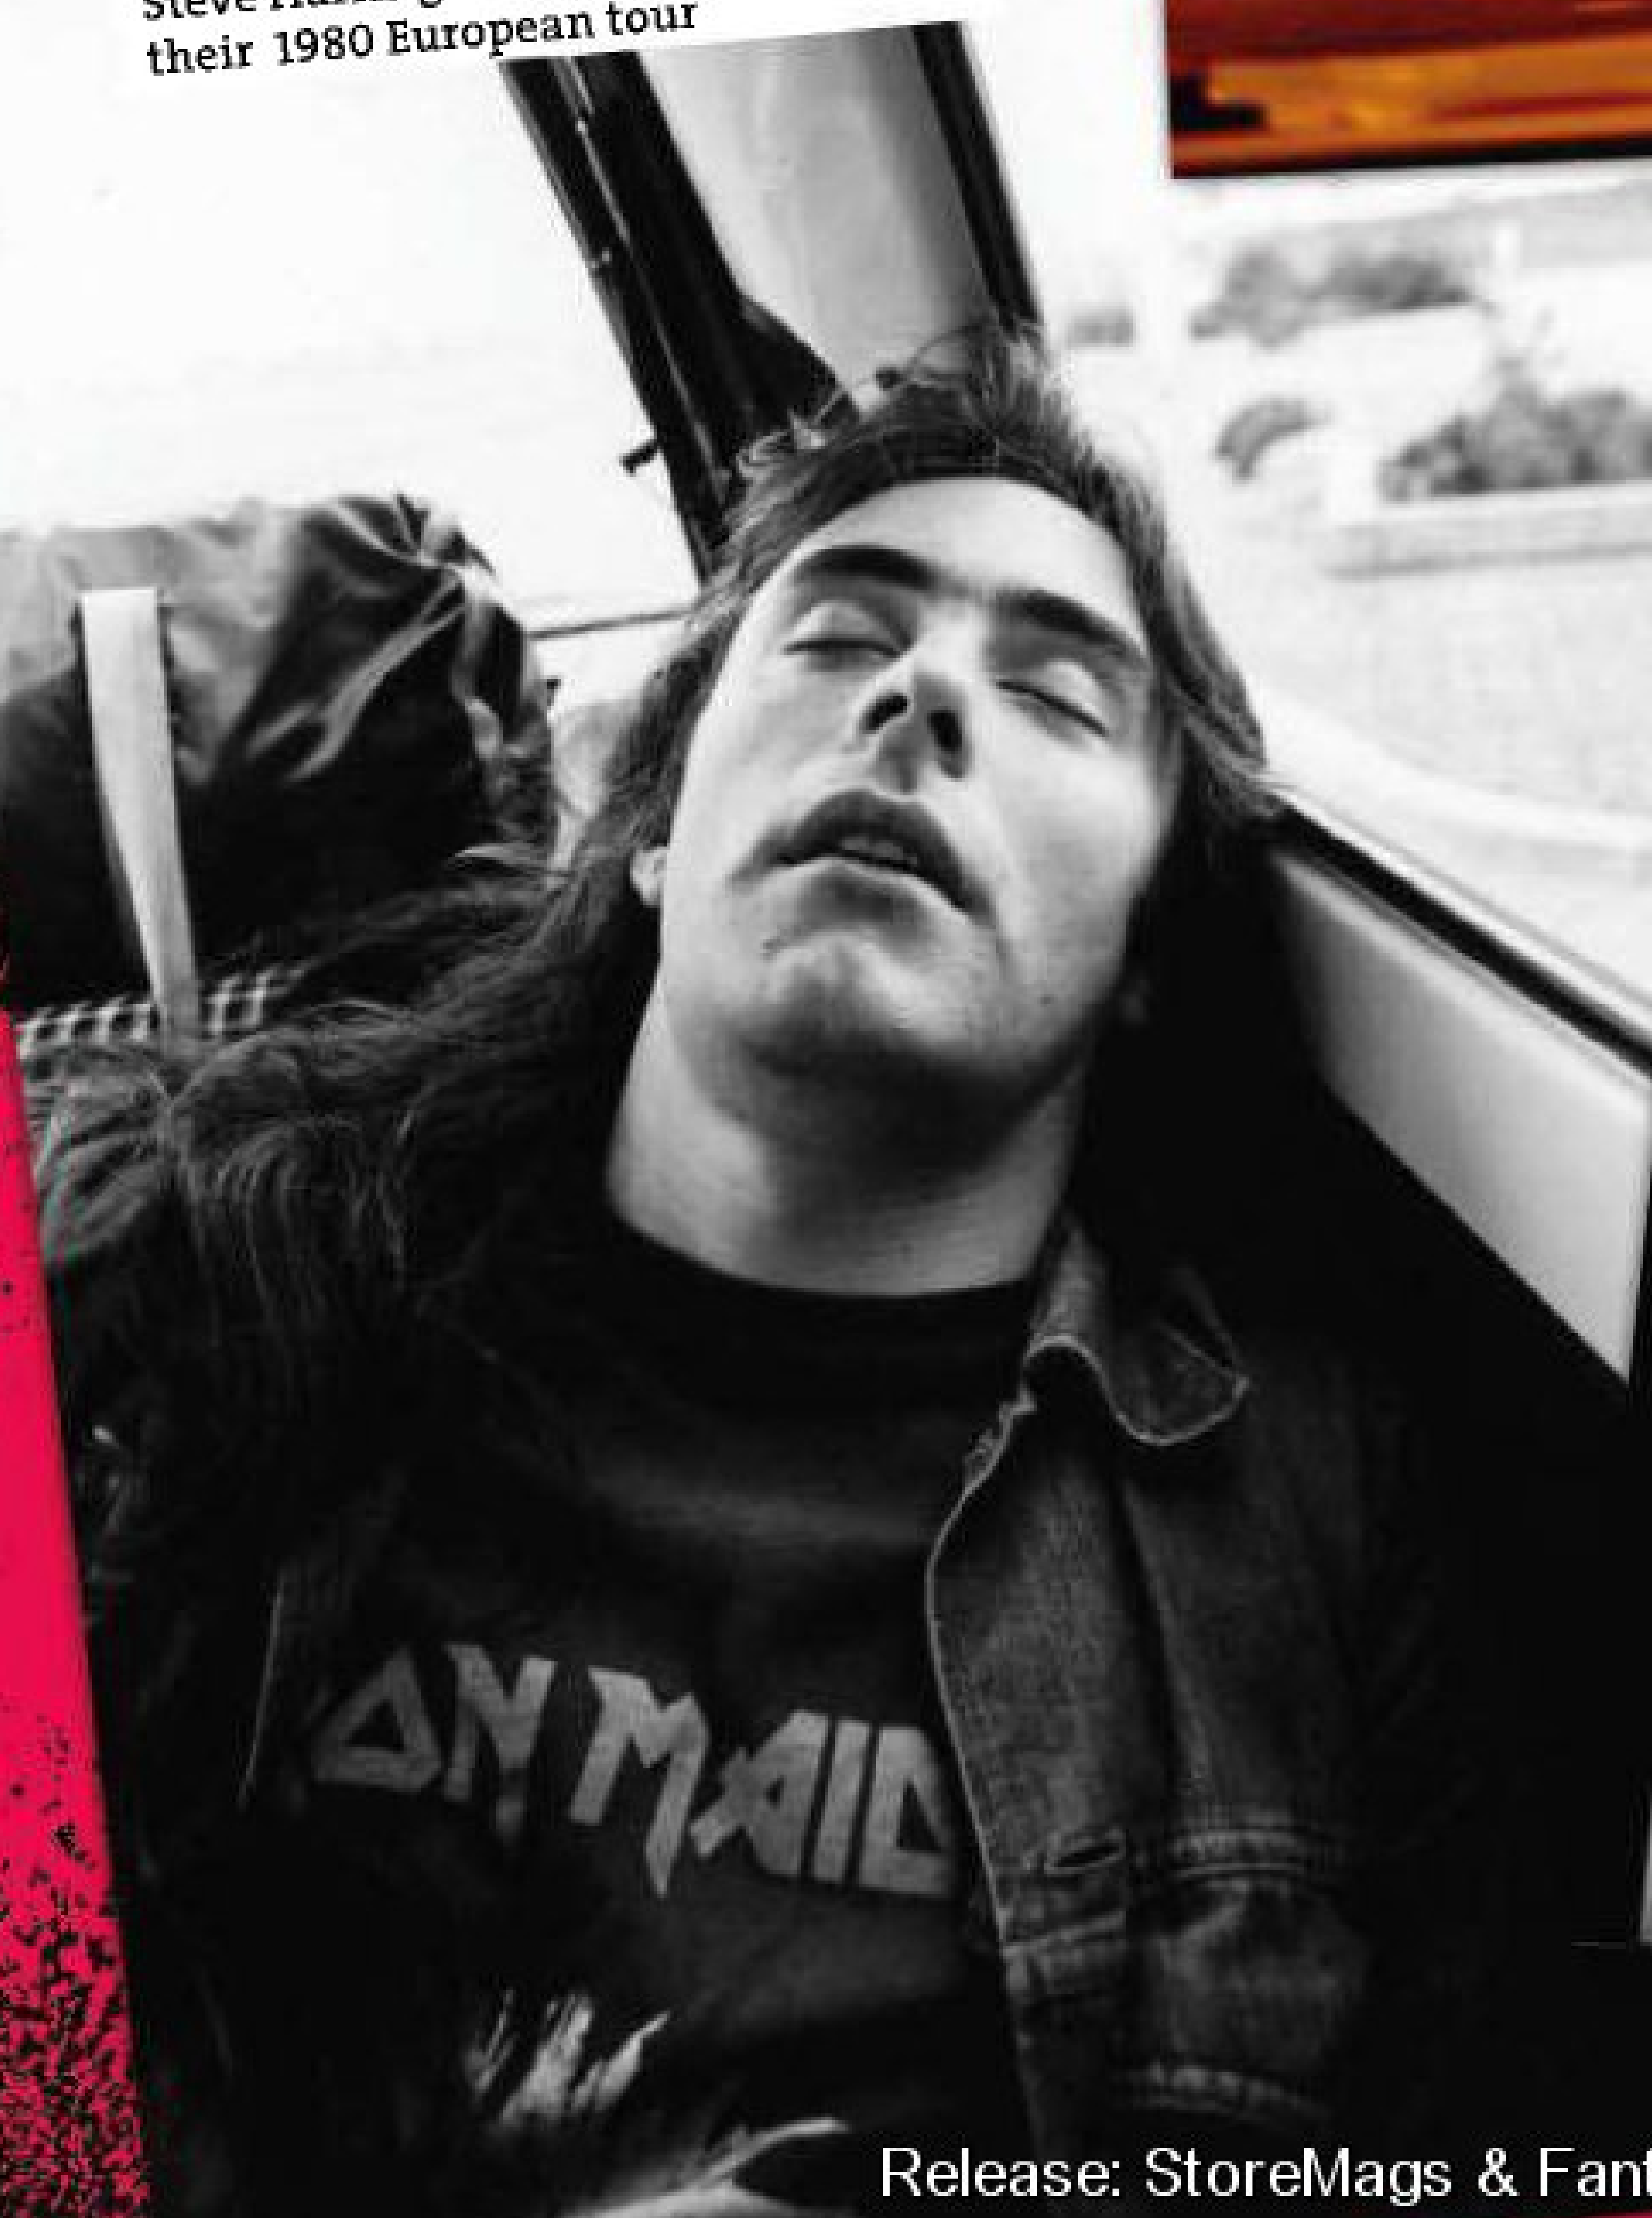

Nicko McBrain owns a ribs restaurant in Florida named Rock'N'Roll Ribs. This is great because ribs are delicious.

9 THEY WROTE FEAR OF THE DARK, THE ACTUAL BEST SONG EVER

Even leaving aside the fact that this is a metal song about being afraid of the dark, Fear Of The Dark is all kinds of amazing. Live versions of it (such as those found on the albums A Real Live One and Rock In Rio) feature massive crowds (250,000 at the Rio concert) singing along, Bruce punctuating it with yells of, "Scream for me Bra-zill!"

10 THEY'VE WORKED WITH BUCKETS OF SICK

During the beginning of their Somewhere Back In Time tour in 2006, bassist Steve Harris and guitarist Janick Gers had a touch of Gandhi's Revenge after eating something dodgy in India. Their next show, in Australia, saw buckets set up across the stage for them to aim their barf into.

11 THEY'RE PASSING TALENT DOWN

Both Bruce and Steve have shown talent runs in the blood. Bruce's son Austin (who couldn't look more like Bruce if he printed out a picture of Bruce and wore it as a mask) fronts metalcore band Rise To Remain, who have won awards from Kerrang! and Metal Hammer, while Steve's daughter Lauren (who thankfully looks a lot better in skin-tight trousers than her dad) has played Download and Rock Am Ring.

12 THEY'RE EMBRACING THE FUTURE

While their stadium-blasting colleagues Metallica were pissing people off all over the world by attempting to sue everyone with a computer, Maiden took a much more grown-up approach to things like file-sharing. At a gig in Oslo in July 2003, Bruce told the crowd, "The album isn't out yet, but please pull out your digital recorders, MP3 players, mobile phones or whatever you have. Put it on the internet, spread it all over the world. But on one condition: when you hear the new album, if you like it, pay the equivalent of three beers to buy the record in the store. This keeps us alive."

13 THEY KNOW THEIR UNHOLY ONIONS

When Bruce wrote the film Chemical Wedding, which features a man being possessed by legendary mentalist Aleister Crowley, it wasn't just a casual dip into the creepy world of the occult. "I started getting into Aleister Crowley when I was 15," he said when promoting the film. "He was the first rock star." He later described Crowley as, "Like Christ. Only better."

14 THEY'RE NOT AFRAID TO BLEED

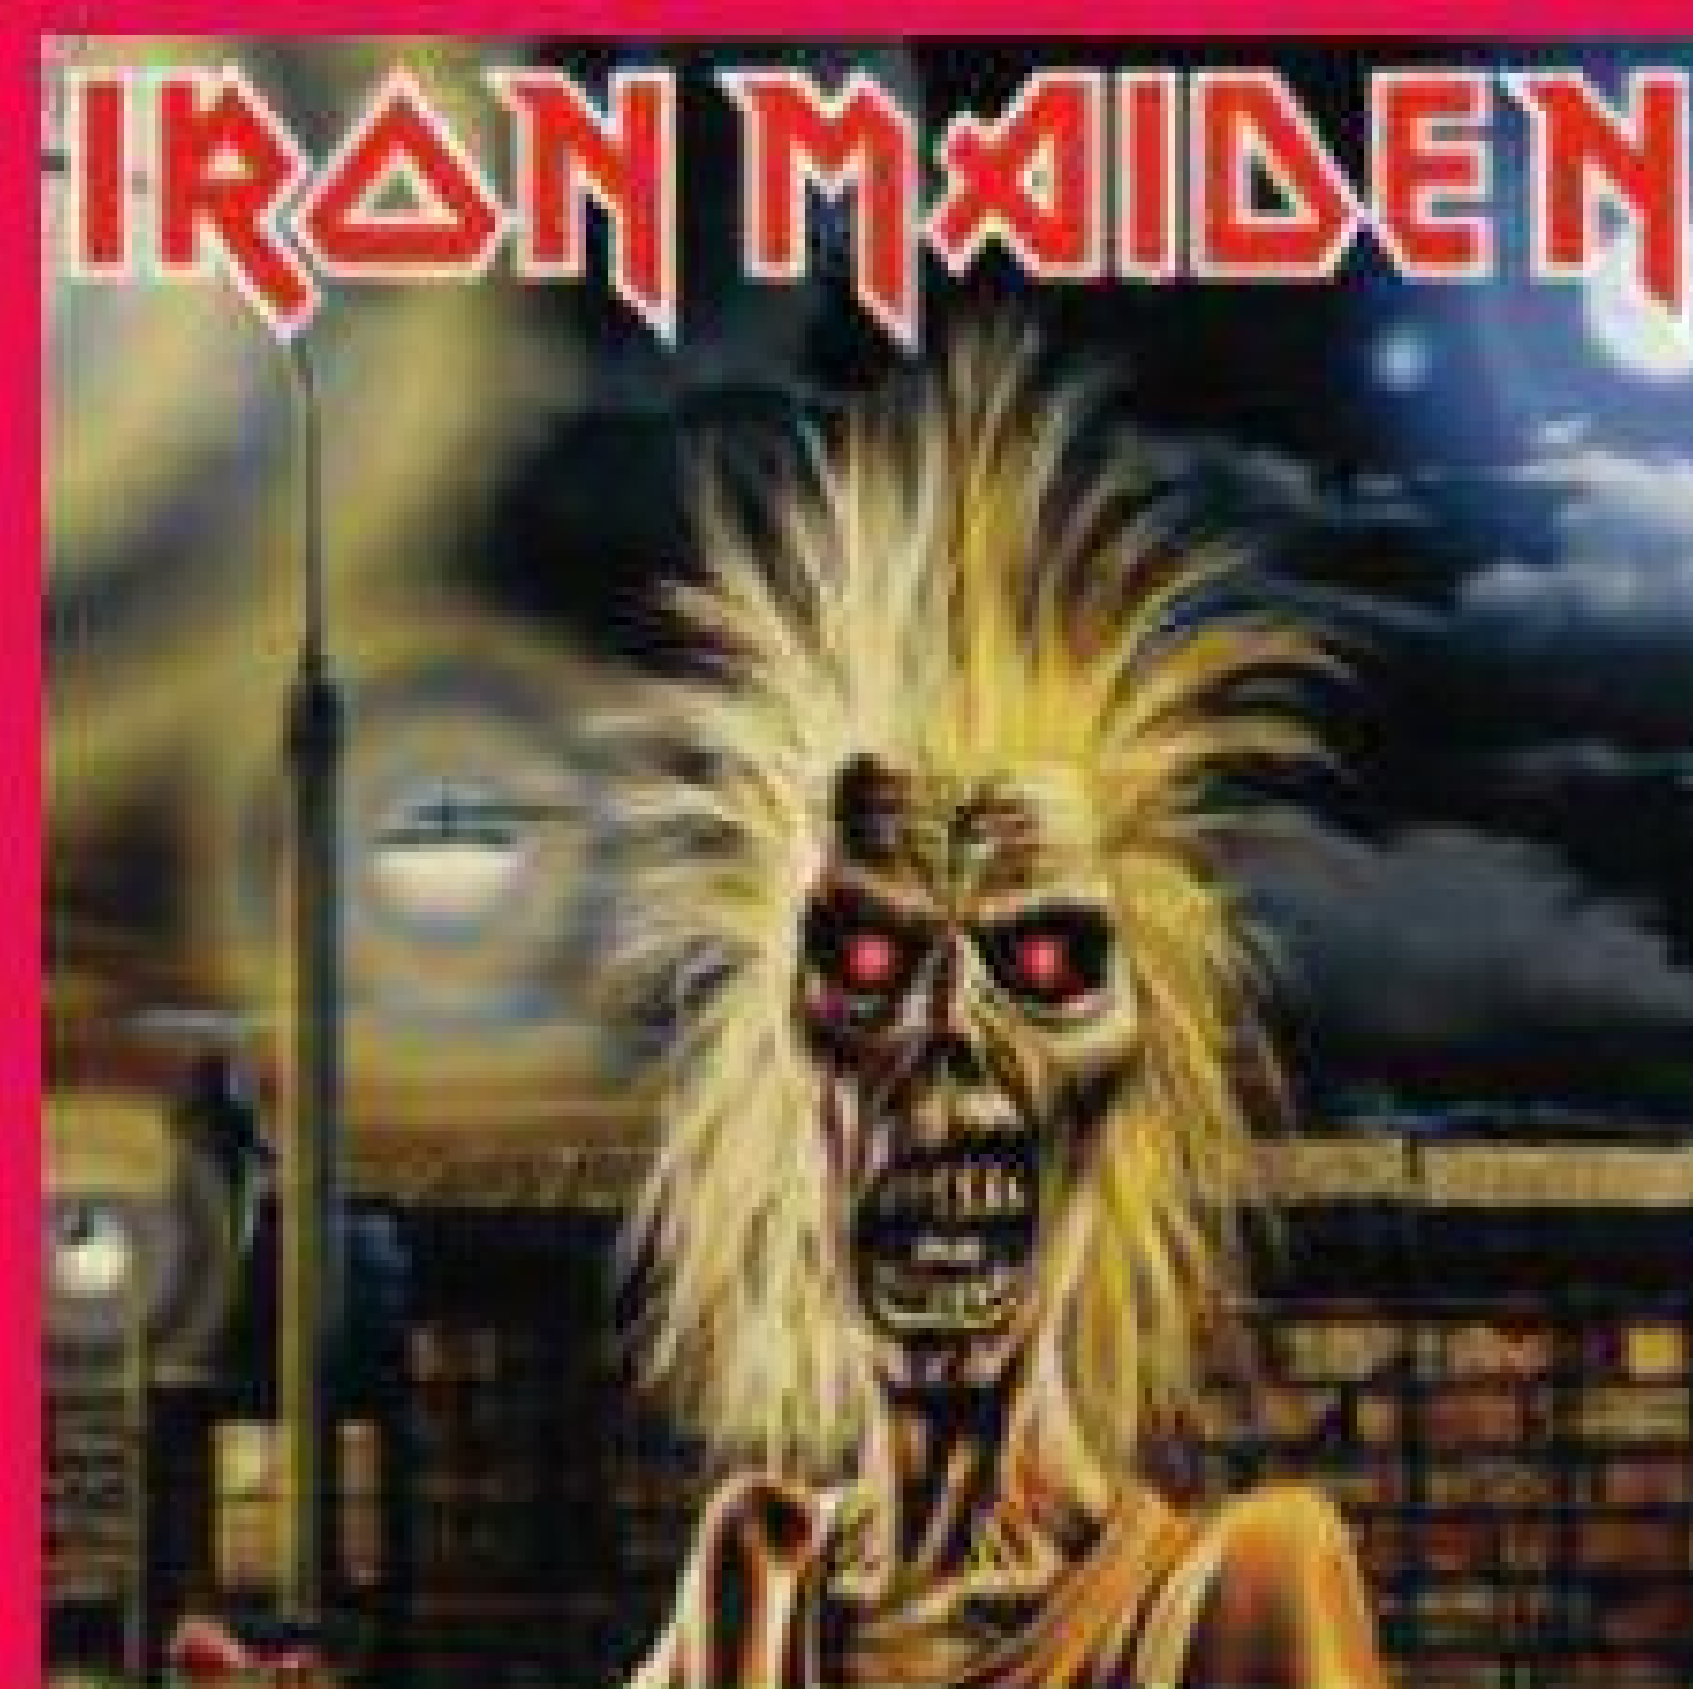

"When we did Rock In Rio, for the first number, the sound was completely crap," says Bruce. "I got totally bent out of shape because you're trapped – you've gotta sing but you might not be able to sing for weeks later if you blow your voice out to hear yourself. I had this beautiful blue guitar and I ran up to the monitor desk and smashed it over the desk. 'That's what I think of your monitor sound, you fucking cunt.' - When Talib was in Black Star with Mos Def, that shit was amazing.

- Talib's name translates from Swahili and Arabic as 'seeker of truth'.

QUESTIONS TALIB KWELI

HOW WILL THE SOCIALLY-CONSCIOUS HIP-HOP LEGEND HANDLE THE QUESTIONS WE PUT TO EVERYONE?

1 AS A YOUNGSTER, WHAT WAS YOUR FAVOURITE FILM?
The Blues Brothers. As a kid, the music really affected me, then as I got older, I got the jokes properly.

2 WHAT'S THE WORST THING YOU'VE EVER EATEN?
In the Chinese version of 7-Eleven, in the bit where you'd find potato chips, they had bags of individually-wrapped preserved chicken wings.

3 WHAT'S THE STUPIDEST THING YOU'VE EVER SAID TO A GIRL YOU LIKED?
"Did you like the show?"

4 IF YOU COULD THROW ONE PERSON OFF TV TO THE LIONS, WHO WOULD IT BE?
Sarah Palin. She's trying to advance herself politically by making the oppressed into villains.

5 IF YOU COULD HAVE A SUPERPOWER, WHAT WOULD IT BE?
I already have one. I have the superpower of rapping.

6 WOULD YOU RATHER BE TOO HOT OR TOO COLD?
Too hot. There's a lot you can still do when you're too hot. When I'm too cold I shut down.

7 WHAT MAKES AN AWESOME NIGHT OUT PROPERLY AWESOME?
The people. Wine and music help, but it's all about the company.

8 WHAT IS THE FIRST ALBUM YOU EVER BOUGHT?
Bruce Springsteen's Born In The USA, when I was 11. I love that album but I always felt funny looking at it, cos it's a picture of his butt.

9 WHAT WOULD YOUR FUNERAL BE LIKE?
I try not to think about it.

10 WHO'S THE BIGGEST ARSEHOLE FAMOUS PERSON YOU'VE MET?
Elton John said some asshole things about me in a magazine.

11 DO YOU DO SOCIAL NETWORKING?
I use MySpace to promote my music, although I enjoy Twitter.

12 WHAT'S THE MOST ILLEGAL THING YOU (OR "A FRIEND OF YOURS") HAVE EVER DONE?
Probably selling weed.

13 WHAT'S THE WORST IDEA YOU'VE HAD?
I did a Smirnoff ad campaign, and, basically, I tried to be greedy and it didn't work out.

14 WHAT'S YOUR BOOZE-DRINK OF CHOICE?
I'm into my whisky. I just got hip to Lagavulin.

15 HAVE YOU GOT ANY PHOBIAS?
As a kid, I got a fly stuck in my ear, so if I hear buzzing anywhere in the room I have to cover my ears.

16 WHAT HAVE YOU SEEN THAT YOU REALLY WISH YOU COULD UN-SEE?
The Blues Brothers 2000. Everyone was just older, slower and less funny.

17 IF YOU DIDN'T RAP FOR A LIVING, WHAT WOULD YOU BE DOING?
Everyone in my immediate family teaches, so I'd probably have done that.

18 WHY SHOULD PEOPLE GET YOUR NEW ALBUM, GUTTER RAINBOWS?
Because the music industry did not participate in its making.

19 IF WE GAVE YOU A MILLION QUID AND YOU HAD 24 HOURS TO RINSE IT, HOW WOULD YOU DO SO?
I'd probably give it to those who need it. Although, I do like nice things...

20 TELL US ONE THING WE WOULDN'T KNOW ABOUT YOU.
On Tuesdays, I play softball with Ad-Rock from Beastie Boys.

LADY GARDEN

OUR FIVE
FAVOURITE
LADY BLOSSOMS
THIS MONTH

JODIE CONNOR

Manchester lass Jodie is the reigning queen of grime-pop: she sang the catchy-ass choruses on Roll Deep's Good Times and Tinchy Stryder's In My System, and recently teamed up with Wylie for the ringtone-tastic Now Or Never. She always wears glasses in her videos, which is highly sexciting: when plain ladies take their specs off in films, they're suddenly revealed to be wowzers-fit, so if Jodie – who's already wowzers-fit – were to take hers off, she'd surely achieve a level of fitness previously only attained by cosmic deities.

EMMA ANZAI

Emma is the bassist in Aussie new-skool grungers Sick Puppies, who, if we're being perfectly honest, readers, are not the best band in the world (unless you happen to think Nickelback are wizardbrained geniuses, in which case, fill yer boots). Still, that doesn't change our feelings for Emma. If we were to describe those feelings, we'd probably use the words 'bulbous', 'dizzy', 'lunging' and 'sweaty'.

OLIVIA THIRLBY

You'll remember toothsome Miss Thirlby as Ellen Page's fit BFF in Juno (she was the one who said twatty things like "Honest to blog?" and "Yo yo yiggedy yo!"). She'll soon be appearing as crime-fighting psychic Judge Anderson in the upcoming Judge Dredd movie - let's hope she's ready to have 38-year-old cellar-dwellers cream their Wolverine Y-fronts over her at Comic-Con.

CAMILLA BELLE

Lovely-faced American actress Camilla obviously has a bit of a thing about virgins: she dated one of the famously no-sexing Jonas Brothers, and she'll be soon starring opposite Al Pacino in Mary Mother Of Christ, playing the Virgin Mary. We'd imagine her next two films will be called Ouch Is It In Yet? and Put A Towel Down 3-D.

ALEXIS JORDAN

Teen songstress Alexis failed to reach the final of America's Got Talent, but, undeterred, she built herself a huge YouTube following and got herself signed to Jay-Z's label. Talent and determination triumph! Being as fit as a steroidal decathlete probably hasn't hurt.

CATERPILLAR OR BUTTERFLY

IT'S SOMETIMES HARD TO TELL IF A LADY IS A WINGED BEAUTY OR A MANY-LEGGED MONSTER. THANKFULLY, THE LADY GARDEN TEAM ARE HERE TO SETTLE SUCH MATTERS...

THIS MONTH

BRISTOL PALIN

SHE'S A BUTTERFLY

There's something about Sarah Palin's buxom eldest daughter that makes us want to put on a napkin and chew. She's already had one baby (or two, if you believe the Bristol's-brother-is-actually-her-son theory) and probably doesn't want to chance another - so it'd be bum-fun, bap-wanks and blowies all the way!

SHE'S A CATERPILLAR

If she's anything like her mum, she's probably thicker than a hotel mattress. Not that we demand all our ladymates be astrophysicists, but it's nice if they can at least point out which bit's land and which bit's sea on a map. Plus, she lives in Alaska, the biggest shit-hole on Earth. The only pastimes there are a) being cold; and b) incest.

VERDICT:

CATERPILLAR

TEMPTED, BUT NO. HER MUM WOULD SACRIFICE YOU TO JESUS WHILE YOU SLEPT.

PEOPLE WHO ARE PROPER ACE

WITH KEN BLOCK

WHO'S HE?

NAME: Ken Block
DOB: 21/11/67 LIVES California
JOB: Pro rally driver and co-founder of DC shoes

INTERCHANGABLE
6 HERO HEADS

#1 JOE STRUMMER

"I grew up listening to The Clash. Joe Strummer wasn't afraid to try different avenues, and crossing his influences to create such an ace end product was real ballsy. There was just a great attitude in their music."

#2 MICHAEL JORDAN

"He was able to do things that other people couldn't. I mean, some of those dunks were crazy. I properly looked up to him as a kid - he's always been my favourite athlete."

#3 CHRIS ROCK

"His take on basic life situations is just hilarious. All of his jokes send me into fits of laughter. Anyone who says he isn't funny needs a good talking to."

#4 SPEED RACER

"Holy shit, I loved Speed Racer! He was this ace dude who fought crime and drove cars real fast. He was my hero. I think they made a film about it recently, but it's no way gonna be better than the cartoon."

THE KING OF RALLY DRIVING SPILLS THE NAMES OF HIS KICK-ASS HEROES

FRANK SINATRA

#5 FRANK SINATRA

"The way the guy lived life and the way he entertained was insane. He was an amazing character, and anyone who can dance like that gets a big thumbs-up from me. I would've loved to know how Las Vegas really was, like the behind-the-scenes casino stuff that we never see. The dude was a hero."

#6 COLIN MCRAE

"Colin was a huge inspiration to me. We became pretty good friends over the years, and it was so shitty when he died in a helicopter accident back in 2007. He pretty much shaped motorsport as you see it today. We all owe a shit-ton to him."

WHERE YOU'LL KNOW KEN FROM...

TOP GEAR!

Ken rocked up and taught James May a thing or two on Top Gear a while back. It was pretty fucking cool. "Jeremy Clarkson is an alright guy," Ken says. Hitler's mother probably called little Adolf an 'alright guy' too, but that doesn't mean he was, right?

GYMKHANA!

Check his bonkers car stunt videos on YouTube. Ken's virals have over 100 million hits, making him like a less hairy SuBo with slightly bigger balls. "I'm a lucky bastard to be able to do this stuff for a living," he says.

OTHER EXTREME SPORTS!

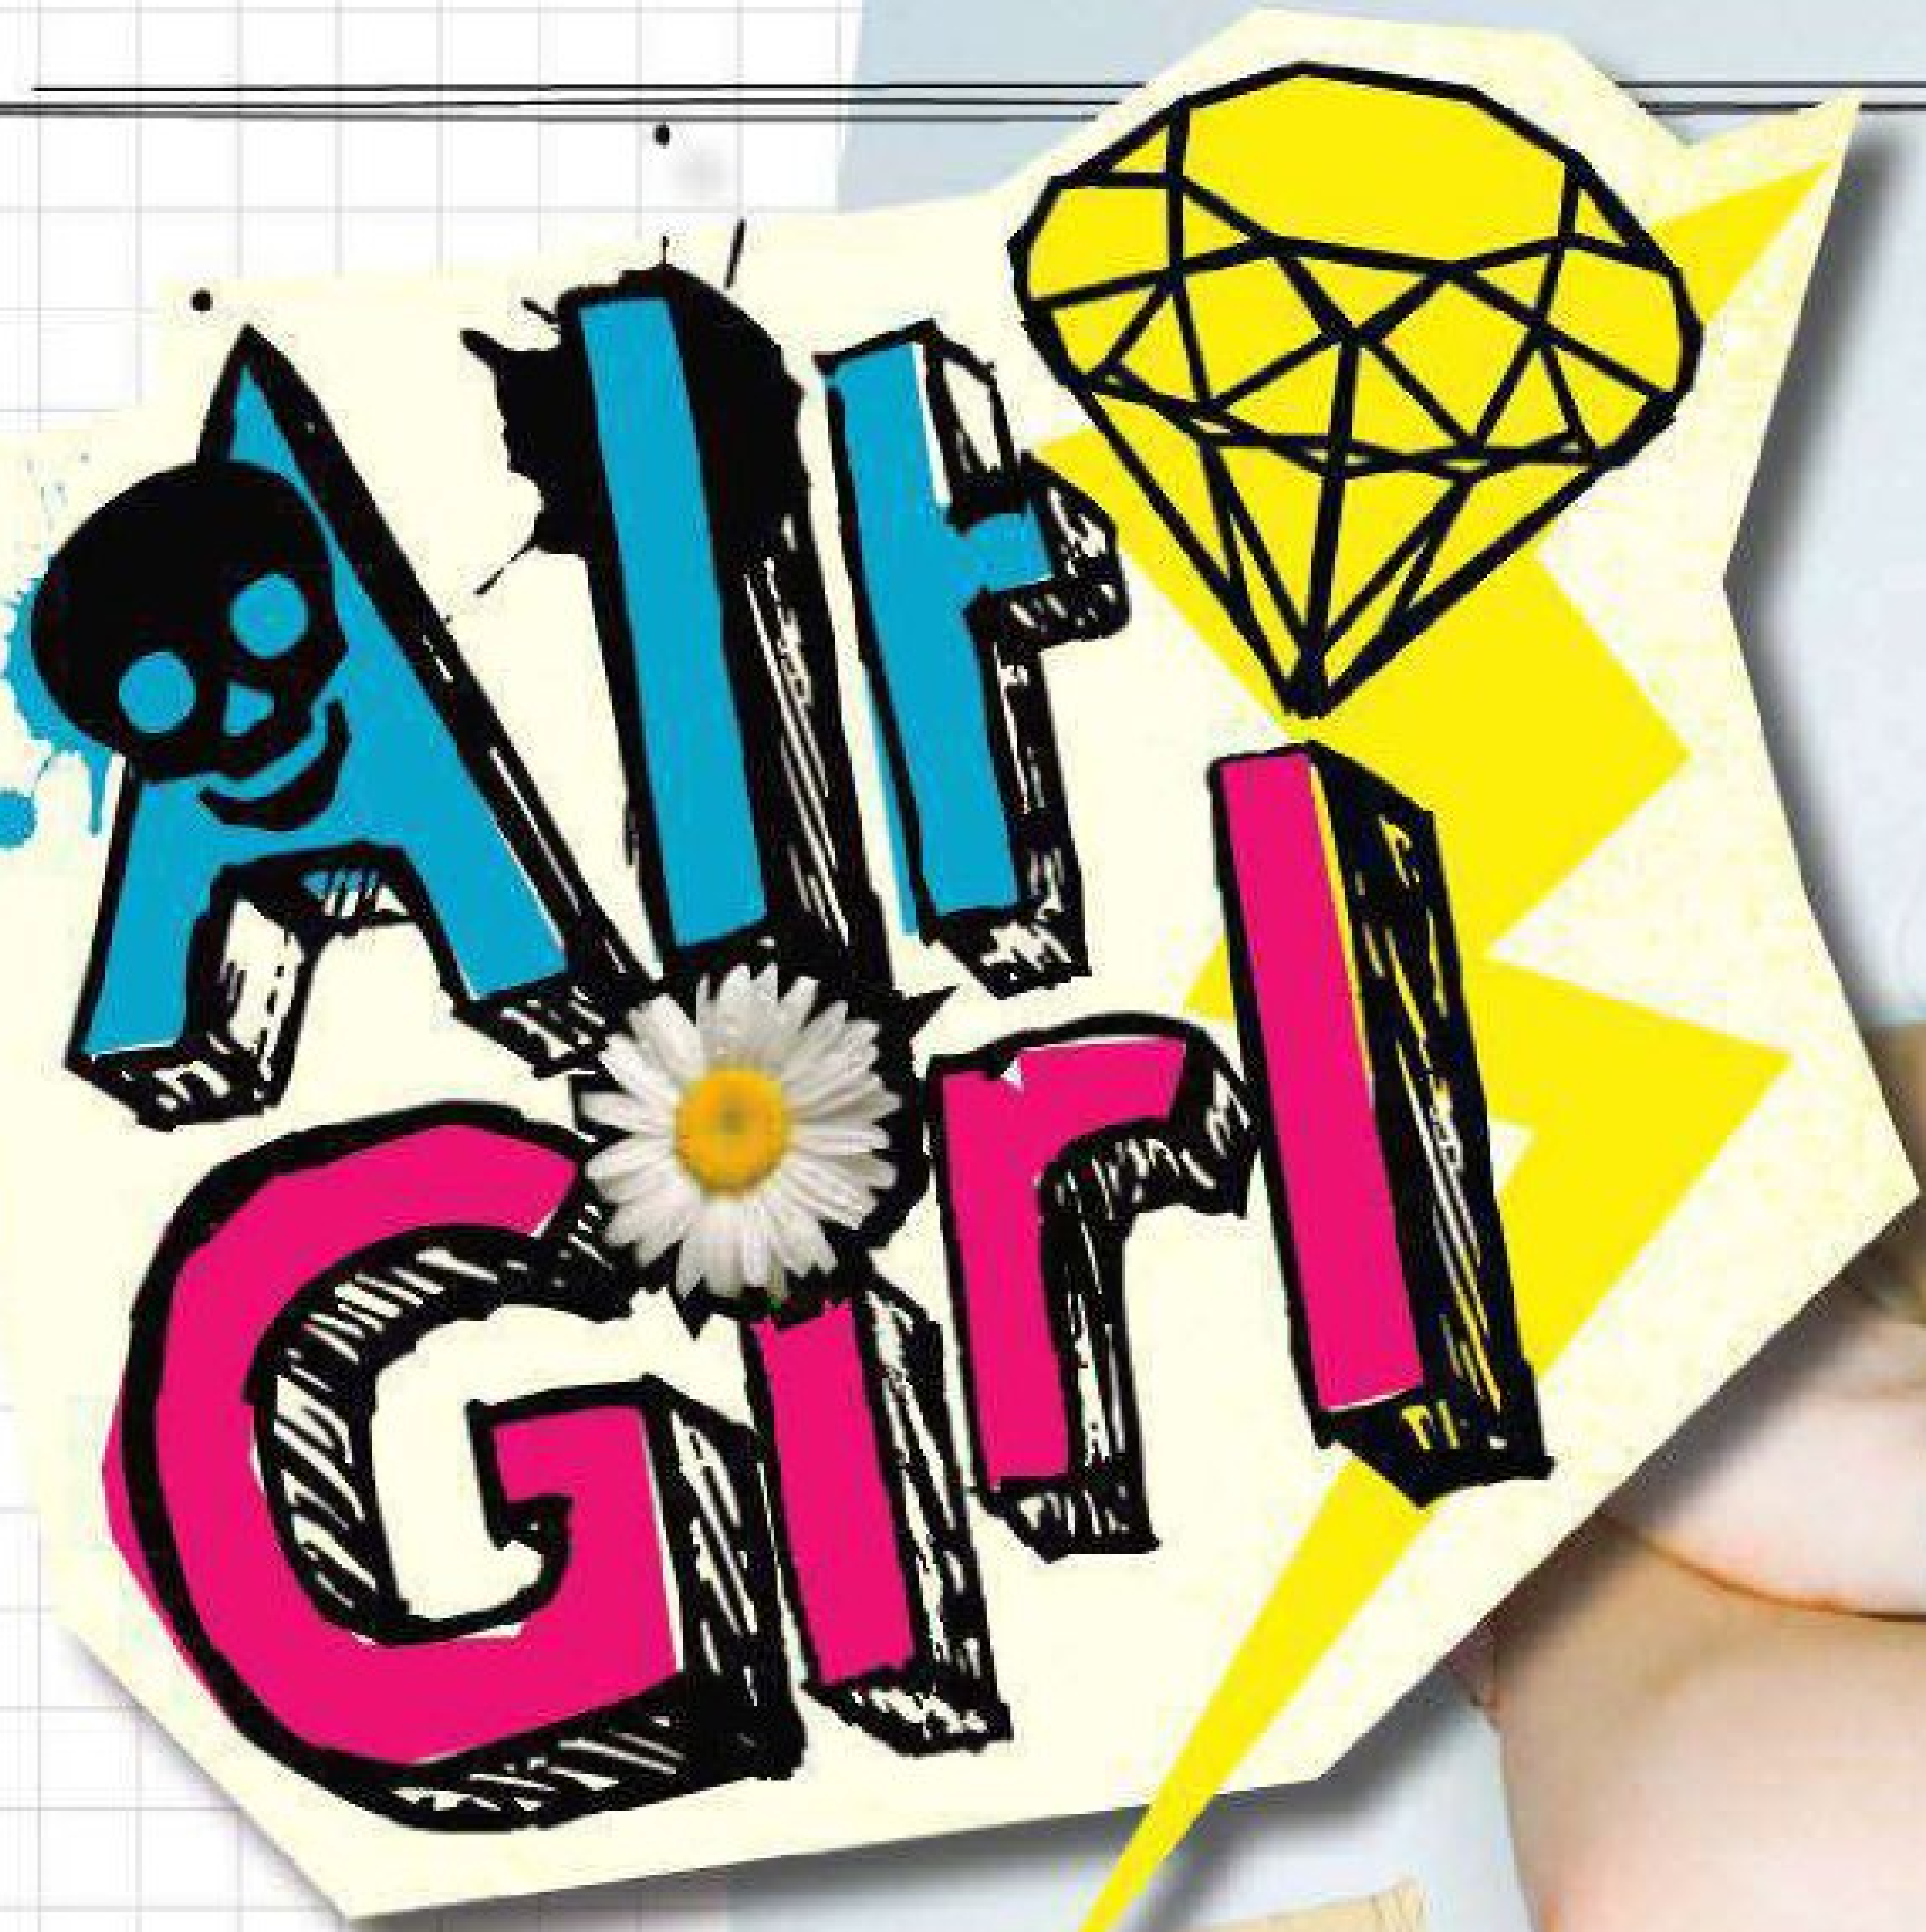

Not only is Ken the dog's gonads at rally driving, but he's also a demon at skating, motocross and winter sports. "Snowboarding is my favourite," he tells us. "I spend a lot of time up in the mountains when I'm not driving."

DC SHOES!

"I started DC in '94, and literally had no idea that it would take off like it did," Ken says. "Take off is a bit of an understatement, considering the awesome kicks company was sold for the little price of $87 million ten years later."

POPPY THOMPSON

POPPY FROM PORTSMOUTH POSES FOR PERFECT PICTURES IN PRETTY PANTS FOR POPULAR PEOPLE LIKE YOU TO PEEK AT

WHAT ARE YOU DOING RIGHT NOW? I'm sat in my car, ready to drive home after another day at work.

DAY JOB: I'm an accountant for a civil engineering company.

DREAM JOB: Astronaut. When I was little I wanted to be a mermaid, but I wouldn't get paid for that unless Disney decided to make an animated film about my life.

BEST THING ABOUT BEING A

FRONT ALT GIRL: It's so far from my day job. It's completely different to what I normally do.

TURN-ONS: If a guy can make me laugh, then he can make me do anything at all.

TURN-OFFS: Bad smells, bad humour.

WHO DO YOU HAVE A CRUSH ON?

I watched James Bond last night, and I thought Daniel Craig was pretty awesome.

GOT ANY TATTOOS/PIERCINGS? I have my tragus and my belly button pierced, but I plan on getting an ace of spades tattooed on my wrist.

"If a guy can make me laugh,
he can make me do anything"

FAVOURITE FILM: Casino Royale was on the telly last night, so it's the only one in my head.

FAVOURITE ALBUM: I've been listening to The Pretty Reckless in my car lately, so their new one.

FAVOURITE FOOD: Domino's Pepperoni Passion with garlic-and-herb dip. That's pretty cool.

BOOZE-DRINK OF CHOICE: Lazy Rum, but to be honest I'll drink anything if it's going.

FIRST GIG: I went to see Dido with my mum when I was about 13.

LAST GIG: I was far too drunk to remember who they were, but I strolled into the pub and there were some old men with beards and bald heads who were singing. That counts, right?

PERFECT NIGHT OUT: It's got to be a bit of a pub crawl, with live music and lots of drunk friends.

PERFECT NIGHT IN: Probably a few films and a pizza. No rom-coms, though – only action films.

HIGH HEELS OR TRAINERS?

I suppose I wear trainers more, but high heels are more fun.

WHO GETS WHAT IN YOUR WILL? I don't really have much apart from my car, but when I die my best friend can have my Citroën.

CLAIM TO FAME: I was once on a telly advert.

"I like to play

naked Wii
with my housemates"

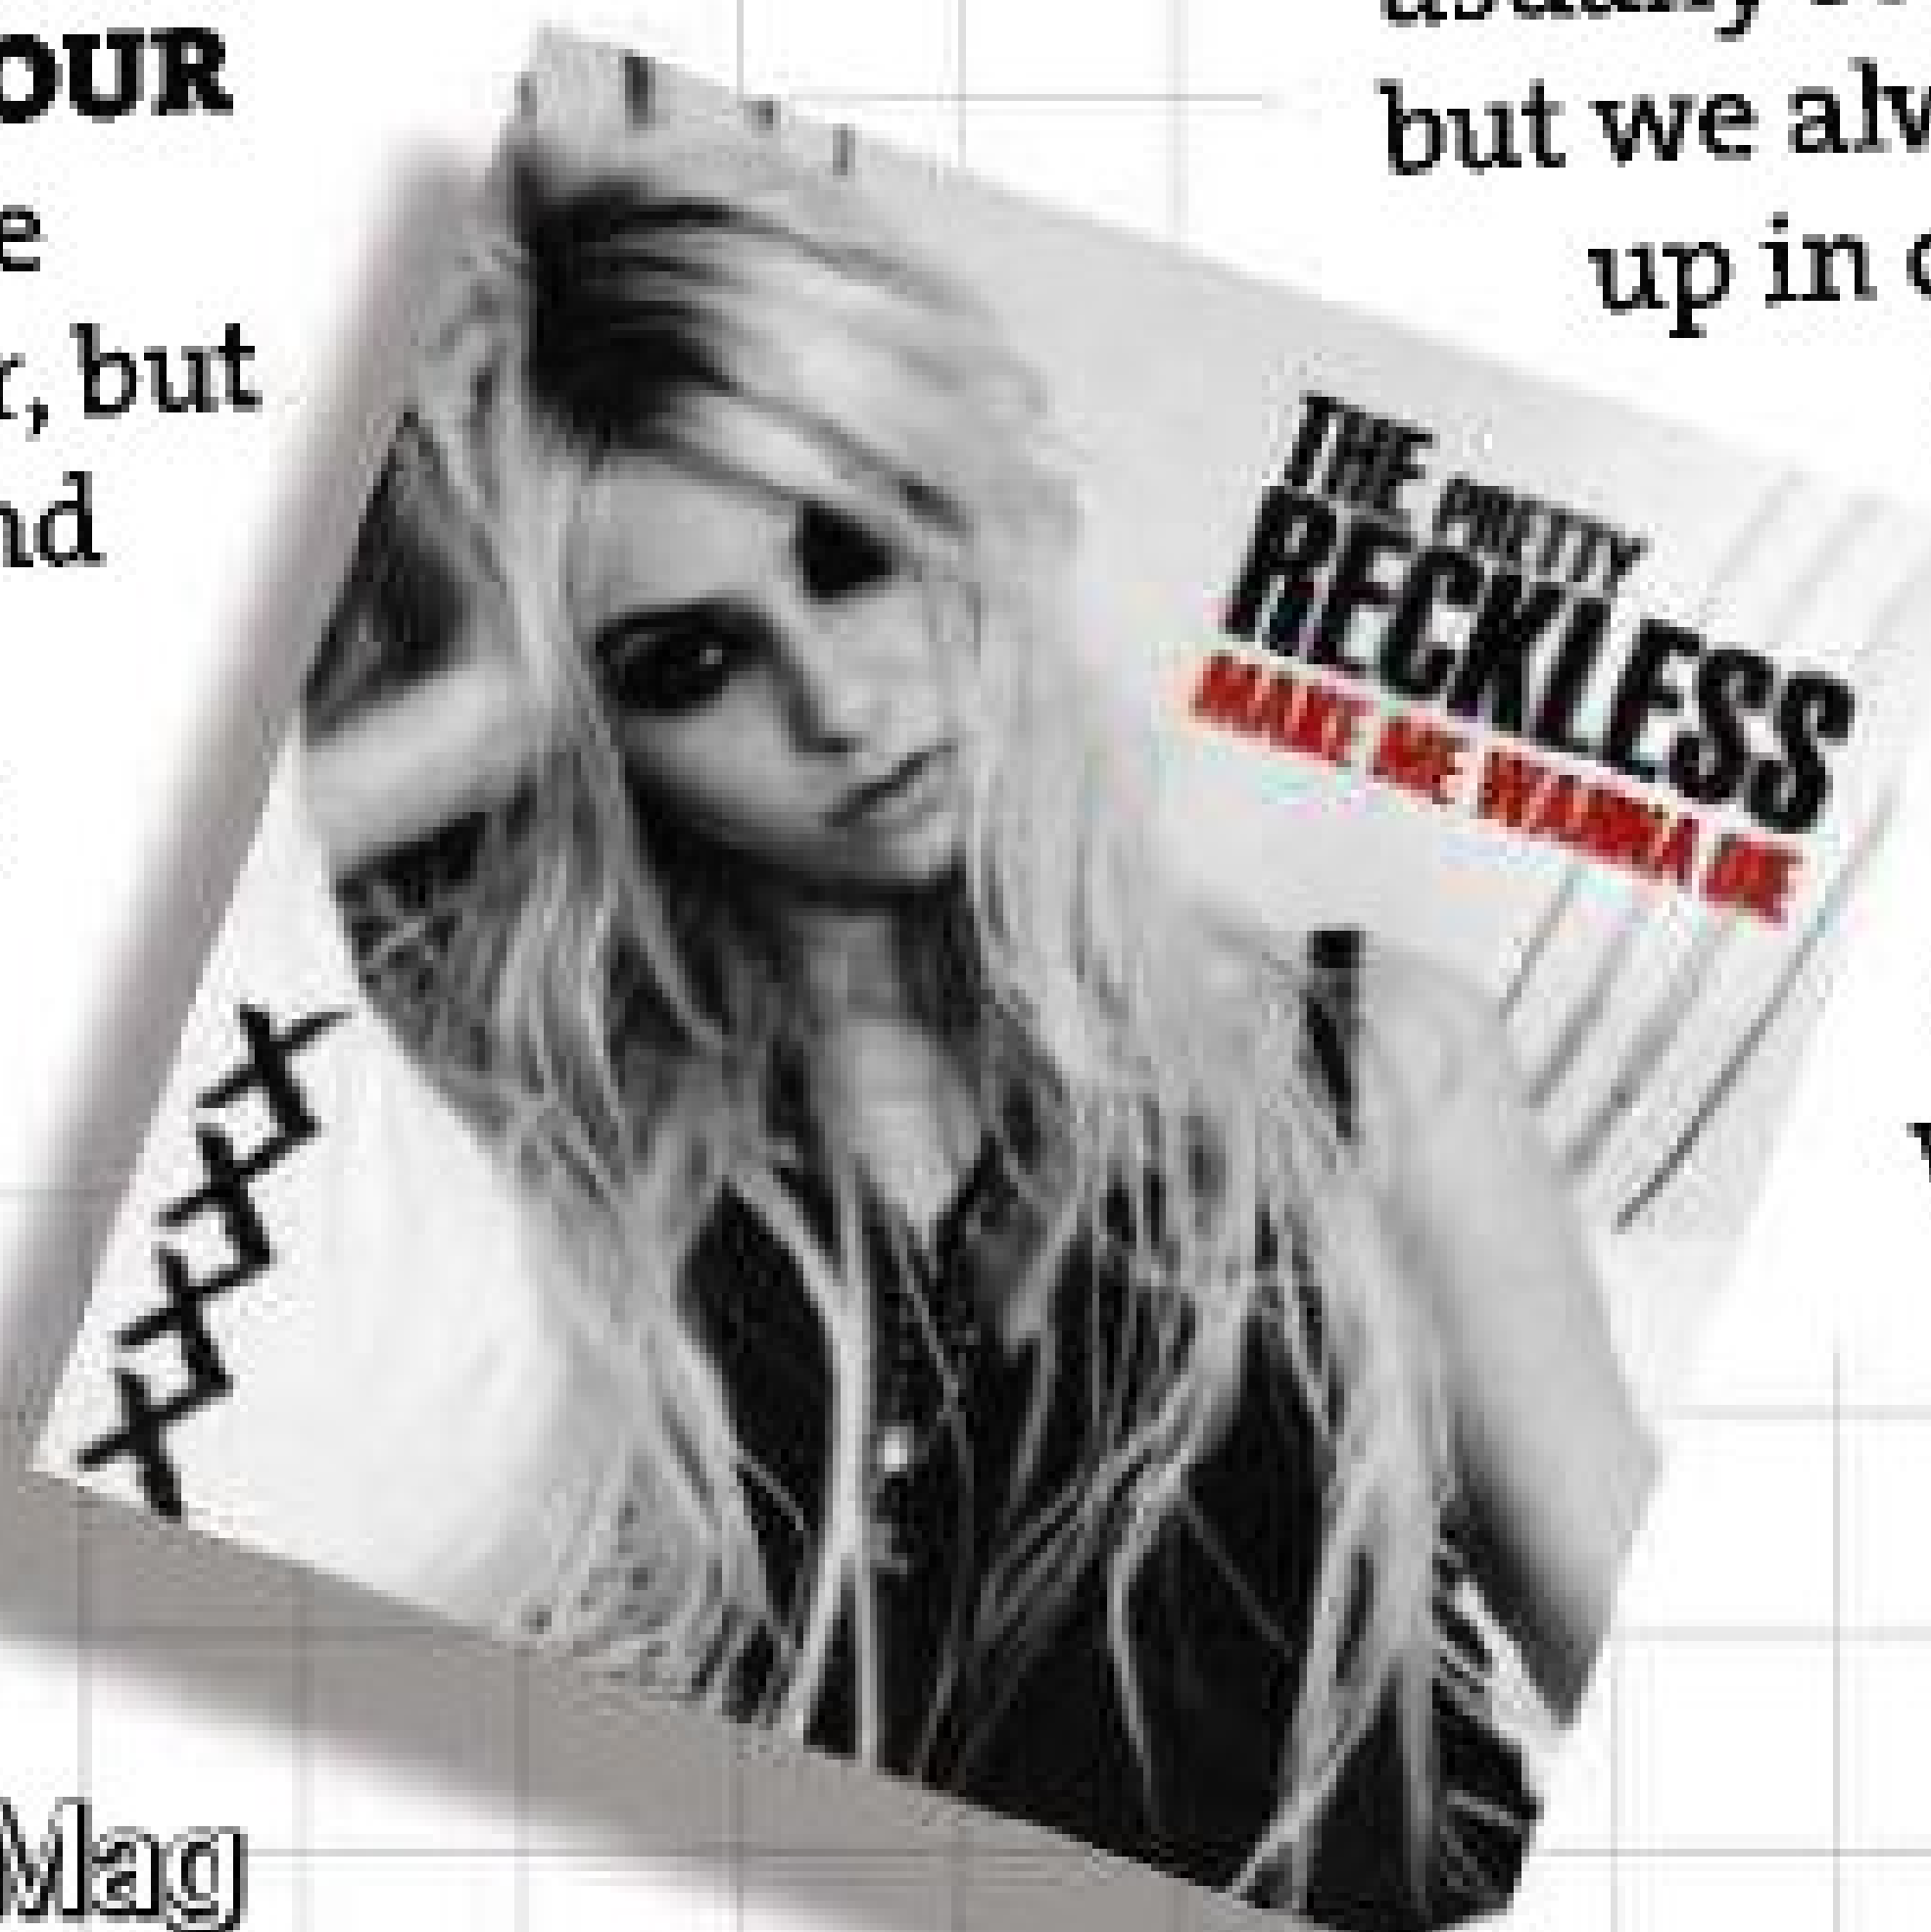

I didn't even know about it until my friend pointed it out. I was with my family, and she just turned around and was like, "Is that you?"

SEXY/MIND-BLOWING FACT ABOUT YOU: I like to play naked

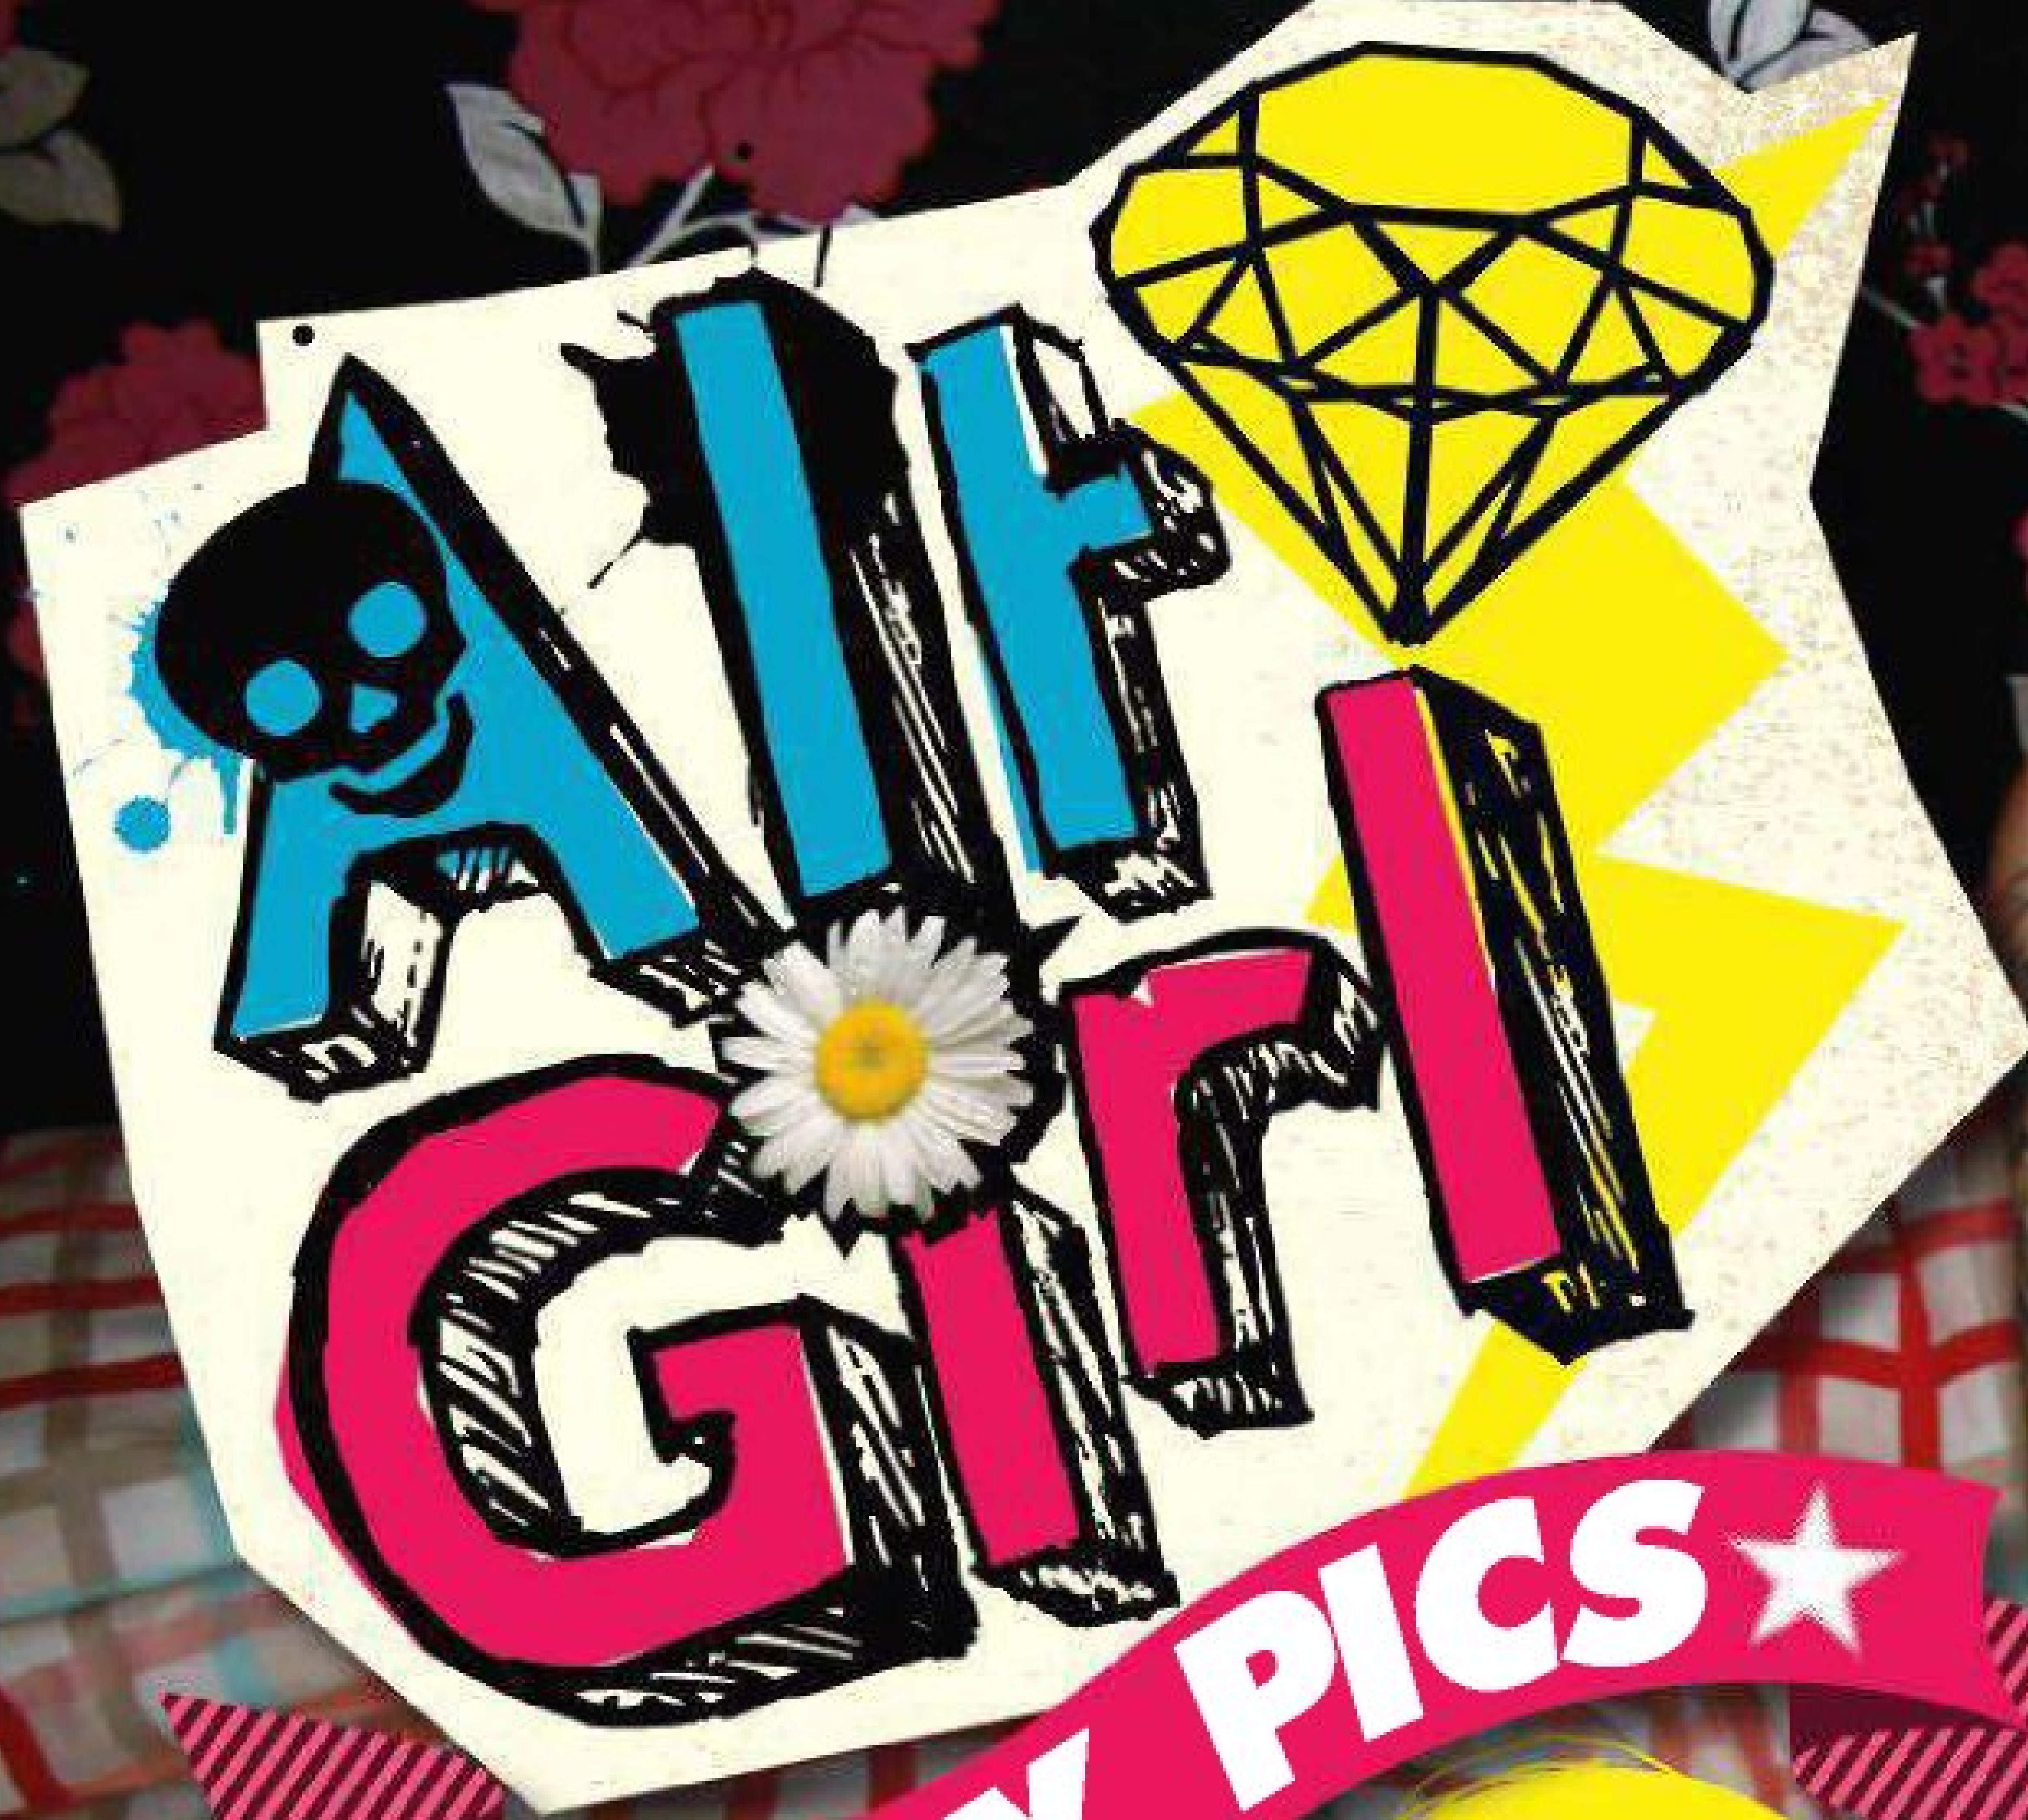

Wii with my housemates. We usually start out with clothes on, but we always get too hot and end up in our underwear.

I SECRETLY HAVE A PASSION FOR... I don't really have any secret passions, but I reckon hula-hooping will become one soon.

WHAT ARE YOU UP TO RIGHT NOW? Taking it easy and listening to some brilliant music.

FAVOURITE ALBUM: I'd have to say You Me At Six's Take Off Your Colours. Every song is feisty, and it reminds me of how amazing they are live.

BEST GIG: Bring Me The Horizon when they played in Blackburn way back.

ARE YOU INTO TATTOOS? I'm not into them: I'm completely obsessed.

INSTANT EXPERT

NO. 48 THROW A KNIFE

FIG. 1 CALL THAT A KNIFE?

We've all been there: you're having a nice afternoon exploring space, when suddenly you're attacked by a bunch of monsters. Luckily, you've got a knife, and can use the Modified Hammer Grip to see 'em off.

FIG. 2 HAMMER TIME

Hold the knife by the handle in the same way you'd hold a hammer. Now extend your index finger up the top of the blade. Hold your arm out straight, and bend your elbow until the knife's pointing upwards.

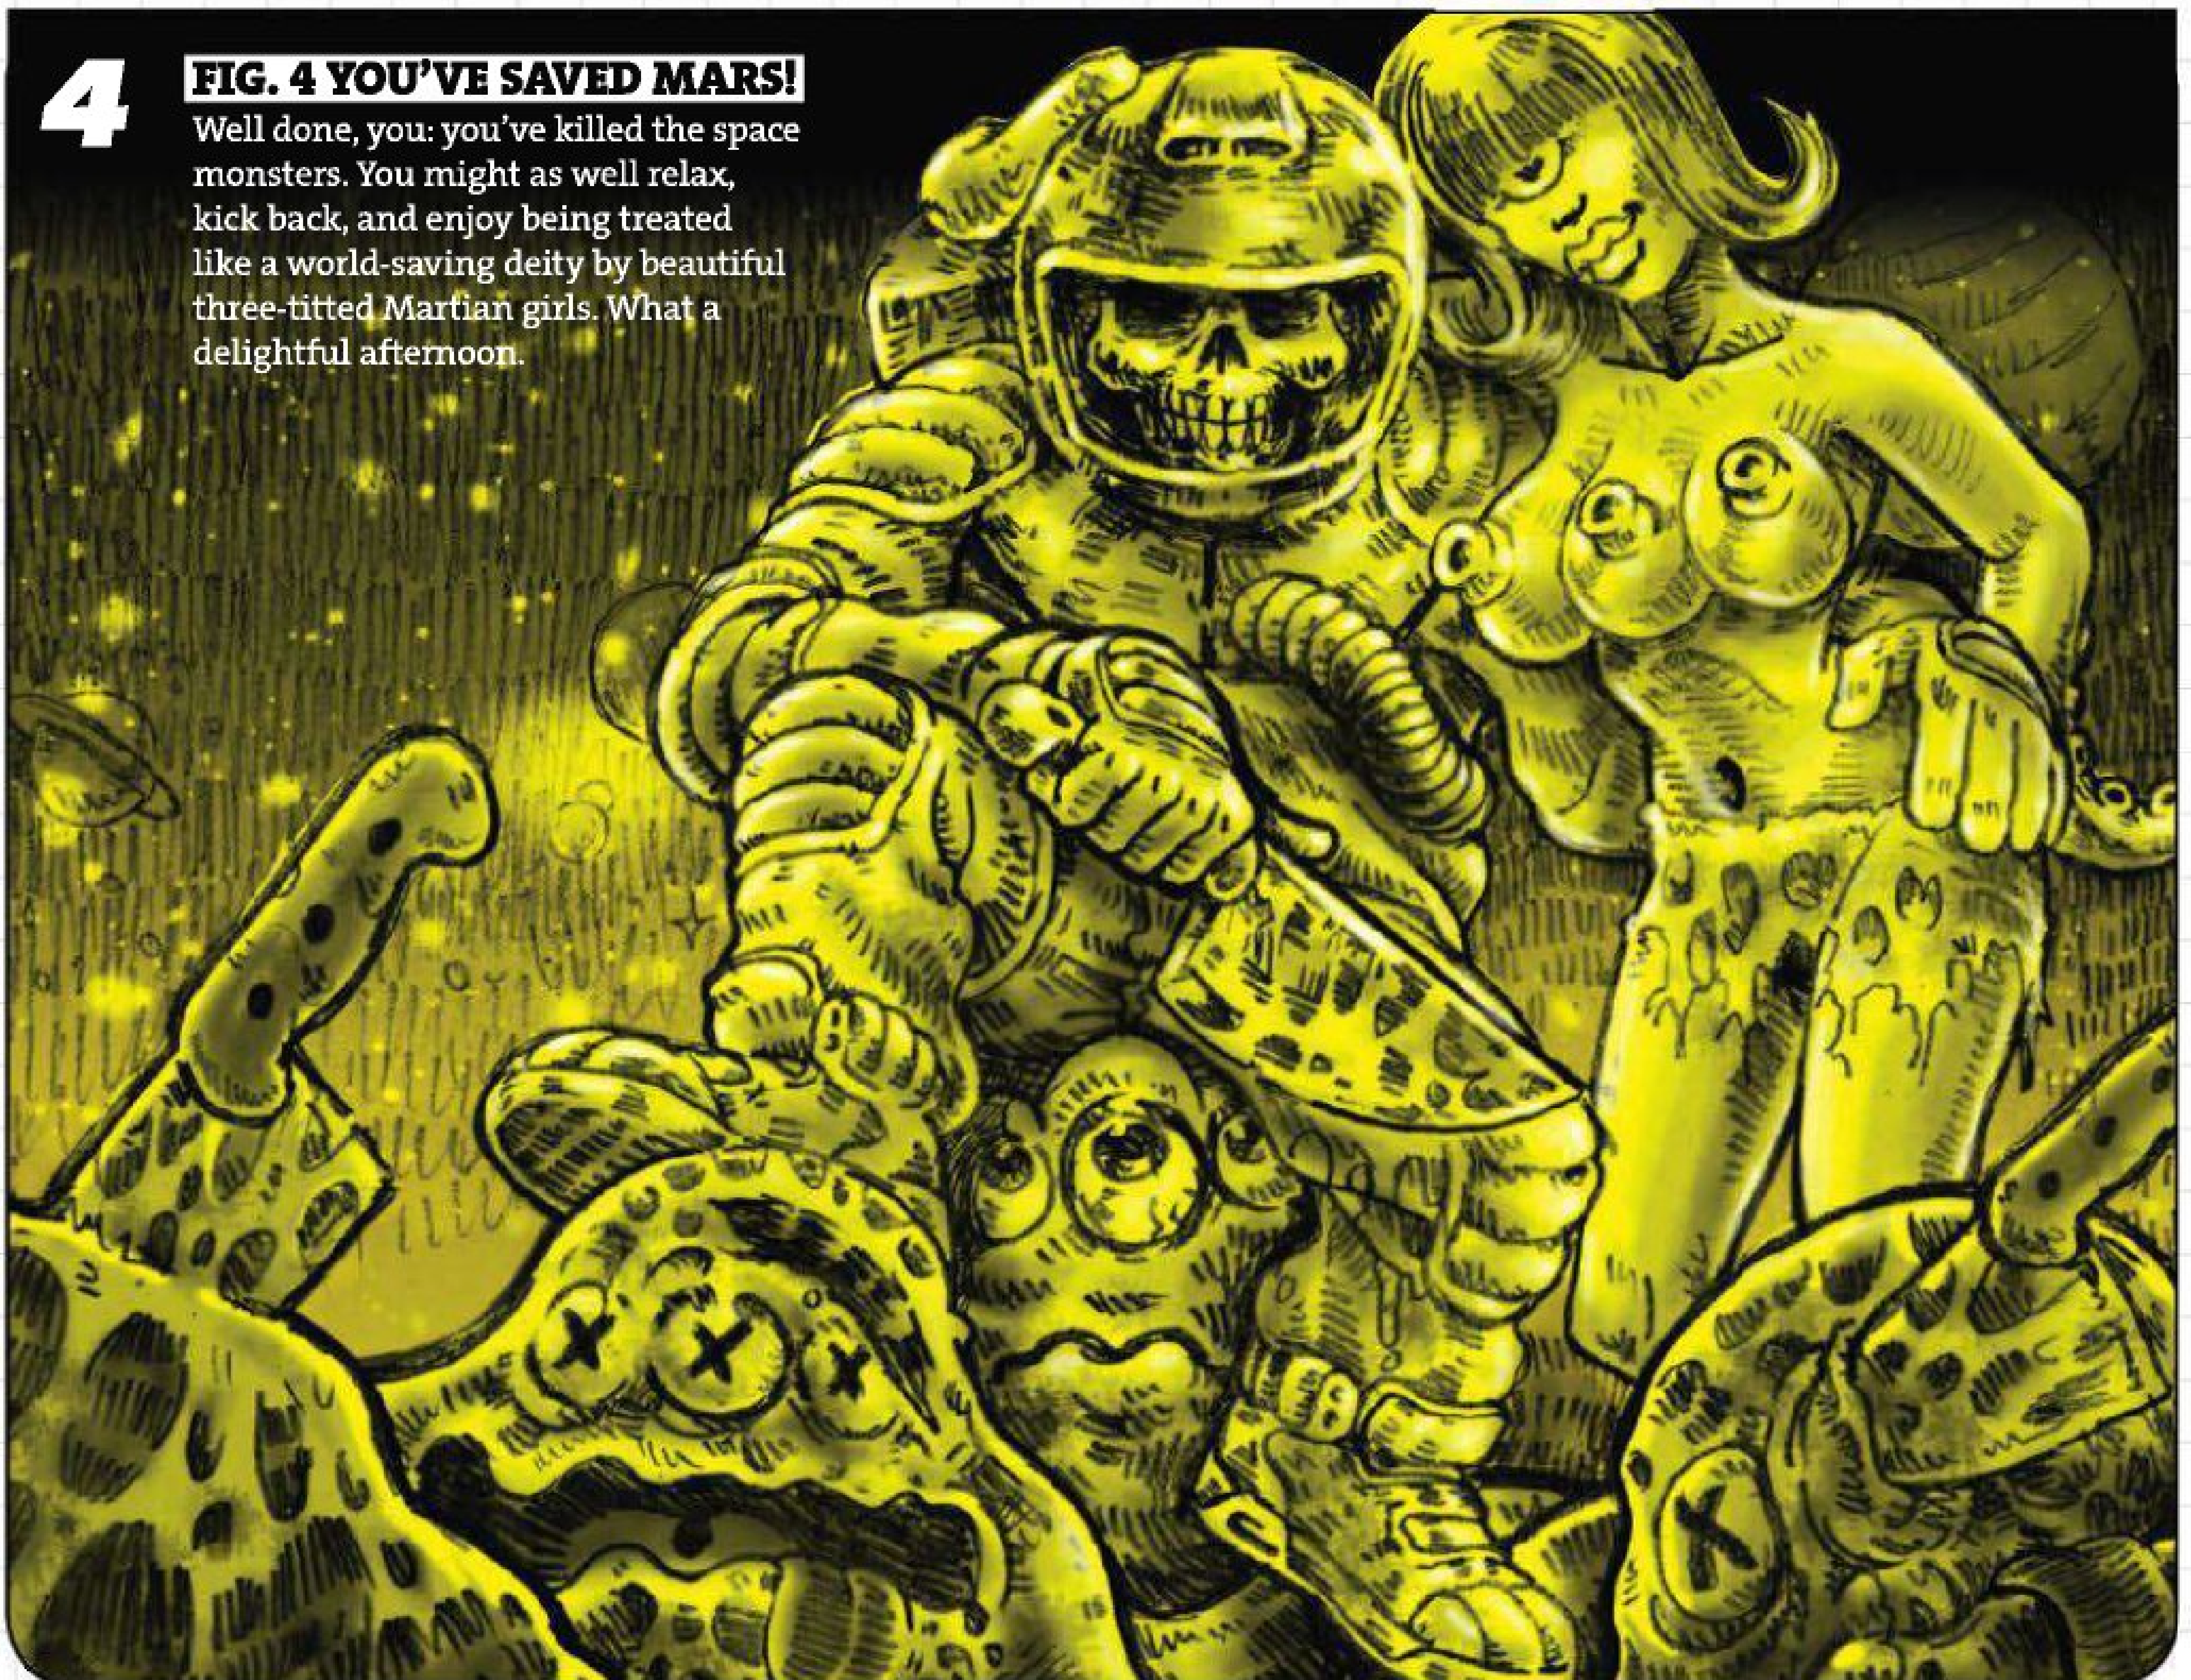

FIG. 3 RELEASE THE FURY

Bring your forearm back, then snap it forward, releasing the knife and ending with your finger pointing at your target. This should prevent the knife spinning – if not, adjust the point of release.

FIG. 4 YOU'VE SAVED MARS!

Well done, you: you've killed the space monsters. You might as well relax, kick back, and enjoy being treated like a world-saving deity by beautiful three-titted Martian girls. What a delightful afternoon.

SECRET LANGUAGE

THE COSMETIC SURGEON

HE'LL REARRANGE YOUR FACE, BUT IN A NICE WAY. OH, AND HE'LL CLEAN OUT YOUR BANK ACCOUNT TOO – BUT YOU'LL LOOK AMAZING!

WHAT HE SAYS

I'M NOT SURE WHAT DROVE ME TO GET INTO THIS LINE OF WORK. IT'S A STRANGE VOCATION BUT THERE'S NOTHING UNUSUAL ABOUT ME.

WHAT HE MEANS

Oh, apart from that month when I stayed on my uncle's farm when I was 14 and I collected animal corpses that I'd found and then mixed-and-matched their body parts. That was a bit weird, especially the rabbit that I attached a cat's head to. Plus, I probably shouldn't have sent it to Dale Winton.

WHAT HE SAYS

COSMETIC SURGERY IS A COMPETITIVE BUSINESS. WE'RE ALWAYS LOOKING FOR NEW AND PIONEERING TECHNIQUES.

WHAT HE MEANS

Some of the shit we get away with is amazing. You know Botox injections? That was all a massive wind-up. Can't believe people bought into it. We're almost at the point now where it's acceptable for women to get their tits removed and reattached on their backs instead. As soon as we can persuade Kerry Katona or someone to get it done, we'll be laughing.

WHAT HE SAYS

I DO A LOT OF SPECIALIST BESPOKE WORK FOR THE INCREDIBLY RICH. SENSITIVITY AND DISCRETION ARE REQUIRED FOR THIS SORT OF JOB.

WHAT HE MEANS

If the price is right, I'll do anything to anyone. There was a bored billionaire's wife in recently whose beloved Chihuahua had pegged it. She wanted the skin across the top of her chest opening up and the dog putting inside so she could keep it close to herself forever. Luckily, the little fucker had been crushed by a lorry so it was pretty flat and easy to get in there.

WHAT HE SAYS

CELEBRITIES? OH YES, I'VE DONE PLENTY OF WORK ON THE STARS OF STAGE AND SCREEN.

WHAT HE MEANS

You wouldn't believe me if I told you the name of the ageing female TV presenter who has had so much stretching, lifting, nipping and tucking done that if she wants to take a shit she has to open up a special flap in the back of her neck and then make herself sneeze. You'll never see her sing again, though.

WHAT HE SAYS

I'M ONE OF THE NEW BREED OF 'ETHICAL' COSMETIC SURGEONS.

WHAT HE MEANS

Basically, that means that I'm very much into recycling. I suck a grand total of about six tons of fat out of the morbidly obese each year, then I sell it on to farmers. You can boil it down, mix it with cheap white emulsion paint and power a tractor with it.

WISE WORDS

THE EXCITING LIFE OF A MODEL

#1 Lady Beatrice Badger Botherer III, getting in on some taxidermy action

Release: StoreMags & FantaMag

This month's AMAZING ADVENTURES

He has a moustache

If you see someone and they look like a dickhead hipster with a stupid moustache, then it is your God-given right to touch it.

She tried to steal my pants

Little did she know that they were hiding behind my tights and that I was a superhero panther.

Dressing up as Courtney

At a fancy dress party I dressed up as Courtney Love and posed as her sitting on a toilet with 'heroin' written up my arm. Good times.

Not very lol

This doll is my magnet baby. It's made of magnets and attracts mystic witches and distant fibres.

I made a lol

HAHAHAHAHAHAHA! MY MOUTH IS A LOL. IDIOT.

Painting clowns on my ass

Say hello to the Assclown.

Hello!

WHAT MOST PEOPLE don't know about me is that at 2pm on Wednesdays

I become the Second Coming of the LOLocaust. I contain so much LOL that I can't handle it and have to spend three hours giving LOL away to the needy, like a ginger Michael McIntyre. Sometimes they complain and insist on some ROFL, but there's nothing I can do about that. I'm not a fucking vending machine.

To balance out my excess of funnies, I've taken up taxidermy in my spare time, working exclusively with roadkill and badgers. Sometimes I mix them all up to make new animals, like the ROFLCATCOPTER (part cat, part helicopter, part Transformer) and the DEERYMEERCAT (self-explanatory). I'm thinking of selling them on Etsy along with my handmade Edward Cullen pantyliners (made from magazine clippings and tears).

■ Aside from my fun extracurricular activities, I have been mostly setting up a video gaming website called Project Bunker (projectbunker.co.uk) and writing my comic, Alma Mater. This means I spend a lot of time indoors, where I discovered that I can pick my nose with my foot. In a sexy way, of course. I wear nipple tassels when I do it and everything. Project Bunker is my antidote to all the nerdy anally retentive gaming websites that are out there. It contains a lot of videos of me going on about stuff and dancing around like a twat.

■ I have decided that I am going to learn how to be a London Roller Derby Girl. They look tough and sexy and I watched that film once with Ellen Page and Juliette Lewis in it and it made me LOL even though it was shit. I can't really roller skate, but I think that will add to the appeal and make it funnier. Maybe I will get super good and really like it and do it all the time! That is the good thing about hobbies – you never know where you might end up. Kinda like that time I started boxing training and got done for assault. LOL.

■ This month's column has been brought to you by the letters 'L', 'O' and 'L'.

WHAT I LIKES this month

REUBEN

I wish they would get back together, but apparently the lead singer went a tiny bit mental. They're still well good, though.

DANCE CENTRAL

Every bone in my body says I should hate it. But it's too fun.

GRAPE FANTA

The elixir of the gods! BEAVIS AND BUTT-HEAD The best cartoon of the '90s and it's coming back to MTV!

RED HOT WORLD BUFFET

There is one in Leeds, it is the best restaurant in the world, and it has EVERY KIND OF FOOD. You can get jelly beans on toast if you want.

SUPERJAIL!

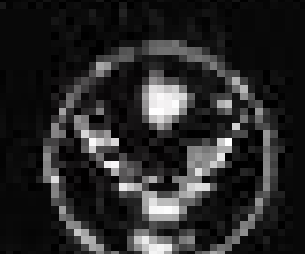

Another cartoon, set in a mental jail where everything is mental cos it's mental.

THIS MONTH'S HIGHS

REBELLION FLAKES

Breakfast cereal tastes so much more delicious at times other than breakfast. The secret ingredient is rule-breaking.

REALLY RECENT RETRO

Nostalgia for a proper long time ago seems like a lot of effort. You know what was amazing? Crazy Frog.

BREAKING THINGS UNNECESSARILY

It's wasteful, immature, irresponsible and in the long run expensive, but smashing the fuck out of stuff for no good reason whatsoever is abso-fucking amazing.

FX REPEATING THE ENTIRE RUN OF ARRESTED DEVELOPMENT

Seriously, it's one of the funniest shows ever made, and if you've not seen it we can't urge you enough. No other programme can rival it for the sheer amount of subtle bumming jokes.

SPRING JUST ABOUT SORT OF MAYBE NOT REALLY BEING ON THE HORIZON

We're nearly at the time of year when girls start wearing smaller tops, and that's lovely. Just lovely.

HAIRCUT REGRET

When we say "Just a little bit off the top" that's what we mean, yes? We didn't ask for a scalping.

BAD SHIT

PEOPLE NOT LOCKING LOO DOORS

Even worse than walking in on someone having a dump is when they get all arsey about it like you're some kind of German pervert.

THIS MONTH'S LOWS

SOUNDING LIKE A DICK FOR LIKING SOMETHING FIRST

While it's ace when something cult that you like makes it massive, the downside is that, in order to make it clear you got into it before everyone else, you're forced to sound like an arsehole pointing out to people that actually you've been into this band for, like, aaaaaaages.

UNEXPECTED WETNESS

Nobody has ever sat down on anything and said, "Oh good, it's really wet."

ANYONE ACCEPTING LUDICROUS NOT-REALLY-MEANT GENEROSITY

"No, no, you take my bed, I'll just sleep on the rickety chair with nails sticking out." "Really? Thanks!"

HOW OFTEN DO YOU HAVE SEX NOWADAYS?

A couple of times a day, if I'm lucky. It depends where I am.

HOW MUCH SHOULD PEOPLE BE HAVING?

A survey conducted by Durex in 2003 found that the average man has sex 127 times in a year. As long as you're above that, I think you're doing okay.

HOW FAR CAN YOU GO WITHOUT IT BEING CLASSED AS CHEATING?

If you have any respect for your girlfriend, or indeed yourself, you wouldn't find yourself in a situation where you had to ask that question.

IS CYBER SEX REALLY CHEATING?

No, but I don't really see the point. If you're talking to another girl with those intentions, then it won't be long before you end up cheating anyway.

IS IT A GOOD IDEA TO MONK ONE OUT BEFORE SEX? HOW LONG DO GIRLS EXPECT YOU TO LAST?

Shaking hands with the president before you meet his wife is vital to maintain performance. After all, you don't want to cover her in your democratic glaze within a few minutes of the international peace conference. As long as she comes out satisfied, then the duration is irrelevant.

DO YOU TRIM YOUR PUBES? SHOULDN'T EVERYONE?

Yeah, people who don't are just impolite. I floss when I wake up in the morning.

HOW MANY PEOPLE HAVE YOU SLEPT WITH AND HOW MANY WOULD YOU SAY IS THE 'RIGHT' NUMBER?

I've slept with 20. I wouldn't say there's a 'right' or a 'wrong' number. If you're embarrassed by how few people you've slept with, then go out and get laid. If you're ashamed by how many elephants have ridden your trunk, keep it in your pants for a bit.

WHAT WAS YOUR FIRST TIME LIKE?

Disastrous. I went in totally unprepared and I think I ended up just prodding her gooch for three or four minutes before I made a mess of her bed sheets.

The military collect all the intelligence they need before conducting operations in the field: an example that should be followed by virgins.

WHEN DID YOU LOSE YOUR VIRGINITY? WHEN IS THE 'RIGHT' AGE?

I lost mine at 17. I'd say 16 is 'right', though. Most of the people who thought they were a cut above for having sex during school now have kids, and their Facebook statuses are always miserable.

HAVE YOU EVER SAID ANYONE ELSE'S NAME DURING SEX AND, IF SO, WHAT HAPPENED?

I haven't, but I'm well aware of 'Human Rodeo'. Get on top and yell another girl's name. Then just cling on for dear life.

IS ANAL SEX STILL SPECIAL, OR JUST THE 'DONE THING' THESE DAYS?

It's the done thing. Personally, I blame the French.

ARE SEX TOYS A GOOD IDEA?

No. If girls have plastic dicks to please themselves with, then we become irrelevant. My cock doesn't vibrate or spin around. It's terrifying.

WHAT'S BEEN YOUR WEIRDEST SEX EXPERIENCE?

I was asked out mid-sex. That's not something you can say no to. I was a hostage being held at cum-point.

HOW HIGH IS YOUR SEX DRIVE?

Very high. The average male apparently thinks about sex every seven seconds. I'm the same, except I have a screen saver on my phone and computer of boobs, so I'm above average.

IS IT A GOOD IDEA TO MONK ONE OUT BEFORE SEX?

If you want to last longer it's best to whack one out. But why would you want to? The female orgasm is a myth. I thought I made my girlfriend orgasm once, but it turns out she just sneezed.

DO YOU TRIM YOUR PUBES?

SHOULDN'T EVERYONE THESE DAYS?

Absolutely, but maybe try out the Hitler style. It's when you leave just a little rectangle to the right of the penis. When you get an erection it looks like you're hailing Hitler..

HAS PORN BECOME UNBELIEVABLE?

Oh yeah. Like most kids, I watched porn before I had sex, and it's awful to learn from. You can fast forward porn – "Oh look, blow job. Oops, lasting a bit too long. Skip. Something about her... yadda yadda yadda... cum on her tits."

WHAT TECHNIQUES ARE SURE-FIRE WINNERS IN THE BEDROOM?

Crying. Before, after and during. Women like emotional men. Women also love it when you add sound effects to their body parts. Boobs go squeak, ass goes honk, tummy makes a fart noise and vagina is when you lick your lips fast.

VIRGINITY ONLINE

HOW OFTEN DO YOU HAVE SEX?

I have it about four times a week. I have a fiancée, but what happens on tour stays on tour. Everyone has different sex thresholds, so as long as you're having enough to satisfy that and you're not bleeding from over use, you're doing it enough.

HOW FAR CAN YOU GO WITHOUT IT BEING CLASSED AS CHEATING?

It's only cheating if someone else finds out. People who know are the ones that get hurt, so don't let it happen. I've never been busted, because I'm careful. You've got to be thick to get caught.

WHAT'S BEEN YOUR WEIRDEST SEX EXPERIENCE?

Twins. I can't say which city it was in, but seeing two people related and naked is a bit strange and fucking cool at the same time. They weren't doing anything to each other, but I wouldn't like to imagine myself in that situation with a sibling.

HOW LONG DO GIRLS EXPECT YOU TO LAST IN THE SACK?

If you're in a relationship you've got to give and take. But the best thing to do is not to expect anything of yourself, because that sort of pressure can really ruin it. On tour, quite a lot happens in venue toilets, and girls don't expect you to last like Ron Jeremy in there.

DO YOU TRIM YOUR PUBES? SHOULDN'T EVERYONE THESE DAYS?

Anyone who doesn't deserves to have a long, boring, shagless life alone. You have to. Use clippers, though, and trim them – don't shave it all off. It'll look horrible all bald.

HOW MANY PEOPLE HAVE YOU SLEPT WITH AND WHAT WOULD YOU SAY IS THE 'RIGHT' NUMBER?

I couldn't tell you how many there have been. There's too much pressure on people to sleep with the 'right' number. Even if you've fucked a thousand girls, you could still be shit in bed. It's quality, not quantity.

WHAT WAS YOUR FIRST TIME LIKE?

It was actually really good. It wasn't one of those 'stick it in and blow your load' times. I started pretty young, and I reckon it's why I have such a high libido.

PHOTOGRAPHY: ZOE MCCONNELL

HEY, LACEY. HOW'S IT HANGING?

I'm fantastic, thanks! This is all a bit sporty... I've had loads of fun, considering I never did sports day at school. It's a shame, because in my last year of middle school I did one and came first in the 100 metres. I used to think it was a waste of energy, so I usually skived off.

WE NOTICE YOU'VE FORGOTTEN YOUR KIT, SO WE'RE AFRAID YOU'LL HAVE TO DO P.E. IN YOUR PANTS TODAY. THEM'S THE RULES, AND ALL THAT...

[Laughs] I'm sure I can cope with that. Basketball can get pretty sweaty, so it's better to wear next to nothing anyway.

WHAT WAS YOUR BEST EXCUSE FOR SKIVING P.E. AT SCHOOL? WE USED TO FEIGN AN OUTBREAK OF THE PLAGUE.

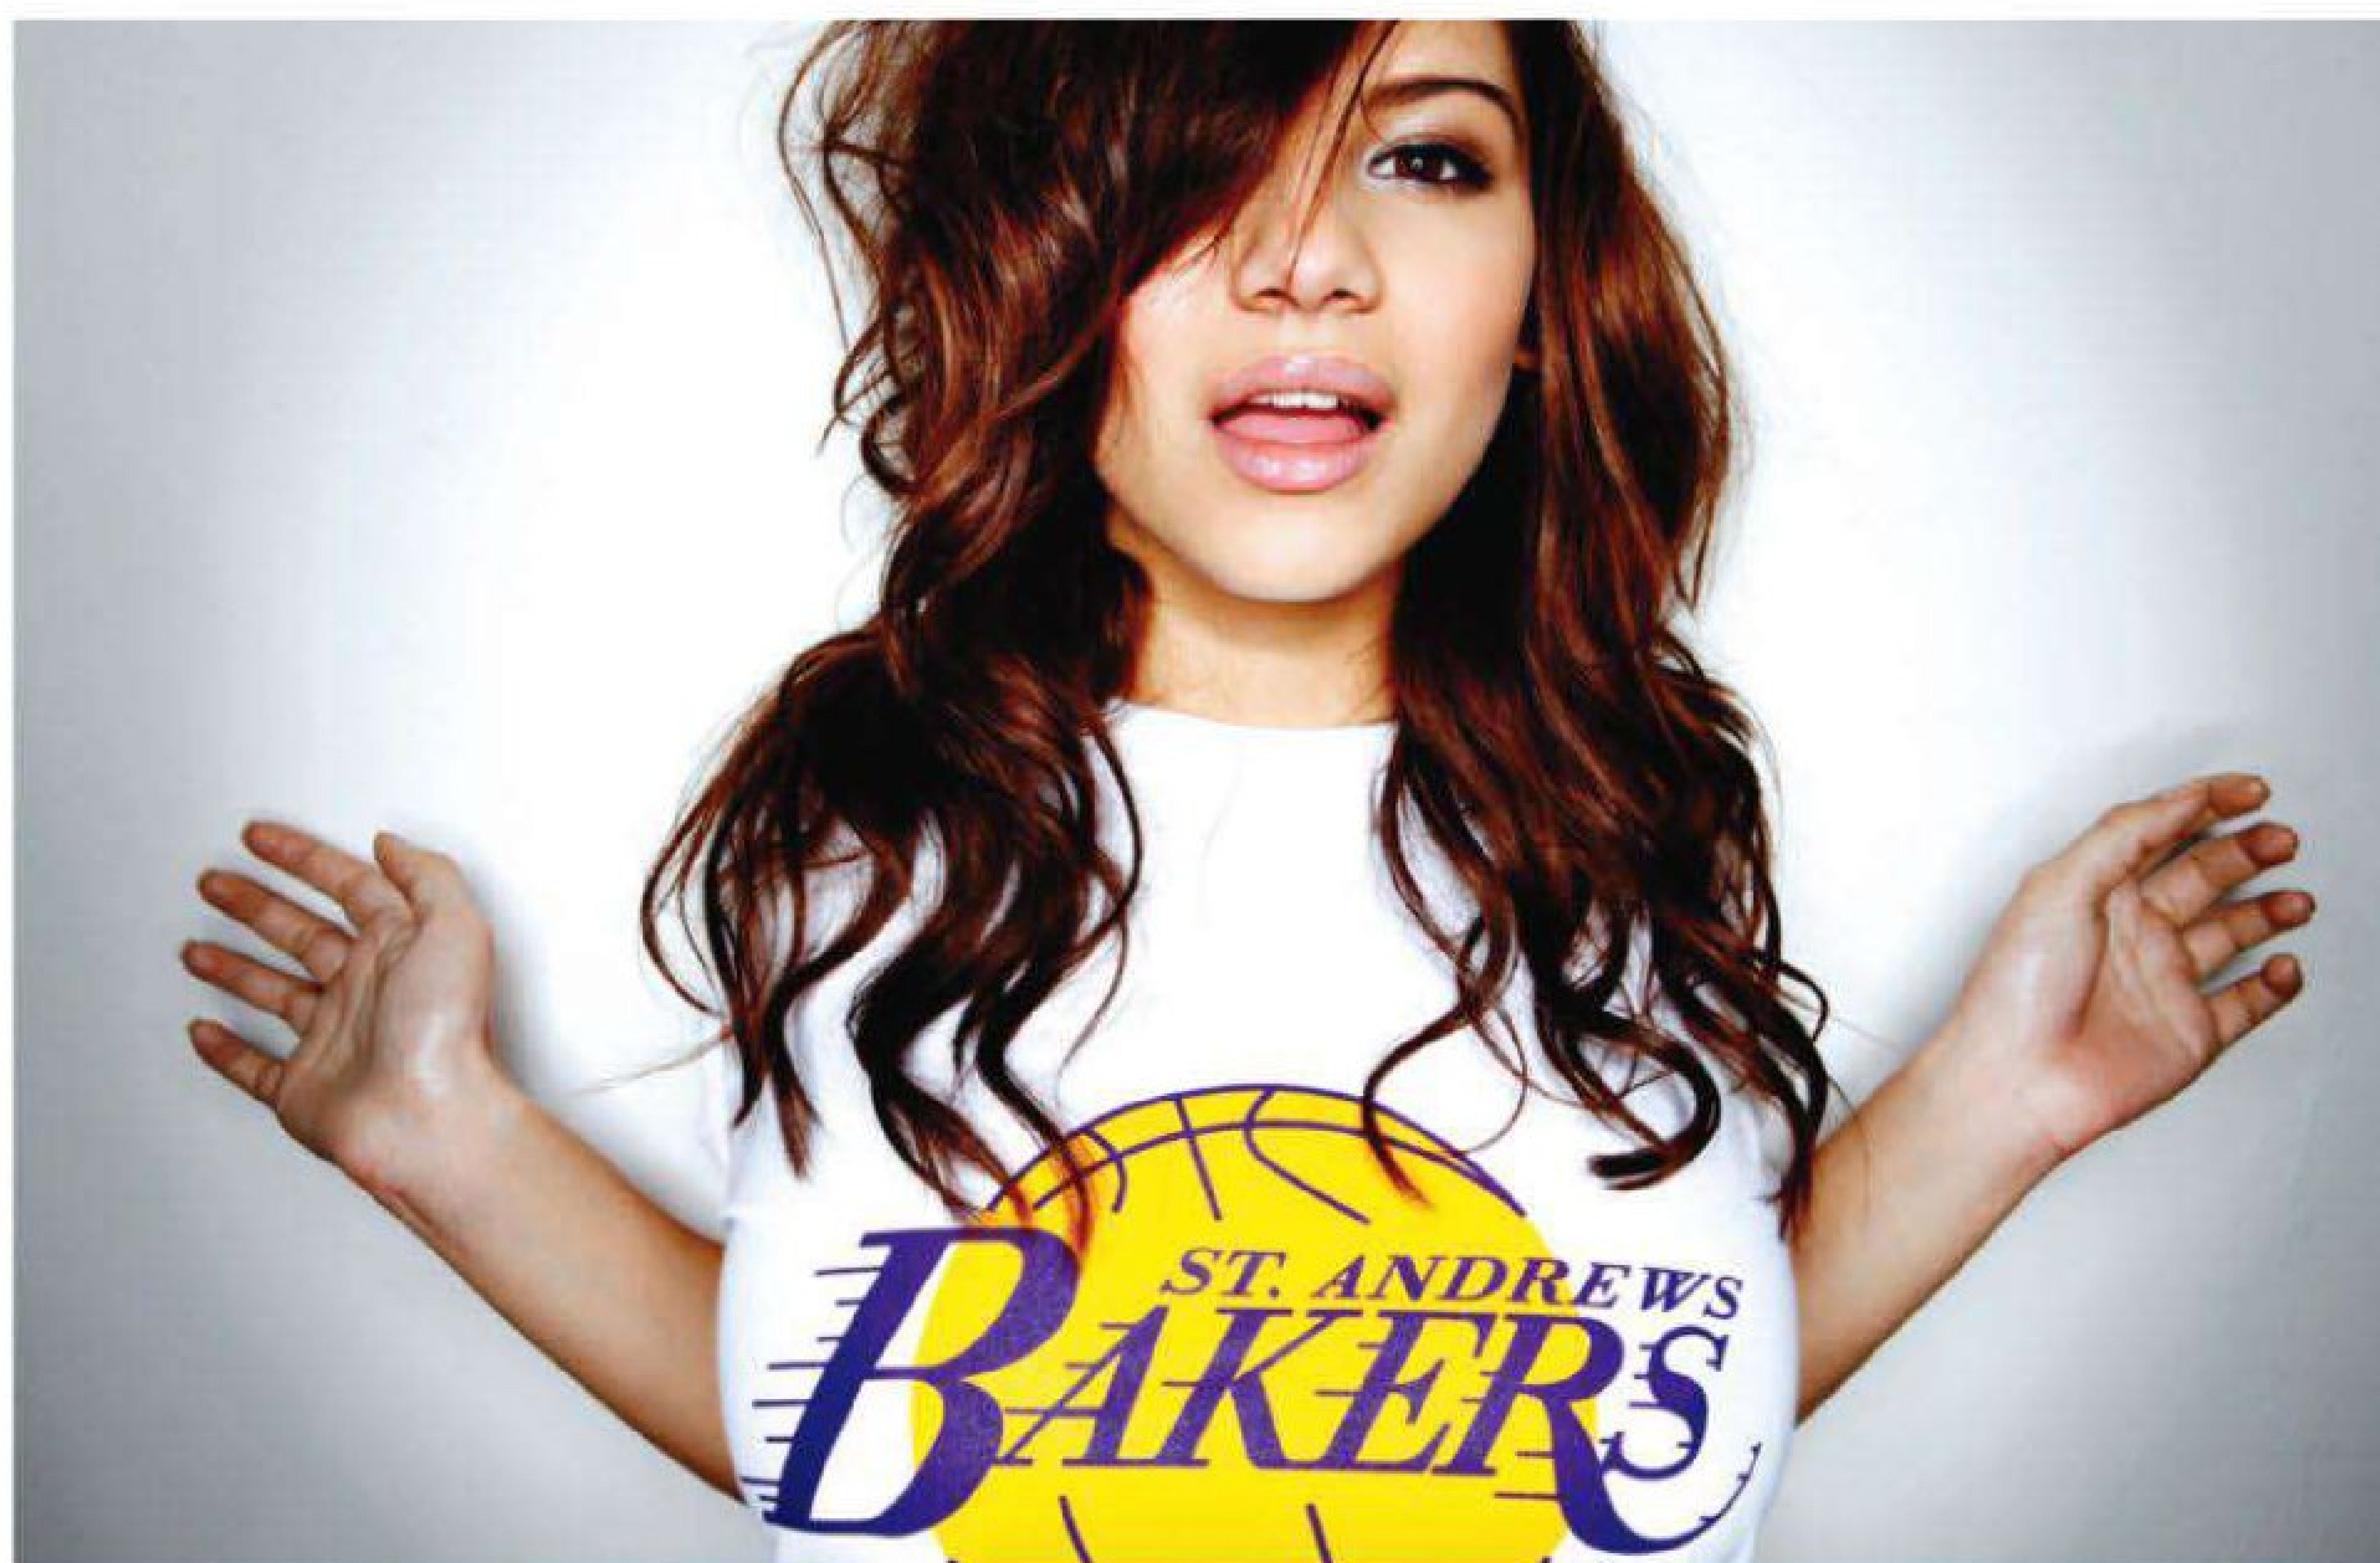

That's a new one. I became really good at forging my parents' handwriting, which came in handy when I needed to write a letter to bail me out of lessons, generally saying that I'd broken my toe. There was one girl that was amazing at copying signatures, so she had a little counterfeit ring going on.

SNEAKY SNEAKY! SO HOW FAR CAN YOU DRIBBLE? WE CAN MAKE IT TOUCH THE FLOOR AND UP TO OUR MOUTH AGAIN.

That's disgusting. I was surprisingly good with it, actually! ▶

DOES THAT MEAN A GUY HAS TO BE GOOD AT SPORT TO IMPRESS YOU? DOES HE HAVE TO BE GOOD AT PUTTING ONE IN THE HOOP?

[Laughs] Again, I hope you're talking about basketball! But, yeah, it's good to stay in shape. I used to love climbing trees, so any guy that can do that with me is a winner. I fell out of one straight into a stream once, but that didn't put me off or anything.

WE ONCE CLIMBED A LADDER, BUT WE DIDN'T FALL OFF IT. TRUE STORY. WHAT ELSE IMPRESSES YOU?

Some sports I'm not that into. Rugby boys scare me, because of their funny jug ears. Boxers are crazy because they just punch each other, and I don't really like blood. Boys who play football are the easiest to get on with, and they're normally pretty fit.

harder, cos they're normally ripped to fuck. Plus, if Glee's taught me anything, they like breaking into song for no good reason. I'm down with that.

IF YOU HAD TO PERFORM AT THE SUPER BOWL HALF-TIME SHOW, WHAT AWESOME TALENT WOULD YOU SHOW OFF?

Janet Jackson's already got the whole 'flashing boobs' thing covered, so I guess I'm out. I'd be too embarrassed to do any singing in front of all those people. I reckon I could be a good cheerleader, though. I used to do gymnastics, so that's a start. Dancing around in an American cheerleading outfit sounds awesome. I bet that after-party is epic.

WHO HAS BETTER HOUSEPARTIES: THE STATES OR BRITAIN?

Definitely America. Everyone has such an awesome time and they're always packed. If I was throwing a party tomorrow, I'd make sure I had a load of those red cups and people doing keg stands every other minute. ►

SO YOU DEFINITELY KNOW HOW TO PARTY?

I'm a great drunk. I'm never one to cry in the corner – I'm all about having a good time. I'd get up on the table and start dancing if it meant everyone was going to have a good time. So, thinking about it, I could make a party massive regardless of where it was.

IF YOU COULD SUPERSIZE ANYTHING, WHAT WOULD IT BE?

That would be the best superpower. I could sound really naughty here, but one of my pet hates is getting a packet of crisps and finding only four crisps in the bag. I'd make the packets all bigger, then that disappointment would go away.

LACEY, WE NOW LOVE YOU EVEN MORE THAN WE DID ALREADY. PLUS, YOU HAVE A PRETTY SWEET NAME... WHAT GIVES?

I'd totally forgotten that my name sounds funny until I started modelling. A few people think it's hilarious, but if Vikki Blows can get away with it, so can I. Can you imagine a Banghard 'n' Blows shoot? I'm excited just thinking about that... FRONT

FAKEY-DOOR FAKERY

Create the illusion that your house is very much bigger and more majestic than it first appears by buying an old door from a salvage shop, nailing it to your wall, and sticking a sign on it that reads something super-impressive, such as above...

HOW TO

GIVE A MASSAGE

Make your house-guests feel like they're at an ooh-la-la spa by giving them an expert all-over body massage. If they seem a bit unwilling, simply show them your Official Trained Massage Therapist certificate that you, er, knocked up in Photoshop...

1 Cover your hands in a butter-substitute spread – we'd recommend Utterly Butterly. (Do not use Tesco's Butter Me Up, unless you want to end up maiming or even killing your guest.)

2 Repeatedly rub your hands up and down their body from their ears to their thighs, pausing at the buttocks and rotating them in a 'wax on, wax off' style.

3 Every so often, lean in close to their ear and hum the melody from Usher's DJ Got Us Fallin' In Love – this will put them at ease.

4 If they start crying or shouting, tell them to leave immediately, but warn them that this is your little secret and they're not to tell anyone because no one will believe them anyway. Now, quickly: burn all the evidence.

HOW TO

BUILD A SEX DUNGEON

What with Hollyoaks and Rihanna filling their brains full of muck, modern ladies are no longer satisfied with lovers who pump away missionary-style for 40 seconds before rolling off into a fart-filled slumber. You need to put on a bit of a show, so convert one room in your house into a full, working sex-dungeon. Here's what you'll need:

- Three packs of Tesco Value mince
- A bear trap, rusty
- A stolen deck chair, painted black
- A pair of SpongeBob SquarePants masks
- A copy of Angling Times
- An invisible gerbil

RED-LIGHT-O-RAMA

Let your guests enjoy the illicit thrill of visiting an edgy red-light district by switching your hallway lightbulb for a red one and scattering a few used condoms, drug-wraps and syringes about the place. Got a cat or a dog? If so, add extra authenticity by dressing your pet like a furry prostitute in a PVC mini-skirt, scarlet lippy and high-heels. Don't worry: we phoned up the RSPCA to check if it was okay to do this and they said it was absolutely fine.

HOW TO GET THREEDEE TEEVEE FREE

When your local pub is showing the match in eye-gouging 3-D on a screen as big as a whale, why would your mates want to watch it in your dingy living room that whiffs of semen? You need to compete!

Firstly, steal a trolley from Tesco. Don't worry: we phoned them up to check it was okay to do this and they said it's absolutely fine. Next, balance your TV on the end of it. Then, while your guests are enjoying the game, rapidly lunge it at them every time the action hots up. Wowzers – they'll feel like they're actually there! Also works for action movies and pornography. Not so much with rom-coms.

WHO STAIRS WINS

You don't need posh snacks or shiny gadgets to entertain guests – just a set of stairs! You can all enjoy a stimulating and amusing evening by recreating some classic scenes from film and television in which characters fall dramatically down a full flight of stairs. Don't worry: we phoned up NHS Direct to check if it was okay to do this and they said it was absolutely fine.

Here are a few classics you could try:

● THE TRAGIC: Tumbling morosely like Father Karras in The Exorcist

● THE SUPPOSEDLY HILARIOUS: Like Frank Spencer in Some Mothers Do 'Ave 'Em

● THE DASTARDLY: Like odd-haired Samuel L Jackson in Unbreakable

● THE ADORABLE: Like a Shih Tzu puppy that we saw on YouTube that was lovely, just lovely

POOTERTAINMENT

Everyone likes something to read while they're pressing one out, but why force visitors to leaf through a fart-scented copy of the Shoot! annual 1998 when you could offer them the personal touch? Be a super-host and, as they defecate, perform a humorous limerick, an improvised fairy tale or lively puppet show. Is your pal protesting that you're making them feel uncomfortable? Offer to avert your gaze and cover your ears during 'big push' moments.

HOMELY SMELLS

Spend a day capturing homely smells in jars, and release them whenever guests are present. A few suggestions:

- Chinese takeaway leftovers
- Damp elderly Labrador
- First fart of the day

SMOOOOOOOTH TIMIN'

When it comes to gaining intimate access to vaginas, timer switches are your friend. With a bit of careful timing you can woo a lady back to your home, plop her down on the sofa, click your fingers and – ding! – an army of timer-switches dims the lights, plays erotic Ne-Yo songs and makes high-budget porn come on the telly. Vagina-time is go!

BISCUIT ZOO

What could be fancier than having your very own zoo? Simply build yourself some little enclosures out of an old cereal box, then head to the newsagents to hunt down some exotic wildlife: a couple of Lion bars, an eight-pack of Penguins, a KitKat, some gummy bears and some Polo bears. Your friends will be enchanted to the point of ejaculation by your amazing indoor menagerie!

BISCUIT PLANETARIUM

Same basic theory as the Biscuit Zoo, only you'll need to buy a Mars, some Mars Planets, a Galaxy, a Milky Way and some Haribo Starmix, then tape them to your ceiling.

HOW TO

HOST A DINNER PARTY

Here's what you'll need to hold your very own fancy and memorable evening soiree...

- ✓ 42 CANS CONTINENTAL-STRENGTH LAGER (JUST TO LUBRICATE PROCEEDINGS A LITTLE AND GET THOSE SPARKLING WITTICISMS AND INSIGHTFUL DEBATES FLOWING)
- ✓ 8 BOTTLES FOUR-QUID WHITE WINE (FOR LUBRICATORY PURPOSES)
- ✓ 1 BOTTLE JAGERMEISTER (FOR MORE LUBRICATORY PURPOSES)
- ✓ 1 PACKET CHILLI HEATWAVE DORITOS
- ✓ 1 CD OF APPETITE FOR DESTRUCTION BY GUNS N' ROSES (A LITTLE LIGHT MOOD MUSIC)
- ✓ 28 ADDITIONAL CANS CONTINENTAL-STRENGTH LAGER (JUST TO BE ON THE SAFE SIDE, LUBRICATION-WISE)
- ✓ 1 BUCKET (FOR VOMIT/BLOOD)

HIDE YOUR SHAME

It's nice having guests round, but take your eye offa dem muhfuckas for a second and dey'll be all up in yo cupboards on some straight Come Dine With Me shizz. With that in mind, here are a few items that it's best you hide away from prying/mocking/thieving eyes...

- Your £850 statuette of Bella and Edward off Twilight
- The crispy H&M T-shirt that you've been using as a goo-catching wank-rag since 2006
- That three-year-old bottle of White Lightning that you're saving for a special occasion
- Secret family heirloom diamond worth £8 million
- Photo of you in wet jeans after you pissed your pants at Alton Towers when you were 11
- 24 kilos of uncut, delicious Colombian cocaine

OMFG LOLOCAUST

Everyone loves a practical joker. It's the reason Dom Joly is such a national treasure, and why Jeremy Beadle's funeral was a grand affair at which the Queen broke down in tears and Elton John sang Beadle In The Wind.

You can transform your home into a hee-larious practical-joke-fest using just a roll of cling-film. We all know the ROFL result of stretching cling-film over a toilet bowl, but why stop there? Sinks, cups, bowls, bins – they're all fair game! When your guests' clothes are dripping with boiling water, cornflakes, wee-wee and bin-juice, you can bet that they'll be high-fiving you and declaring you the most brilliantest practical joker ever.

PLAQUE ATTACK

An engraved plaque injects any old guff with weighty historical importance – so stick them up everywhere and make your house seem like it was the location for countless fascinating happenings. Your mangy old sofa? That's where Jimi Hendrix died! That weird brown stain? Princess Di left that there! The crack in the sink? Gazza headbutted it! And so on.

VIBRA-SOFA

Y'know what gets ladies all frothy at the peephole? Vibrations! Before heading out on a date, hide a selection of vibrators – all set to 'full steam ahead' – under your couch cushions. Later, invite your date in for a coffee and have her sit down on the Vibra-Sofa – within minutes she'll be gnawing at your trousers like a shark trying to get at raw steak.

(Important: do not take her for a curry beforehand, or the Vibra-Sofa may trigger ferocious bowel spasms, causing you both to spray uncontrollable plops all up your backs and all down your legs. Back-spattered bum-shit is a real dating 'no-no'.)

GLORY GLORY

You'd have to be completely gay not to enjoy glory holes – what could be better than poking your twitching sextube through a makeshift hole, only to have it hungrily fellated by a total stranger on the other side? Well, why should only poorly maintained toilets in public parks get all the action? With a power-drill and a bit of grunting, you can fill your own home full of glory holes!

Then, invite all your pals round for an evening of hijinx. Make a game of it! Can you guess who sucked off who? Who spat? Who swallowed? Whose cock looks and smells like a manky banana wrapped in bacon? Oh, what a night!

HOW TO

GET GIRLS INVOLVED

Boardgames provide an exciting way for everyone – girls included! Yes, girls! – to enjoy an evening free of tiresome rubbish like Call Of Halo Gears Theft Auto IV. With any luck, you'll even get a few surprisingly bitter rows about who is or isn't a cheating bastard along the way! Most of the classic games have been updated for twenty-first century audiences – here's our pick of the bunch...

MONOPOLY: CREDIT CRUNCH EDITION

The new hyper-realistic Monopoly drops you into the world of hedge funds, junk bonds and equity derivatives. It's completely fucking baffling – the winner is whoever stays awake until the end.

SCRBL0L

You're now allowed to score points using txt speak – STFU, LMFAO, OMFG, etc – and the new Predictive Text feature means you only need to plonk the first few letters of a word down.

HAPPY HEALTHY HIPPOS

The original Hungry Hungry Hippos was accused of encouraging binge-eating and childhood obesity, so in this updated version each player battles for a single piece of steamed broccoli.

HELLO, ASHLEY FROM FRANCESQA. WHAT'S UP WITH YOU BOYS AT THE MOMENT?

We're all good, thanks. We're just finishing up a new album and we're re-releasing our EP this month due to popular demand. We've been pretty much non-stop on it since October last year, so we're looking forward to enjoying the tasty fruits of our labour.

ARE YOU ALL EASY TO GET ALONG WITH WHEN YOU'RE IN AN INTENSE ALBUM-MAKING TIME, OR DO YOU END UP TRYING TO KILL EACH OTHER?

[Laughs] It's a mixture of both,

I think. We're all happy when we arrive at practice, but then there's a bit of difference in opinion or something, and that's when shit hits the fan. We usually end up sorting it before someone gets hurt.

DO YOU ALL HAVE YOUR OWN LITTLE CHARACTER ROLES TO PLAY, LIKE IN SOME WACKY SITCOM?

Pretty much. Ben's the good-looking guy, Warren's the chilled-out guy, Tom can be a bit uptight, and then I'm more like the... er... I don't even know what the fuck I am. It's not for me to say. [Laughs]

WE'RE SEEING SMALLER BANDS GETTING A LOT OF MAINSTREAM LOVE AT THE MOMENT, PLUS YOU ALL SEEM TO BE GOING OUT WITH SEXY MODELS. IS THIS THE GOLDEN ERA FOR NEW BANDS?

Absolutely – it'd seem that it's the best time to be in a newbie band like this one. The thing is, we've only been around for a year and a bit, so the career success we're having now is not on a huge scale, but it's big for us. We're just proud to be a part of this scene, and are just happy to be mixing with people we've listened to since we were kids. ►

YOU MUST HAVE HAD BIG JUICY BONERS, THEN, WHEN BLINK-182'S TOM DELONGE PICKED YOU TO PLAY AT LAST YEAR'S SLAM DUNK FESTIVAL...

Oh, boners like you wouldn't believe, man. We did that thing of entering a band competition that we all just assumed that we had no chance of winning. At that time, I still had a job spraying weeds for the council. I was in my transit van when I got a call from our manager to say that Tom DeLonge had been in touch and wanted us to play. It was probably one of the best moments of my entire life.

IN AN INTERVIEW WITH US ONCE, DELONGE SAID THAT HE HAD A BIG WILLY. CAN YOU CONFIRM IF HE'S REALLY DELONGE BY NATURE?

[Laughs] He does come across as a guy who has some girth to be proud of, but I'm gutted to say that we didn't even meet him. The whole experience was reward enough, though, and it's what drove us on to make a go of things.

SO YOUR WEED-KILLING DAYS ARE OVER, THEN?

Indeed. The rest of the guys were in college up until we started and one was a manager in our local branch of Game, so we've all had to make a few changes. Now, we just want to get the album out and hope people connect with it.

THE NEXT TIME WE MEET, WILL YOU HAVE SOME HORRENDOUSLY DEBAUCHED TOUR TALES?

[Laughs] Hopefully. We're not really a band that things like that happen to. Whenever we tour with a band, like Young Guns, they're all, [in phony American accent] "Oh, this one time was pandemonium, dude!" Hopefully we'll one day reach their levels of booziness. Our drummer Warren once exposed himself in a busy service station, but that's a story for another day... FRONT

GIRL CALENDAR

"This was here when I moved in. Every guy needs some sort of girl picture on their wall. Even if you have a girlfriend, you need one. It gives you drive to do your best, cos that's the kinda girl you aspire to be with."

RESCUE ME

"This is my biggest tune. It sold the most and has had the most views on YouTube, so it's a big achievement for me. It's good to look at it, because it's the benchmark I have to break with my new music. Seeing this makes me want to achieve better things."

LAPTOP

"Man, this is my LIFE. I produce all of my songs on this, so without it I'd be nothing. I gotta have it with me at all times, even when I'm asleep. I might dream of a beat or think of one as I'm nodding off and need to get it down."

BOY BETTER KNOW

"Boy Better Know is my record label. We had T-shirts made up, but I wanted to get a chain of the logo, too. It's my pride and joy."

SHOPPING BAGS

"I'm a shopping addict. Me and my girl argue like Bart and Homer about the stuff I buy. My biggest extravagance would be my Louis Vuitton bodywarmer that was over £3k. I'm not one of those people that wears something once and throws it away. Stardom can go to people's heads."

MIRROR

"I'm always in a rush, so having a mirror to make sure I'm looking okay is dead important. You don't want to walk outside with a massive bogey hanging out of your nose, do you?"

TRAPPER HAT

"I had about 30 of these hats when I first started MCing, and then Dappy started rocking his headwear. I was like, 'Why you trying to steal my image, man?' and had to fall back from that style a bit. I still love them, though."

FYI

We asked whether Skepta wanted his knackered-looking vacuum cleaner in shot, but he said, "No way, that'll really embarrass my mum."

BIKE

"I'll ride this to the gym so when I get there I can just concentrate on busting some weights and getting all Johnny Bravo'd. I stacked it trying to ride up a hill no-hands once, but nobody was around to see me look like a twat, luckily."

RED SHOES

"I'm a freak for red trainers. I don't know why. I could wear an all-blue outfit and still rock my red shoes. I guess it's a statement. I must have about 15 pairs of shoes all in the same colour. I get most of these for free, to be honest."

XBOX

"When I manage a rare bit of free time, I'll get on Gears Of War. Everyone raves about COD, but I'm not into it. I wanna fight aliens and shit instead of shooting people."

DISARONNO

"This is my drink of choice, though I've not really hit it recently. The last time I partied hard was at Chipmunk's birthday. There were a few sore heads the morning after that..."

FIRST INK

"I got this when I was about 18. My girlfriend at the time and I went to Estonia, had a few drinks and decided to get a tattoo. Simple as that, really. I think I'll have it covered up, though. I'm kinda over it."

I HEART SATAN

"Everyone needs to have a fucking pentagram. It's cool to be a little Satanic sometimes."

SPIDERMAN

"People say that if you have a spiderweb it means you have killed a person, but I just wanted one cos they look awesome. Seriously, though, getting a tattoo on your elbow is the worst pain ever, so make sure you're ready for it. I've fallen on it so many times that some of the ink has dropped out."

'END OF FUCKING STORY'

"A friend of mine in LA told me that I say that phrase all the time, and said I should get it as a tattoo. It was one of those booze-led decisions that luckily ended up okay."

ONE FOR THE GRANDDADS

"This is the emblem of Finland, and is my dedication to my grandparents. They were alive during the [1939] Winter War with the Soviet Union and this lets me appreciate their strength."

SECRET SMILEY

"I love this piece, but the funniest detail of all my tattoos is on this guy's button. It's a smiley face, and people don't tend to notice it when they first look at this tattoo. The artist was going to stick a pentagram in there, but I suggested doing this as a joke instead."

SHOOT 'EM UP

"My girlfriend and I both have this. The 'A' stands for me, Alexi, and her name starts with a 'K'. It's our thing. It was a joke we started a while back, but I really like this tattoo."

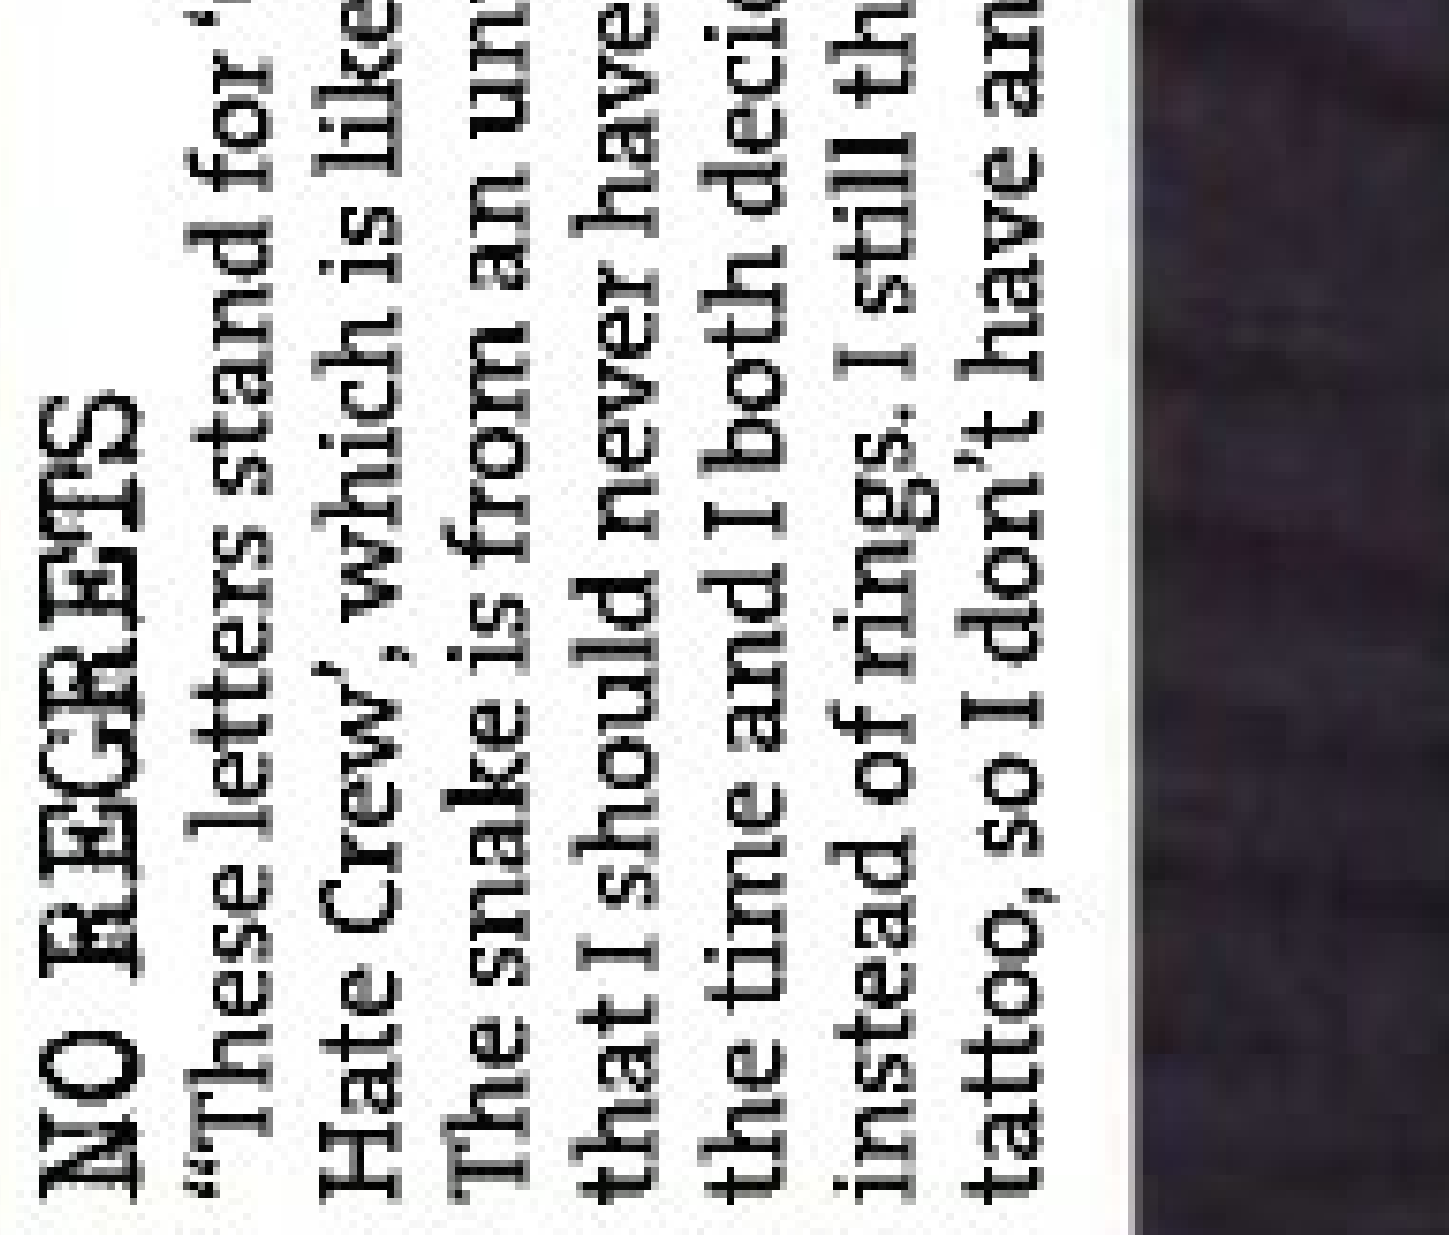

YOU DO VOOODOO

"I fucking hate tribal tattoos. They're shit. I like getting different stuff like this instead. My tattoo artist had drawn this up, and I really liked it. It's surrounded by [Swiss artist] HR Giger-style designs, which I'm a big fan of."

NO REGRETS

"These letters stand for 'Children Of Bodom Hate Crew', which is like my calling card. The snake is from an unfortunate marriage that I should never have had. My wife at the time and I both decided to get these instead of rings. I still think it's a cool tattoo, so I don't have any regrets."

BOOZE DUDE

"I wanted a guy just holding a bottle of booze - this will probably be me in about 15 years. I don't really know why we didn't give him a face, but he's my fucking faceless drunk."

I WANNA SNOG CLEVER-CLOGS

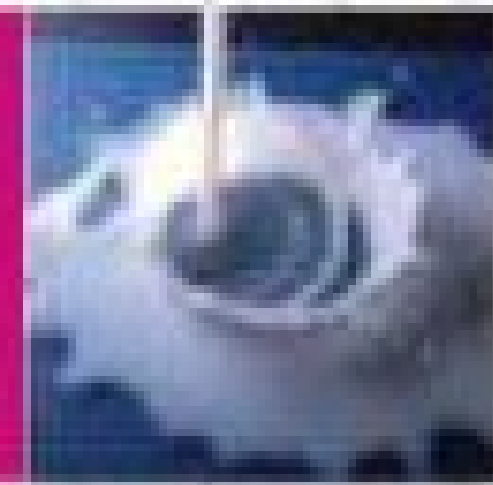

I really like clever girls – the only problem being that clever girls are too smart to want to go out with me. I've considered night classes, but what's my best bet for nailing a horny book worm, Von?

Anon, via text

Not all clever girls want a clever guy, anonymous texter. Remember that it's usually the good girls that like a bit of rough. Generally I like my men to be a bit thicker than me as it makes me feel more powerful and generally they are way better at fucking as they are all über-macho to make up for the lack of brains. If I were you I'd put on your best chav outfit, get yourself to the local library and spark up a fag inside – you'll soon have the hot frigid chicks damp in no time.

CAN I WANK OVER ANYONE?

I wanked over a picture of my missus' friend and she's proper pissed about it. She thinks it's basically cheating. I told her it's better than actually wanking on her. I think I'm well within my rights to wank over whoever I like.

Stephen, Essex

I wouldn't call it cheating, Stephen. These are my cheating rules: girls kissing other girls is fully not cheating. In fact, girls doing anything to another girl is fine. Oral sex is okay – to me it's like a handshake but friendlier and more pleasing. And mutual masturbation, too, is also cool, as long as you stay focused on the groin and don't look the other person in the eye. Therefore, wanking over a picture is well fine. Maybe don't tell her next time, numbnuts?

A LONELY OAP WRITES...

I like this girl and even though she's younger than me, she's a lot more experienced. I'm worried she'll expect me to be more of a 'man' than I am. Any advice?

Kenny, via Facebook

My advice is to stop cocking around, you believe. I don't think experience means shit because it usually ALWAYS comes down to how the guy performs and the girl has to play off it, as no man really wants a girl to be commanding in the sack. Chances are she'll let you lead and you will simply benefit from her well-oiled technique. That's what I do when I'm shagging an oldie, anyway, gramps.

I NEED TO MAN THE FUCK UP

I was recently in the pub and a colleague who knows my girlfriend started cussing her out in front of me. I'm fuming but office politics mean I can't really push it or I'll be fucked. What should I do?

Anon, via text

It totally depends on the person that did the cussing and your relationship with them. If it's the office cunt who disses everyone's mums all the time and farts then pretends he didn't, then you should get him back by shitting in his office draw or fucking his mum. If it's someone higher up, though, then say something and be prepared to chew on some corporate cock in order to keep your job. You might like that, though, I guess. Gob full of knob do it for you, hmmm?

Von's NAUGHTY DOs & DON'Ts

#22 SEXTING

I love sexting – there really is no better way to make my day more interesting than sending out-of-the-blue filth. DON'T SEX TEXT WHEN DRUNK – you never want to accidentally text the wrong person how much you want to be inside them, especially if it's your sister. DO BE ELOQUENT with it, but equally don't make it so well written you have to use a thesaurus to respond.

DON'T SEND PHOTOS that are over incriminating because girls will show their friends. If you have to send a cock pic, avoid putting your face in it: sometimes me and my girls send out group texts to see who can get the most meat pictures. I usually win.

BULLETSTORM

360/PS3/PC

WE DIDN'T KNOW what to expect when we first got our hands on Bulletstorm. As a brand-new franchise from EA, all we knew for sure was that it had guns. Big guns. And bullets. Obviously. Maybe there would be storms in there too, but that's pushing it a little. MAYBE IT'S A GAME ABOUT PIRATES! Uh, no. Okay.

You play Grayson Hunt, a booze-hound assassin who, unbeknownst to him and his team, has been conned into killing innocents by the evil General Sarrano, who could pass for Satanic Bible bod Anton LaVey. Cue him starting a reckless revenge mission to get that "son of a whore" back, aided by his trusty side-kick Ishi, who has bad tattoos and is part robot.

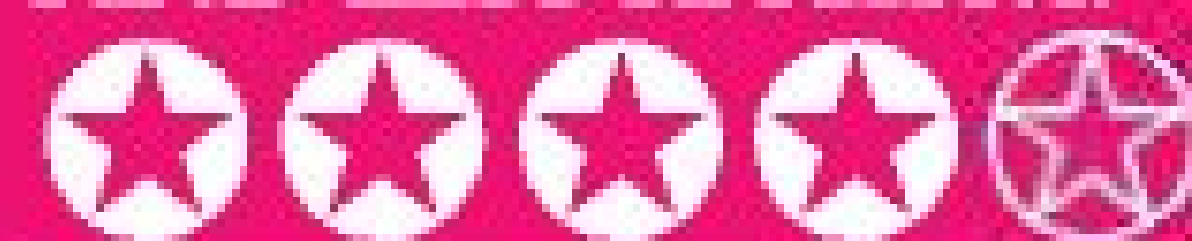

So far, same old story – but that's where the similarities with other games end. Where Bulletstorm excels is that it somehow manages to make this slightly crap story fast, fresh and exciting. The plot moves quickly, locations change dramatically, and there is a sense of fun about the game that makes it a welcome change to the seriousness of other FPS franchises (hello, COD). Multiplayer is boosted by Skillshot, which works as a perks system rewarding you for creative kills and has you working in teams to ice waves of enemies, who become more monstrous as you work your way through the game and make the Arnie noise when they die. You know what I'm talking about.

The bosses are HUGE, and you can creatively alternate your combos of kicking, shooting and using your electricity whip to get some pretty satisfying kills. Throw in some cock jokes, a homoerotic subplot between Grayson and Ishi, and copious amounts of gore and you've got a pretty awesome game.

SKILLSHOTS

The Skillshot system awards you points (to spend on upgrades/ ammo) according to how creatively you dismember and assassinate your enemies.

THE SWEARS

With such quality lines as, "You shit-piles give chase, I'm going to kill your dicks!" you know you're going to be in for a lot of dick jokes, and a good dick joke is never a bad thing.

EXTREME AMOUNTS OF VIOLENCE

With seemingly infinite ways of dismembering your enemies, the gore and violence in this game is totally next level.

RACING

TEST DRIVE UNLIMITED 2

360/PS3/PC

IMAGINE THE SCENE: you're at a party full of ladies in Ibiza listening to some generic funky house when you're taken to one side and offered a Ferrari to keep. But wait! Then you wake up and realise it was all just a dream and really you are just a shitty snot-nosed valet whose job is to park posh birds' Ferraris... Until one day, out of the blue, one of them goes, "Your valet skills are so shockingly poor that I think you should race my Ferrari!" Just like that. This is the premise of Test Drive Unlimited 2. And as game premises go, it's probably the worst one we've ever heard.

TDU2 is a game you will either love or hate. If you love non-stupid racing games like Gran Turismo, you will hate TDU2, because it is also an MMO with a lot of upgrade elements. If you like fiddling about and have OCD then, man, this game may give you a boner you could satisfy SuBo with. Be warned, though:

this is only for you if you fancy a challenge – otherwise it could have you throwing your controller at your mum in frustration. And she won't like that.

NINTENDO 3DS LAUNCH LINE-UP ANNOUNCED

They've just announced what's going to be available when Nintendo's new shiny piece of kit drops in March. As well as the yeah-of-course titles like Nintendogs, there are some ace games launching with it, like Super Street Fighter IV, Super Monkey Ball, Splinter Cell, Ghost Recon: Shadow Wars and Lego Star Wars. I never exaggerate, but the 3DS is going to sell more than bread does.

POKÉMON BLACK & WHITE DS

POKÉMON HAS BUILT a reputation as the Ronseal of the gaming world: you know what to expect and it does exactly what it says on the tin, as the core dynamics of the game haven't altered that drastically in 15 years. Yet it is still consistently one of gaming's bestsellers. This is because people don't like change, and if it ain't broke, don't try to fix it. Until now...

As the first in the fifth (FIFTH!)

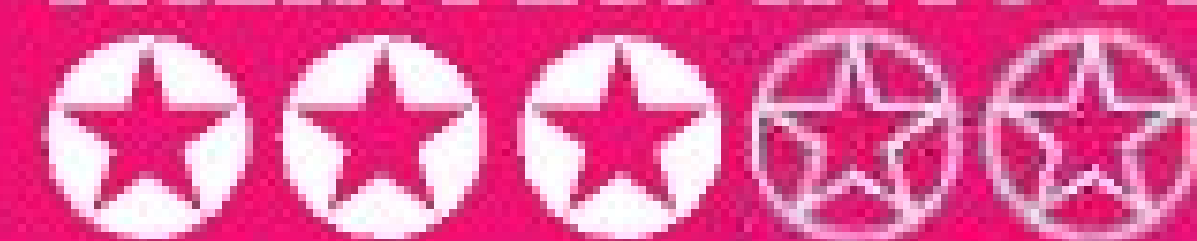

generation of the series, Pokémon Black & White has done exactly that: changed. Well, sort of. The biggest change is the Pokémon. All 150 in the game are BRAND-NEW characters which could leave a few Pikachu fans crying into their Cornflakes, but don't fret: the old ones are unlocked once you complete the game. They've also upgraded the graphics, animations and the battle system but, essentially, it's still the same game. It's the first Pokémon game in history to receive a perfect 40/40 from Japanese gaming bible Famitsu, mind, so it must be good.

AND YOU WILL KNOW US BY THE TRAIL OF DEAD TAO OF THE DEAD

IT'S PRETTY OBVIOUS, isn't it, readers, that we are living in the End Times. Earthquakes, floods, terrorism, riots, Sarah Palin's cold, robotic eyes – it all spells out enormous, impending doom. In fact, according to the ancient Mayans, the world is set to go kaboom on 21 December 2012 – so it really is just a matter of months. Not to worry you.

Anyway, if we are all on the fast-track to calamity, we'll need a band to soundtrack the coming apocalypse and keep us cheerfully rocking-the-fuck-out all the way to Oblivionsville – and ladies and gentlemen, that band is The Wanted. No, wait – that's not right...

Ladies and gentlemen, that band is And You Will Know Us By The Trail Of Dead. These noisy-assed, spaced-out Texans make music that sounds like a triumphant end-of-the-world party, and Tao Of The Dead is their most triumphant and end-of-the-worldy album yet. Yay for apocalypses!

ROYAL REPUBLIC WE ARE THE ROYAL

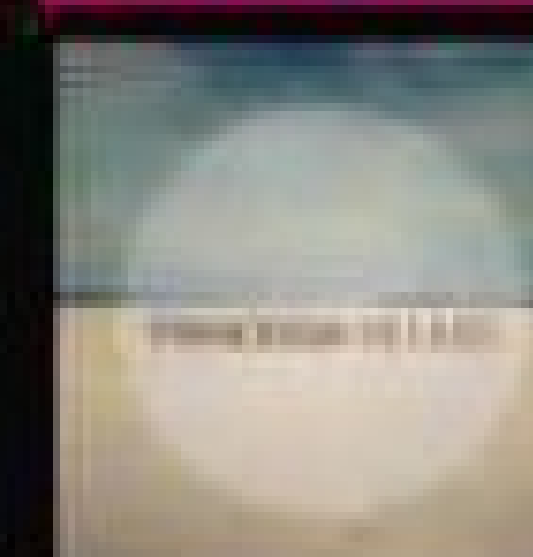

Some songs on this Swedish band's debut album – like opener The Royal – are properly ace and sound like bad-ass '70s rock played well fast, but then some of them – like Full Steam Spacemachine – are truly terrible and sound like they belong in some shonky, sticky-floored indie-disco circa 1997. So you'll need to chop-chop a bit, but there's a killer EP hidden inside this meh-not-bad album.

PAUL

STARRING: SIMON PEGG, NICK FROST

IF EVER THERE WAS a flick to get geeks frothing at the cock, this latest Simon Pegg/Nick Frost shindig is sure to out-do even the hardest of Amy Pond-induced hard-ons. This time, our hapless duo are on the run from FBI meatheads, after accidentally stumbling upon an alien in Area 51 while on their way to a sci-fi convention.

Seth Rogen is the familiar voice of the gleefully slack-arsed animated alien, but we also have an ensemble cast that reads as an insane who's who of cult sci-fi and comedy (think Sigourney Weaver, Jane Lynch and all that bunch).

Rather awesomely, a lot of the action was filmed at a giant recreation of the legendary San Diego Comic-Con, which does for sci-fi appreciators what a Wacky Warehouse ball pit might do for a Catholic Priest, and it makes the whole thing feel like one big, silly homage to the genre.

The UK's slickest comedy partnering deliver something which we can happily mutter about in the same breath as Shaun Of The Dead and Hot Fuzz. The theme of the sentence would be 'these are all very good films', in case you didn't see what we were getting at.

KILLER CAMEOS TO KEEP AN EYE OUT FOR...

JEFFREY TAMBOR

The star of cult US comedy Arrested Development (currently enjoying a lovely and long-overdue re-rerun on telly channel FX) makes some brief appearances as arsehole sci-fi writer Adam Shadowchild.

JANE LYNCH

Thanks to Glee, it's hard not to imagine Lynch playing anything other than a super-bastard PE teacher, but she's ace all the same as a loveable waitress in an alien-themed diner.

DAVID KOECHNER

Forever playing a burly redneck, Anchorman legend Koechner makes no exceptions in Paul – by hamming it up as a gun-toting mentalist. Ten imaginary points if you can spot the Star Wars parody in one of his scenes.

FYI

The San Diego Comic-Con scenes in the film were actually filmed at Albuquerque Comic-Con, with the organisers roped in to recreate the branding.

FERRARI FF

£TBC

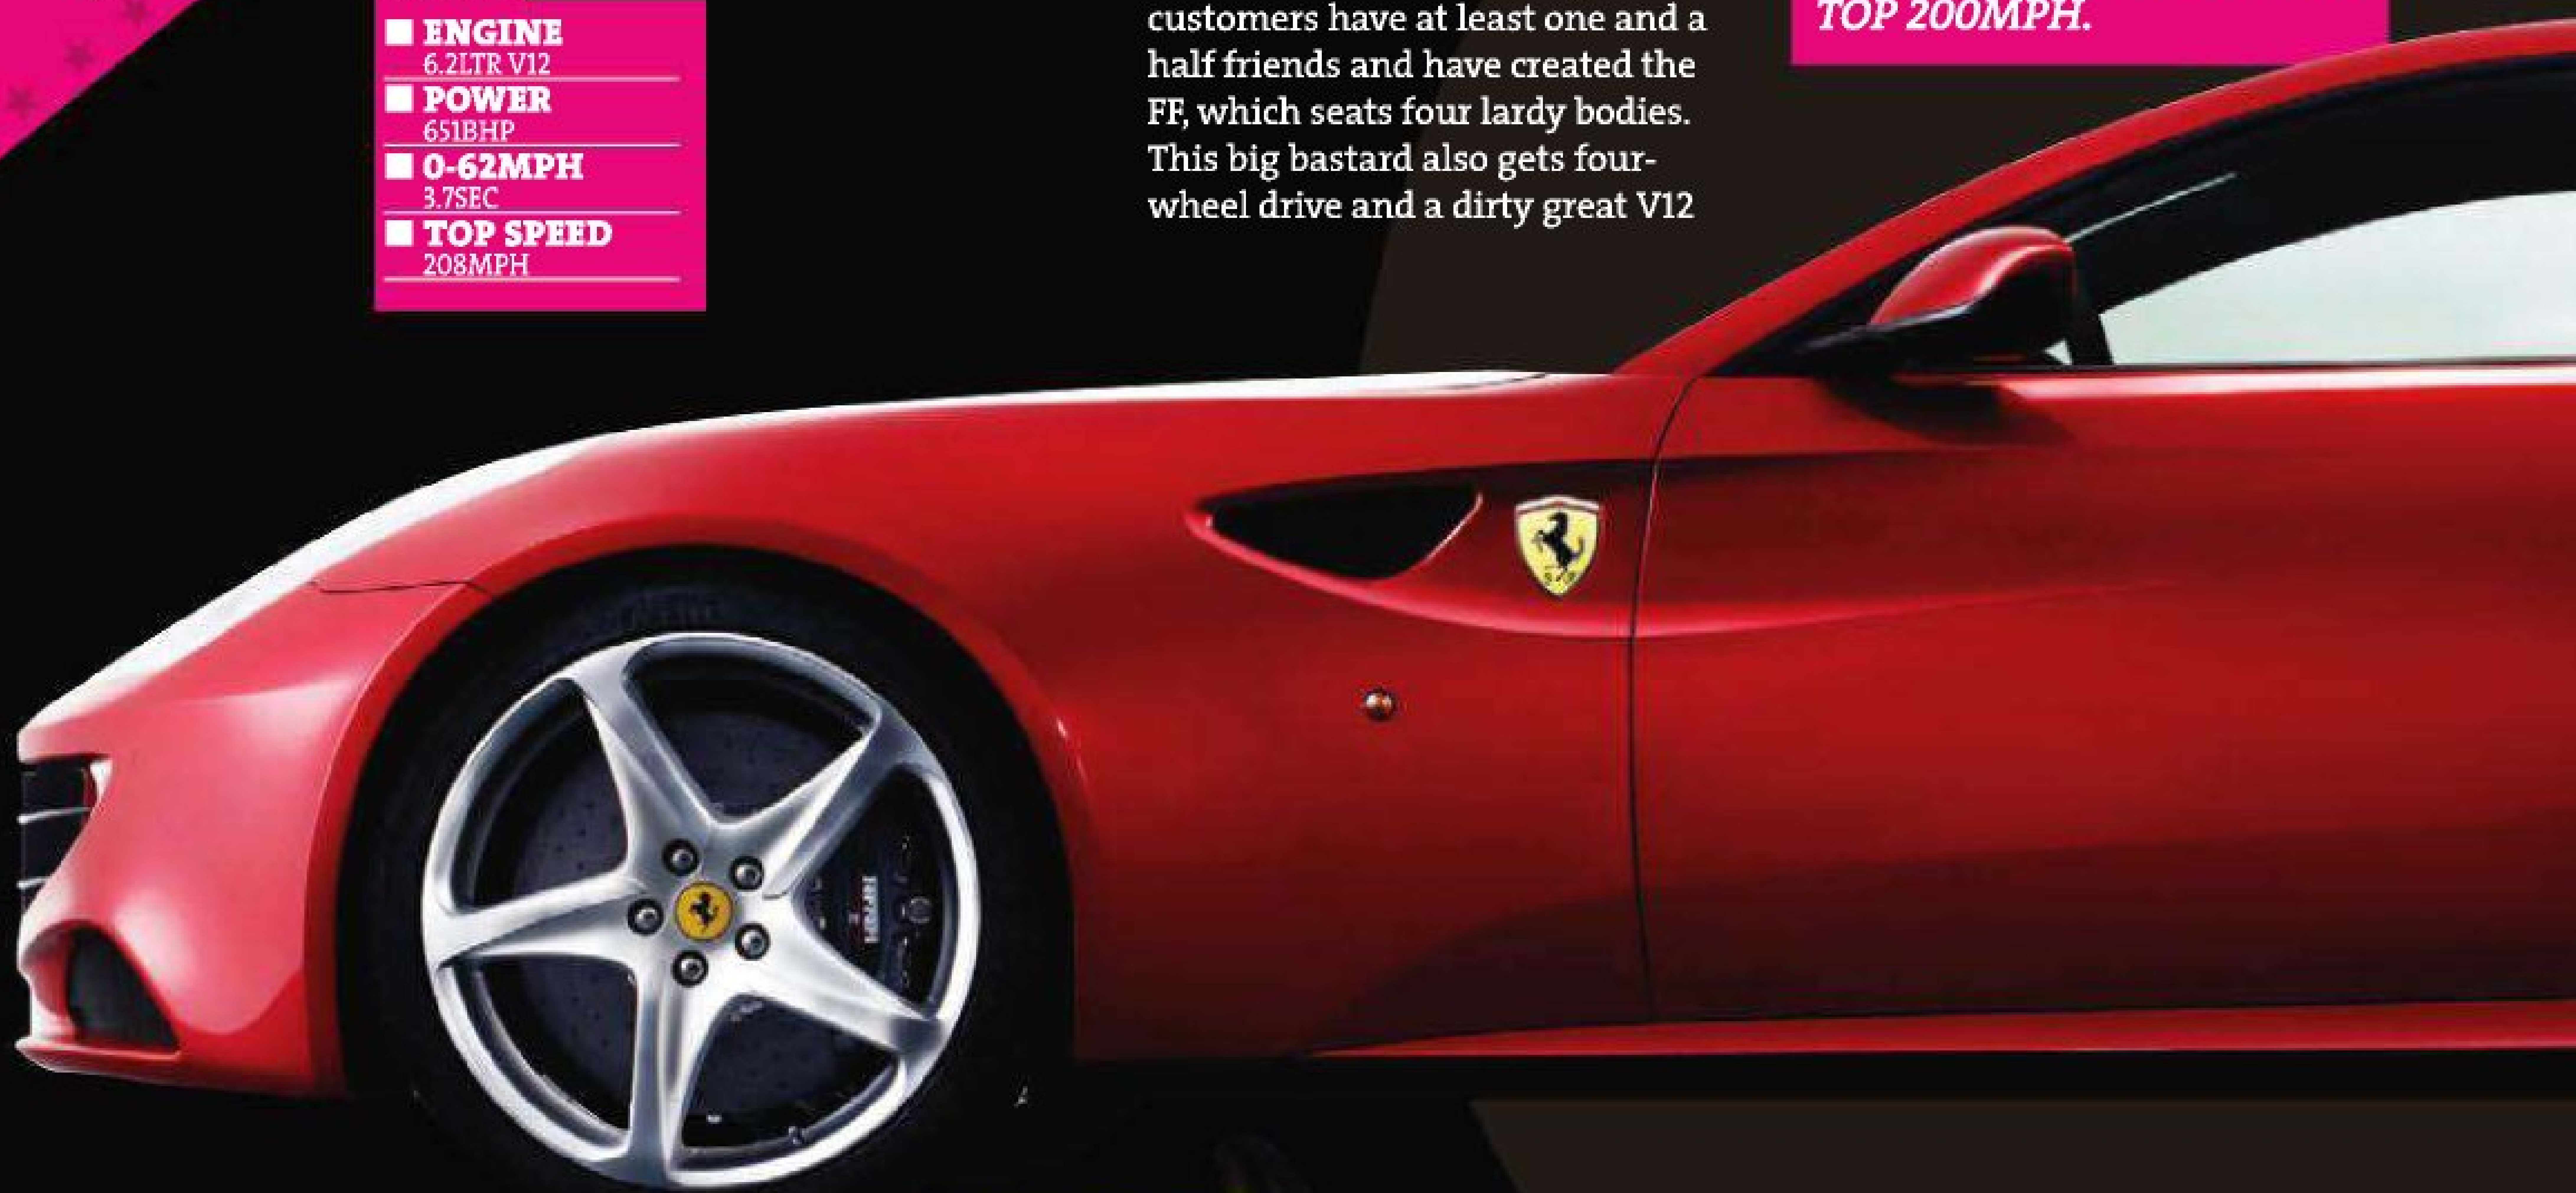

FEZZAS ARE CRACKING CARS, apart from when your stinking mates want a lift to KFC or your nan wants dropping off at Morrisons. In which case, the two-seat Italian cars are a bit shit.

But fear not, Billy-loadsa-mates: Ferrari have realised many of their customers have at least one and a half friends and have created the FF, which seats four lardy bodies. This big bastard also gets four-wheel drive and a dirty great V12 engine to get you to the pub in time for last orders. Prices are yet to be announced, but expect it to be the wrong side of £150k.

MERCEDES SLS AMG E-CELL

£CONCEPT ONLY

MOST MANUFACTURERS are working on boring fuel-efficient wank mobiles, but Mercedes has taken the lead with the electric version of their SLS AMG. This plug-in performance car has a motor on each wheel and some high-tech battery power to give it serious grunt. The E-Cell will go from rest to 60mph in just four seconds – not bad when you consider the big V8 version does it in 3.8. With no engine noise, all you get is tyre roar and whine from the transmission. There's no plans to put it into production yet, though, so we might just have a go at it ourselves using an electric toothbrush and some ice lolly sticks.

WEST MIDLANDS' FINEST have got their jammy hands on the ultimate cop car, with Lotus giving John Law one of their 162mph Evoras to use on patrol.

The £55k super car will be used on the M6, M42 and M5, so if you're up to no good you best make sure you're in something even faster, like a magic horse.

The Evora is the latest in a line of exotic cop cars. The UK has had Lotus Exiges, while the Germans routinely use Porsches and the Italians even had a Lambo Gallardo. But with only two seats, it isn't going to be much use for getting crims to the cells.

NO. 11: PORSCHE 911 TURBO

The original turbo nutter, the 911 had a reputation for being a bit of a bastard to keep on the road. With the engine stuffed in its arse, get it wrong on a damp corner and the Porker would stick you in a hedge quicker than a Jack Russell goes after a rabbit. A modern hot hatch has more power and they hold their price, but the Turbo is still a total classic.

THE

THE INDEPENDENT
MAG

FRONT is not owned by some evil corporation, although sometimes we wish it was because then we might have toilet paper in our bogs. On the plus side, it means we don't have to listen to people in suits telling us to put Mika felching a disabled donkey on the cover. We listen only to you, our semi-deranged-yet-genius readers.

FRONT IS NOT A
LADS' MAG

Lads' mags are, like, so 1994 – a gentler time before global terrorism, when you could leave a £50 note in a pub and it would still be there a week later (with interest). FRONT is a mag for true legends, who when staring death in the face shake it by the hand and proclaim, "Gaylords say what?"

NO FAKE BOOBS

That's right, readers: all boobs in FRONT are as real as the air we breathe. Whether they're part of a lovely lady or hanging from a fat sweaty dude, they're bona fide genuine and will not explode at high altitude.

WE HEAR
YOUR PAIN

Your comments, letters, e-mails and texts: we fucking love 'em all. Whether it's through the mag or on the website, tell us what you want to see in FRONT and we'll pull out our finger and get it done. We won't even stop to wipe the sweetcorn bits off first.

WORLD'S BIGGEST

CUNTS

THE FIRM-BUT-FAIR PAGE THAT SORTS THE RAGING ARSEHOLES FROM THE MINOR WANKERS

REEVES

NO I've not seen Vic Reeves on The Countdown in a while, and this troubles me, FRONT. He is the mother of all cunts, who has somehow made a living out of comedy despite being as dull as donkey shit. Also, his wife, fit as she is, is an irritating fuck. Please get the middle-aged, middle-class cunt on the list or I'll stop stealing your great mag.

Ben, Enfield

While Reeves pissed away a lot of goodwill by being a big bingo-advert prick in recent years, acting like a dickheel when his wife was on Come Dine With Me, and being a drink-driving shit, the last series of Shooting Stars was genuinely piss-your-pants funny. The man is capable of being a jester-featured tit, Ben, but no cunt is he.

McFLY

It's an insult to all on The Countdown already (except Bono) that those oxygen thieves McFly aren't on there. Help a brother out, FRONT, because these cunts are so bad that I can't even watch Back To The Future any more without getting piss-boilingly angry.

Dan, via text

We've probably defended McFly in the past, Dan, based on the fact that, hey, they're just four dudes who seem nice enough. However, the fact that they've ruined watching Back To The Future with someone who hasn't seen it before ("Hey, McFly, like the band!") is inex-fucking-cusable. Get on there, you tidy-haired cunts!

CONTOSTAVLOS

I nominate Dappy for The Countdown, even though the whole of N-Dubz should be on it. The pencil-'tache-sporting, shitty-arse hat-wearing, Adam Deacon-impersonating cunt deserves a brick down his Jap's eye. His shitty dance on the Girls video deserves this alone. He is such a cunt – get him on the fucking Countdown!

Anon, via text

You know what, faceless texter? We normally go easy on Dappy, mainly because he's nothing short of a bumbling bellend, but on this occasion we're willing to recognise his full cuntentials. Note to readers: Adam Deacon is that dude from a bunch of films with '-dulthood' in the title who, we guess, looks a bit like Dappy, to this texter anyway. It helps if you squint.

JEDWARD

Why the cunt aren't them cunting pair of cunts Jedward on The Countdown? Them cunts with their vertical cuntish hair need to dance their way onto The Countdown, pronto.

Rob, Birmingham

There's a genuine chance Jedward might have a full-on mental illness, Rob, so we're always a bit wary of Cuntdowning them in case they're found the next day covered in each other's shit and giggling in French accents. That said, they recently got paid a fuckload to do a personal appearance at a Tesco, which we would have done for £20 and some bacon. In at two, twincunts!
